Edison's Beautiful Country.
A Peace Boycott.
A Compliment From Japan.
Hard Drinks and Soft.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THOMAS A. EDISON is gone. The long courageous fight against death, the noble life of work are ended. Rest and a name that will live for centuries are the reward of labor that has enlightened and enriched the world.

In his last moments, as he stirred in a heavy sleep that had lasted for days, his physician, bending above Edison, heard distinctly the words:

"It is very beautiful over there."

IN THOSE LAST words, announcing the greatest of Edison's discoveries on this earth, there is hope for us all, for the great that do well in this life, for the humble, and the failures that must look for consolation beyond this life.

"IT IS VERY BEAUTIFUL OVER THERE."

Faith and inborn conviction assure us of it, knowledge that justice governs the universe, makes conviction certainty.

This life is not all, the grave is not the end. Another "very beautiful" world awaits Edison, who made this world beautiful with light.

THE CARNEGIE Foundation, spending millions accumulated by a benevolent Scotchman, appoints a committee to end war, with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler at the head. The plan to be discussed, and perhaps approved, is this:

Let the United States put an economic boycott on any nation that starts war, thus crippling that nation, by shutting off supplies.

It is a good idea, like that of the mouse that suggested tying a bell around the cat's neck. But it might mean dragging the United States into every future war. We have been paying for the last one, since 1929, and that one was enough. How will you decide who is starting the trouble?

WHO STARTED the big war? France and England say Germany did.

Germany says the war grew out of a political murder, with which Germany had nothing to do. The nations were ready for war, at least two of the most powerful wanted it. Whom should the United States have boycotted in 1914?

WHO IS STARTING the trouble in Asia? The world, or 90 per cent of it, says:

"Japan wants territory, sees her chance in Manchuria, knows the other nations are too busy to interfere. Japan is starting a war."

Japan says, which is true, that the Chinese began it, by killing in cold blood a Japanese officer and two soldiers.

Japan's army cries, "Remember our murdered comrades," and the world calls that a convenient pretext.

About 33 years ago, we were all saying "Remember the Maine," and Spain called that a "pretext."

The best American contribution to peace would be minding our own business here in America and KEEPING PREPARED FOR ANYTHING THAT MAY HAPPEN.

Fewer peace committees, less meddling in Europe and Asia, more airships and submarines would be our best peace program.

JAPAN PROTESTS against our helping the League of Nations to give Japan orders, and the protest is justified. We are not members of that League, thanks be to God and to George Washington's warnings, and we have no business rushing to dictate to Japan.

That the Japanese do not protest in any spirit of hostility toward us is made plain by a desire, widespread in Japan, that the League keep out and the United States act as sole arbiter in the Japan-China quarrel.

This country, says Japan, knows more about the East than the League and would make a better umpire.

Thanks to Japan for the compliment. Japan's sincerity is undoubted. She accepted the United States as arbiter between her and Russia, when Roosevelt was President, got, certainly none the best of the arbitration, but abided loyally by the decision rendered.

ADVOCATES OF light wines and beers say beer would make workmen contented, and advises those in power to remember what happened in Russia when the Czar decided to make his subjects drink only water, "to make them more efficient in war."

He did make them more efficient, and immediately they got rid of him, as a demonstration of efficiency. The "wets" also say that beer will give employment to many, and restore prosperity.

The "drys" say beer would put out of work thousands that now are making non-alcoholic drinks, would injure a great industry, interefere with the sale of candy, and the consumption of sugar.

INTELLIGENT AND successful makers of non-alcoholic drinks, who understand their business, do not fear any beer competition. In Montreal, where alcoholic beverages are permitted, the most successful non-alcoholic drink made in the United States sells, per capita, twice as much as in the United States.

The most successful of the non-alcoholic drinks, on which a great industry is based, built

TREASURER'S SILENCE LEADS TO ACTION

Thompson Named to Job; Kerr Attacks City's Pay System, Favors Reforms

The Treasurer has been under suspension since last Thursday as a result of his failure to produce bonds which were supposed to have been posted by the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company to cover $125,000 of city money on deposit there.

LETTER SENT COUNCIL

Schooley's discharge was made public in a letter which Mayor Kline sent to City Council this afternoon.

Another letter from the Mayor asked approval of his recommendation that Richard W. Thompson, chief clerk in the Treasurer's office and an employe there for 50 years, be appointed Schooley's successor.

The Mayor's recommendation of Thompson was unanimously approved by Council.

The letter telling of Schooley's dismissal read:

"I have this day removed from the office of City Treasurer of the City of Pittsburgh, Mr. Roy D. Schooley for the reason that he was giving no information to the Controller in reference to the audit now being made of the City Treasurer's office and for the further development in reference to the bonds that were to be deposited to secure the funds of the city in the Frank-

SUBPENA 1,000 IN 17TH WARD

The Registration Commission's investigation into the use of forged tax receipts at the recent primary election has extended to the Seventeenth Ward, home of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong. The commission today began serving 1,000 subpenas on residents of the ward, who are said to have been supplied with, or who voted on, forged tax receipts.

Hearings will begin tomorrow evening, and it is expected about 300 persons will be interrogated each night.

Previously 600 persons had been called from the Sixth Ward and 300 from the Third Ward.

PRISON TO PART YEE AND BABY

The mute appeal of his 13-month-old motherless daughter in Federal Court failed to win a parole for Yee Fong, Chinese merchant, of 515 Third avenue, convicted of conspiracy to violate the federal narcotic act, today.

He was sentenced to serve two years in the Atlanta Penitentiary by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker. He received the sentence without emotion.

Attorney Louis Little pleaded that Yee Fong be placed on probation to care for his baby, Florence, citing that the child's mother had ended her life last week and that there are no relatives here.

The court said:

"This is a distressing case but the court has a duty to perform."

Judge Schoonmaker rescinded an order forfeiting a $10,000 bond handed down when Yee Fong failed to appear promptly in court today. He was convicted in May.

Fong was married in China and brought his bride to America under the immigration law which permits Chinese merchants to be accompanied by their wives while barring wives of Chinese laborers.

Mellon Holds Edison World Benefactor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Secretary Mellon today expressed his sorrow at the death of Mr. Edison. He said:

"The death of Mr. Edison marks the passing of one of the great world figures of our time. By his inventions and the improvements which he made in the works of others, he has changed conditions under which men live and has left the world a better place for all who will come after him."

Edison's Death Announced First by Sun-Telegraph

In one of the greatest "beats" of Pittsburgh's newspaper history, the Sun-Telegraph yesterday announced the death of Thomas A. Edison exclusively to Sunday readers in the Pittsburgh area proper. Because of the time of Mr. Edison's death, news of his passing was not contained in earlier editions distributed in suburban territory.

In addition to a complete story of Mr. Edison's death at his home, in West Orange, N. J., which occurred at 3:24 a. m., Sunday, the Sun-Telegraph printed on its first page a tribute to the world's greatest inventive genius by William Randolph Hearst, and on an inside page, eight columns of news and pictures describing in full the life and accomplishments of Mr. Edison.

The Sun-Telegraph today prints additional stories on the death of Mr. Edison, arrangements for his funeral, the world-wide tribute paid him and other features on pages 1, 3, 4, 5 and 32.

Hoover Spurs U. S. to Prosperity

WORLD MOURNS IN TRIBUTE TO EDISON

Thousands to View Body Lying in State; Burial Wednesday in New Jersey

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 19.—His memory as the greatest scientist of the age mourned in every country of the world, the body of Thomas A. Edison lay in state today in a glass topped bronze casket in the lofty-ceilinged library of the Edison laboratories. He died at his home early Sunday.

Funeral services for the genius who literally gave light to the world were to be held at Glenmont, his home here, Wednesday, the fifty-second anniversary of what perhaps was the prolific inventor's most beneficent gift to humanity—the incandescent light.

FUNERAL ARRANGED

Only the family and close friends of Edison were to be present at the final rites. President Hoover was to attend the final tribute to his friend if he could make necessary changes in his prearranged plans. Harvey Firestone and Henry Ford sent word they would be present.

Edison will be buried close to the scene of his long labors here and not in Milan, O., near his birthplace, the Edison family decided today.

Soon after Edison died yesterday representatives of the family announced that burial would be in Milan. Today, however, after a family conference, it was decided to have burial here. The family indicated that interment would be in Rosedale Cemetery, East Orange.

FAMILY AT BIER

His sons, Theodore and Charles, accompanied the body when it was moved from his home to the factory this morning. Mrs. Edison, the inventor's widow; Mrs. John Sloan, his daughter, and John Sloan, her husband, joined the sons a little later and spent an hour alone with the body. Then the doors were opened to the employes and the press.

All approaches to the laboratory are heavily guarded by more than 50 policemen. Lakeside avenue is completely roped off in the two blocks occupied by the factory.

The crowd moves reverently to

CAPONE APPEAL POSTPONED TO FRIDAY

Gang Czar, Unworried by $50,000 Fine, Fearful of Maximum Term of 17 Years

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Prison doors yawn for Al Capone. His reign as the most powerful gang chieftain of modern times is nearing an end.

Capone may be sentenced Friday, however, instead of tomorrow as anticipated, for violating the income tax law.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson at a conference in his chambers today granted the request of defense and government attorneys that motions for a new trial and for an arrest of judgment be made on Friday instead of tomorrow as originally scheduled.

Should Judge Wilkerson overrule the motions of the defense on Friday it is expected that he will sentence Capone immediately thereafter.

Judge Wilkerson has it within his power to put Capone behind the bars for 17 years—or until he is 49 years of age. By that time the Capone of today would be but a memory to a new generation.

'BITTER MEDICINE'

Capone is confronted with a possible maximum sentence of 15 years in a federal penitentiary, plus two years in the county jail, and fines aggregating $50,000 on his conviction of three felonies and two misdemeanors by a jury late Saturday night.

It is the possible long term prison sentence, not the $50,000 in fines, that is worrying Capone. He doubtless would experience little difficulty raising the "fifty grand." The prison sentence, however, is bitter medicine to take.

HOPE FOR FIVE YEARS

The longest prison term given a gangster in an income tax case is five years and a day, imposed upon Jack Guzik, Capone's financial secretary. This record sentence was meted out by Judge Charles E. Woodward. Whether Judge Wilkerson will set a precedent by handing down a stiffer sentence in the case of the more widely publicized Capone was the subject of considerable speculation today.

Friends of Capone were clutching at the hope that Judge Wilkerson would sentence him to no more than five years in view of the fact the verdict was in the nature of a compromise and the charges quite similar to those made against Guzik.

CITES GAINS OF PAST AT YORKTOWN

Obstacles Always Overcome In Forward Sweep of Nation, President Says

YORKTOWN, Va., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Drawing a lesson from the victories of 150 years ago, President Hoover chose this battleground today to remind the nation it had met obstacles similar to present day "temporary dislocations" and yet had "swept forward to ever increasing strength."

Facing the more than 30,000 people packed into the huge wooden ampitheater, raised on the site of Lord Cornwallis' surrender, to commemorate the sesqui-centennial of the battle of Yorktown, the President called for "courage, strength and resolution for the future."

He stood with head bared in the warm sunlight of a cloudless day. Behind him were massed troops, chosen from the thousands dressed in uniform of many colors that had lined the pathway he rode with Mrs. Hoover after coming ashore from the United States steamship Arkansas. Just as the presidential party entered through an archway on the pageant field, a 21-gun salute boomed in welcome.

LAUDS WASHINGTON

Turning back the pages of history to the days when George Washington led a ragged force to victory on this same ground, President Hoover praised him as the man without whom "independence would not have been won." He said:

This national shrine stands for more than a glorious battle. It is a shrine which symbolizes things of the spirit. The victory

Elinor Smith Falls Leaving Plane, Hurt

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Elinor Smith, the aviatrix, suffered a sprained back yesterday when, in getting out of her plane, she fell to the concrete apron in front of the grandstand at Floyd Bennett Field. She slipped and fell backward, striking the left wheel of the landing gear and then falling to the pavement.

The injury forced her to abandon her plan to take part in the aerial show for the benefit of unemployed.

10 Fishing Vessels Missing in Storm

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Official reports to the government early today stated that eight or 10 fishing vessels have been lost in a storm off the Gaspe Coast.

Wireless messages have been sent to every available vessel in the Gulf of St. Lawrence to proceed in all haste to the scene in an attempt to locate traces of the missing craft.

Blackmer Granted Oil Case Review

TRADE PICKUP SEEN BY LABOR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—The American Federation of Labor believes that "unquestionably underlying factors in the business situation are gradually improving."

A survey of business by the Federation said today:

"Debts are being paid off; replacement demand is accumulating; consumer industries continue to increase production; business firms have been improving efficiency; many inefficient units have been eliminated by failure; plans are being discussed to assure jobs for workers this winter."

BUDAPEST, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Alexander Ondi, 23, a native of Texas, today was sentenced to death by hanging for holding up the Commercial Bank here 10 days ago.

J. P. M'KELVEY, BANKER, DIES

James P. McKelvey, 60, vice president and a director of the Exchange National Bank, which was closed by the board of directors today, died shortly after noon in the West Penn Hospital.

Mr. McKelvey had been suffering from pneumonia for four days. He was born in Ligonier and had lived in Pittsburgh for 35 years. He was a member of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, the Duquesne Club and the Pittsburgh Field Club.

According to members of his family, he had not been told of the bank's failure because of his condition which had been regarded as serious since he was stricken Friday.

Mr. McKelvey resided in the Schenley Apartments. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Alma M. McKelvey; two sons, Arthur G. and W. H. McKelvey; two brothers, Smith and Mathew McKelvey; four sisters, Mrs. John Shafer, Mrs. George Bodimer, Mrs. James Gross and Mrs. Robert Johnson, and three grandchildren.

Highway Named for Mary, She Kisses Senator

RAPID CITY, S. D., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Mary Garden kissed a senator, but it wasn't for love, not even of the grand opera sort. It was for joy because a new road over Iron Mountain to the Mount Rushmore National Memorial had been named "The Mary Garden way."

Miss Garden was advised yesterday of th chuckling at a banquet in h honor, with Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, acting as host. Tears came to Miss Garden's eyes with the announcement and, turning to Senator Peter Norbeck, chairman of the park board, she kissed him.

Miss Garden came here to sing at a benefit to raise funds for completion of the national memorial, including the carving on the great rock of heads of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt.

EX-SENATOR REED DENOUNCES HOOVER FOR LEAGUE LINK

TERMS ACTION CONTRARY TO PUBLIC WILL

President Has No Right to Involve U. S., He Says; Cites Election Results

By JAMES A. REED

Former United States Senator of Missouri (Written Expressly for Universal Service.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 19.—To those familiar with the history of the attempt to seduce the United States into the League of Nations, the unwarranted and unauthorized election of the President in, to all intents and purposes, making the United States a member, is not only astonishing but reprehensible.

Under the Constitution the President has the right to negotiate treaties but no treaty is of the slightest validity or force until two-thirds of the United States Senate has ratified and affirmed the same.

One of the most important provisions of the Constitution and its plain import is that the United States cannot be involved in any treaty obligations whatsoever without the consent of two-thirds of the highest legislative body of the land.

LEAGUE REJECTED

President Wilson, acting clearly within his rights, brought the Versailles treaty, part of which is commonly known as the League of Nations, into combat. After months of debate the Senate rejected the treaty.

In two presidential elections the issue was clearly drawn and the vote of the people was overwhelmingly against the United States becoming a member of the League. Indeed, Mr. Harding so construed that vote in his inaugural address.

Mr. Hoover's position, as usual, was equivocal and difficult to understand, but certain it is that the people in the last election again indicated their approval of the rejection of the League.

When the President acts within the authority of the Constitution, he acts as President. When the individual holding the office of President acts outside the authority of the Constitution, he acts as an individual, and if he assumes an authority not conferred by the Constitution, he becomes a mere usurper and lawbreaker.

POSITION 'ABSURD'

Moreover, it is equally a usurpation to violate the spirit of the Constitution. The pretext that an official representative of the United States can sit in an official body and yet himself keep an unofficial position is an absurdity. If he is there at all he must be there for some purpose, and that purpose must have relation to the transactions of the body in which he "unofficially" sits.

What has happened is that the President, without authority of law, has in substance and effect entered the appearance of the United States in the League of Nations. That necessarily carries with it grave responsibilities. We cannot engage in these deliberations without accepting our share of the responsibilities.

The act I have just referred to should be shown in the light also of Mr. Hoover's unauthorized proposal to foreign governments that the United States will postpone the obligations of France and England to the United States in consideration of those countries postponing the exaction of war indemnities from Germany. That is to say the United States is, in essence, to pay the interest to France and England on the war indemnities exacted by them at the point of the sword.

FINANCIAL BURDEN

One of the appalling features of this proposal is that it is made when our United States government faces a deficit, according to the most recent calculations, of $1,500,000,000. To load upon us war indemnities exacted by France will raise that amount to over $2,000,000,000. These moneys must be wrung from the taxpayers of the United States or we must issue further bonds.

These propositions, made without authority of law, ought to startle the intelligence and arouse the patriotism and resentment of the people of the United States, and are deserving of the severest condemnation.

20 TO 40 YEARS GIVEN ROBBER

Twenty to forty years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed on James Morgan, Negro, confessed chain store robber by Judge Frank P. Patterson today. Admitting a dozen holdups, Morgan said he had received about $370 in cash from the robberies. He operated in Oakland, Squirrel Hill and the Hill district for 10 weeks and was captured September 17, when a store proprietor at Craig and Forbes street followed him to the street and shouted to Cornerman Harry Kennan.

Morgan admitted serving 28 months in Atlanta Federal Prison for transporting a stolen automobile in interstate traffic. Morgan said:

Judge Patterson said:

Slayer of Trooper Committed as Insane

McCONNELLSBURG, Pa., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Marshall Lodge, 31, of Brush Township, who killed Sergt. T. G. McCarthy, of the state police, has been committed to the Farview State Hospital for the Criminal Insane. It was learned today with filing of a lunacy commission report by Judge Donald McPherson.

McCarthy was killed as he went to arrest Lodge on a complaint of neighbors who said he had threatened them.

EXCHANGE BANK TO PAY IN FULL

Not only will depositors be paid in full, but there will be a balance left for distribution among the stockholders of the Exchange National Bank, which failed to open its doors, today, President J. W. Marsh announced.

Heavy withdrawals, depleting the bank's cash reserves, threatening to make necessary liquidation of securities at a loss was given by the board following a special meeting early today. It was explained that by closing at this time, the assets of the bank would be conserved. President Marsh's statement said.

"The board of directors of the Exchange National Bank have called on the comptroller of currency to take charge of the bank in the interest of the depositors and stockholders, since to have continued to pay out abnormal amounts of cash would have required undue sacrifice of securities and other assets in order to provide the cash.

"The statement of the bank's assets and liabilities at the close of business Saturday would clearly indicate that not only the depositors will be paid in full, but that a large balance would be left for the stockholders."

The bank had demand deposits of $3,932,783 and time deposits of $1,012,326, according to a statement issued September 29. Loans and discounts totaled $5,194,856; United States government securities $738,830 and cash $526,970.

JAPAN RENEWS OPPOSITION TO INTERVENTION

Tokio Presents Five-Point Basis for Negotiation; Britain Watches Situation

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—The American government will join in invoking the Kellogg-Briand pact to stop Chinese-Japanese hostilities in Manchuria, but is carefully refraining from taking a leading role.

International News Service.

Reaffirming its opposition to intervention by the League of Nations and the United States, Japan today presented to the League Council at Geneva a five-point "basis for negotiations," reiterating that funamental questions must be settled directly with China.

In Tokio, the Japanese newspaper Nippon denounced the Geneva negotiations, charging they signify the opening skirmish in a conflict between the white and yellow races for world supremacy.

Reports from Mukden stated 12 Japanese were killed in a new outbreak of fighting at Tunghiao, while Chinese soldiers resumed activities along the Supingkai Railway, cutting the line at three places and disrupting traffic.

Meanwhile, Great Britain kept a close watch on the Manchurian situation, political circles expressing the belief Japan was "bluffing" in its strong opposition to American intervention, although the London Daily Telegraph received reports of "significant naval activities, including partial mobilization of the Japanese fleet."

Japan Demands Direct Negotiations With China

GENEVA, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Once again repudiating the right of the League of Nations and the United States to intervene in the Manchurian crisis, the Japanese delegation to the league council today presented a "basis for negotiations" with China.

Adhering strictly to the lines laid down by the Japanese government at the outset, the Japanese plan demanded that fundamental questions in the dispute be settled by direct negotiations only.

As a result, with the league's renewed efforts to solve the crisis almost a week old, the council found itself faced with unalterable opposition by Japan to outside interference in what she considers purely a localized dispute between the two Asiatic nations.

Tokio Paper Sees Opening Of Racial Conflict

TOKIO, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—The opening skirmish in a conflict between the white and yellow races for world supremacy is being fought at Geneva, where the United States and the League of Nations are pressing Japan for withdrawal of her troops from Manchuria, declared the newspaper Nippon today.

In a savage editorial, Nippon denounces the negotiators at Geneva, declaring their aim is now revealed to be the setting up of a white race despotism to rule the world.

Defeat of Japan's efforts to prevent American participation in the League Council negotiations is compared to her defeat at Versailles when the racial equality issue was raised at the peace conference and the Nipponese were humbled. The editorial goes on to deride Woodrow Wilson as the "supreme hypocrite, symbolic of spiritual America."

PAJAMA WOMAN FORFEITS BAIL

Mrs. Jennie Fiske, 27, of 813 St. James street, arrested clad in black and white pajamas, following an auto crash downtown last Wednesday, failed to appear for a hearing in Traffic Court today.

She and her companion, whom police said gave his name as H. J. McNeillis, 42, "city," forfeited bail of $15 each. Magistrate W. J. Soost told the arresting officer, Joseph Loeffler, the sergeant who accepted such low bond did wrong in view of the damage caused by Mrs. Fiske's car, which broke a light pole and collided with a meat wagon at William Penn way and Oliver avenue.

AS FOR SUGAR and candy, if parents knew the importance to children of sugar and pure candy, carefully and slowly eaten, well mixed with the saliva before swallowing, and if adults knew that sugar is a most important food, strengthening the muscles of the heart, especially, there would not be enough sugar to supply the demand, beer or no beer.

The "beer and light wine" question can be solved without worrying about sugar, or the non-alcoholic drink industries.

BRAZIL HAS DEBTS, abroad, amounting to $500,000,000, has suspended payment of cash and will pay interest on the debt in scrip, for the next three years, perhaps longer.

Scrip is not money, but Brazil must pay foreign obligations in foreign money, or gold, and cannot get either.

There is not enough gold in the world to supply the world's needs. About all the available gold has been collected by this country and France, and France is rapidly helping to lower our supply. How can other nations pay in gold when two nations have all the gold, and then the British Empire is compelled to suspend gold payments.

Those that have read this column will not be surprised at the condition of foreign bond values. Bonds of foreign countries, sold here, by high finance to its customers at par, can be bought now for 20 cents on the dollar and less. And there is more disagreeable news to come.

MAYOR OUSTS SCHOOLEY AS TREASURER

Kerr Attacks City Payroll System; Park Returns To Press Investigation

lin Savings and Trust Company."

Schooley, a close, personal friend of Kline's and one of the outstanding leaders in the Mayor's political machine, has been City Treasurer since January 6, 1930. He assumed the office after the death of Daniel Winter, former South Side leader.

PAYROLL AUDIT REFUSED

Leslie M. Johnston, chairman of the Citizens Committee, and Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, chairman of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters, called on Kerr late today, asking that the scope of his audit be extended to embrace all city jobs.

Kerr said he told them:

"We have all we can do at present in the audit of the City Treasurer's office and cannot take on any further investigation at this time."

The purpose of examining the payroll as set forth last week by Mrs. Smith before the League of Women Voters would be to check all employes, their pay and time spent on the job.

PAYROLL SYSTEM SCORED

The city payroll system by which $9,000,000 is disbursed in cash each year is wrong and "needs looking into," Controller Kerr declared today.

The use of cash opens the door to possible payroll padding it was pointed out.

Controller Kerr said that employes should be paid by check and not in cash, and that he may make some recommendations to have an up-to-date system adopted. He added:

"In the days of the saloon, when men had difficulty in having checks cashed, the city resorted to paying by cash, instead of by check, but I am not in favor of that now. To pay by check the city would have a better record of the entire payroll question, which unquestionably needs looking into."

CASH PAYROLL

The city records show that in February, 1912, all employes working on a per diem basis, and receiving not more than $1,800 a year, were directed to be paid in cash. A city ordinance carrying that authority was passed. In February, 1916, it was changed to include all city employes. Controller Kerr was president of Council at that time, but said today that what was applicable then perhaps is not applicable today.

The total city payroll last year was $12,092,746, of which about $3,000,000 was paid by check, and the remainder in cash.

In accordance with the present system, the directing heads of the various departments and bureaus make up the payroll and employes are given payroll cards and obtain their wages at the City Treasurer's office.

LARGEST EXPENSE

Where it is not convenient to call at the City Treasurer's office, the cash in envelopes is delivered by the payroll car to various points, where employes are paid off. The city pays twice a month, the payroll being the largest single item of expense.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park, refreshed by a week's fishing trip in Canada, was back at his office today prepared to take up the evidence compiled by his assistant, Roy T. Clunk, in the Schooley audit.

The October grand jury, he said, will be occupied for a day or so longer on routine work. After that the Schooley evidence and investigation of alleged registration frauds will be taken up, if necessary, for the remainder of the month.

Regarding the Schooley evidence Park said:

"A grand jury investigation may not be necessary, as there may be enough evidence to proceed against Schooley on an information charging malfeasance in office. I will be guided by what Clunk has unearthed."

Two courses of action were open, the prosecutor indicated, one the filing of an information against Schooley before an alderman or submission of evidence direct to the grand jury.

Emphasis on Crime News Held Public Benefit

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 19.—The administration of criminal law would be 50 years behind its present status if newspapers had minimized crime news in the past, Dr. Thomas S. Rice, criminologist, attorney and associate editor of the Panel, New York Grand Jurors' Association publication, declared in a radio talk over Station WOR, Newark, yesterday.

Dr. Rice, taking the affirmative in a debate on "Should the Newspapers Play Up Crime?" said:

"My opinion is that the administration of the criminal law, which is bad enough, heaven knows, the care of prisoners and of the insane and the concepts of society in respect to its obligations toward casual offenders would be 50 years behind their present status if the newspapers had played down crime news and had omitted details of crimes.

"It is far, far better for the safety of our citizens and their families that we should have too much crime news instead of too little.

"It would be just as logical to decry campaigns for the improvement of our nation's physical health because some unthinkable persons are led by such campaigns to morbid thoughts and suicide as it is to decry crime news that gives the alarm about an ill affecting our body politic.

"Crime conditions are bad and appear to be getting worse but if the newspapers had not played up crime news, this country today would be controlled by an armed oligarchy of professional thugs and killers, spawned from the gutter."

Green Commends Hearst For Urging 6-Hour Day

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 19.—(Universal.) — Unqualified commendation of William Randolph Hearst's editorial declaration in favor of the six-hour day was expressed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an interview with the Universal Service today. He said:

"I commend highly the stand taken by Mr. Hearst and believe that the influence he exercises through his newspapers will play a constructive part of bringing this necessary and vital next step in industry to a realization."

In his address before a crowd that filled the civic auditorium Green emphasized especially the necessity for the shorter work day and the shorter week to bring prosperity to the nation's industries. He declared:

"The introduction of modern machinery and power has increased the production capacity of the individual in industry 50 per cent.

"How is it possible to operate these machines and supply work for millions six days per week?

"The solution is the shorter work day and the five-day work week and they ought to be established immediately. We will never rest contented until it is established!"

Green hit at wage reductions which have been made in some industries. He declared:

"Every reduction of wages that has been made has only aggravated the situation and increased the spread of misery among the unemployed."

He pointed out that a 10 per cent decrease in wages in one large eastern industry meant a loss to the consuming public—the buying power of the worker—of $30,000,000 yearly.

DOCTOR ADMITS SERUM KILLED 76 BABIES

LUEBECK, Germany, Oct. 19.—(AP.) — Prof. Deycke, one of a group of physicians who are being tried here on a charge of responsibility for the death of 76 infants last year after administration of anti-tuberculosis serum, today assumed dramatically the sole responsibility for the babies' deaths.

He said he administered the serum, believing it would be beneficial, adding:

"I know from subsequent experiments that I made a scientific error. I have tried for years to help the sick and I beg the court to find me alone guilty."

Turning to the courtroom, which was filled with parents whose babies died, he pleaded:

"I hope the parents, with whom I deeply sympathize, will take this into consideration."

SWOPE FAVORS JOB INSURANCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Insurance against unemployment is imperative, in the view of Gerard Swope, but should be provided if possible by industry and not by government.

The president of the General Electric Company emphasized that opinion today as the first witness before the Senate committee set up by the Senate to study unemployment insurance systems here and abroad.

He detailed the insurance system and guaranteed work plans of his company, saying these had proved very satisfactory. Swope said a principle of such insurance be that its burden is carried by employes as well as industry. In his own company, the company contributes a dollar for each dollar by employes.

ONE DAY'S MILK SUPPLY

STATE NURSE ERNA TESCHE WEIGHING YOUNGSTERS AT KINLOCH . . . . . HE NEEDS MILK

FUNDS NEEDED TO GIVE MILK TO NEEDY

Aid to Hungry Children Must End Unless Public Gives Money, Pinchot Warns

Half-fed, undernourished children of the unemployed in Western Pennsylvania face untold privation this winter unless Gov. Gifford Pinchot's warning of the need for funds to carry on free milk distribution is heeded.

Gov. Pinchot, in Harrisburg, today said Pennsylvania's four free milk stations will close within a few days unless money is contributed to keep them open.

Sallow-faced, wide-eyed boys and girls of growing age at present are being furnished with health-giving milk daily from four state nursing stations—Avella, Kinloch, Renton and Bernice—but unless more money is contributed, the Governor warns, the work must be abandoned. The milk is furnished through private funds and distributed under supervision of the State Department of Health.

NEED INVESTIGATED

Children and parents, suffering the pangs of hunger in the scourge of unemployment so prevalent in many parts of the state, trudge miles from their homes to the nearest milk station each morning for their allotment. Each child in an unemployed family found underweight is allowed one pint of milk a day and in extreme cases, a quart.

At the Kinloch station this morning a group of hollow-eyed youngsters ranging in age from 13 months to 14 and 16 years, were on hand to receive their daily ration. Erna Tesche, state nurse, was busy weighing the hungry applicants, checking her records of personal investigation in the homes and doling out the limited allotment of milk.

Her records show 297 children receiving aid from this station every morning. She receives a daily supply of 144 quarts and 44 pints. In some families the need is greater than in others. The nurse visits the children in their homes, studies the home conditions and keeps a close check on the wage earners. Only in homes where all of the wage earners are unemployed is the milk distributed.

There are hundreds of homes of men working part time and at low wages where conditions are nearly as bad as in the homes where no one is employed, she says. Conditions in the New Kensington district served by the Kinloch station are pitiful, she revealed.

HUNDREDS IN NEED

Asked for an example of one of the most serious cases, Miss Tesche replied:

"You have only to look around you. Here are two children of a family of 12. All are under 17. The father has not worked for months and the children all are undernourished. We supply four quarts and a pint of milk every day and that is about all they get to eat aside from a few crusts of bread."

There are hundreds of families in the same condition throughout this district, Gov. Pinchot, in a statement issued from Harrisburg today, declared:

"Funds obtained from a private source are about exhausted. If milk distribution is to continue the public's aid is necessary. Here is a charity whose beneficial effect will be felt through the lifetime of every youngster supplied with the food he or she required. And during the lifetime of these children's children. But it must end soon unless more money comes in.

"I think Pennsylvanians who are able to help will not permit these stations to close. That is why I appeal for help and I suggest that all contributions be sent to Dr. Theodore S. Appel, secretary of health, who will make public acknowledgement."

The Governor declined to make public the identity of the person or persons giving the money on which the four stations are operating today.

PRESIDENT MAY ATTEND RITES

ABOARD U. S. S. ARKANSAS, YORKTOWN, Va., Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Motivated by a personal grief that came from a friendship of 25 years' standing, President Hoover today hoped to be able to attend the funeral of Thomas A. Edison in West Orange, N. J.

Mr. Hoover's last meeting with the great American genius was prophetic of the end. Two years ago this month the President had made a special trip to Detroit to participate in the golden anniversary of the electric light.

Edison occupied an honor seat at the banquet tendered shortly before the President was due to leave. Suddenly, the inventor slumped in his seat. He was carried from the hall.

President Expresses Grief to Mrs. Edison

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 19.—(INS.)—President Hoover wired his sympathy to Thomas A. Edison's widow from on board the U. S. S. Arkansas on his way to Yorktown, Va. His message read:

"Mr. Edison was as great in his fight for life as he was in the achievement which has made the whole world his debtor. I mourn his passing, not only as one of the greatest men our nation has produced, but as a personal friend.

"On behalf of the nation, I express the profound sympathy of all our people, and Mrs. Hoover and I personally extend our deepest sympathy to you in your irreparable loss."

Brisbane to Honor Edison in Radio Talk

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—A Thomas Edison memorial program will be broadcast from Station WOR here tonight at 8:30.

Arthur Brisbane and Prof. Michael Pupin, of Columbia University, will be the speakers. Charles M. Schwab and the Rev. Harry G. Fosdick also are expected to talk.

the bronze coffin, heavy and beautiful with the beauty of simplicity. They pause there, almost imperceptibly, and look down at the still waxen face of the old wizard. This expression is calm, relaxed. He has completed his final experiment, the experiment of giving up the ghost, of facing the unknown.

There is a time clock in the laboratory nearby. It has stopped at 3:27. It was 3:24 Sunday morning that Edison died in his home on the hilltop a mile away. And above the stopped time clock is the placarded quotation from Sir Joshua Reynolds:

"There is no expedient to which a man will not resort to avoid the real labor of thinking."

A prayer was offered over the body by the Rev. Arthur H. Brown, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Orange, at noo today. Similar short services were to be held in thel aboratory at 5 p. m. today and at 8 a. m., noon and 5 p. m. tomorrow.

WORLD IN MOURNING

Messages of condolence came today from statesmen who honored him for aiding the cause of universal peace; from scientists indebted to him for wresting many secrets from nature and turning them to every-day use; from noted men and women who had found inspiration in his devotion to humanity; from the youth of America, whom he helped and guided; and from a host of persons unknown to front-page publicity whose lives had been brightened and made infinitely more pleasant through his benefactions.

President Hoover called him "a precious asset" to the whole world. Pope Pius XI cabled Cardinal Hayes his deep sorrow, and asked him to transmit his condolences to the family.

The cities, the four Oranges, were in deep mourning today. The Mayors of each asked that all flags be flown at half staff for a week. A two-minute silence throughout the towns was to be observed during Wednesday's funeral services.

Edison, who throughout his lifetime toiled incessantly at his manifold tasks, just before his death told his physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, that he was well content to die, since his life work was over, it was learned today. He met death fearlessly.

Edison was quoted by Dr. Howe as having said to him before his death:

3 BOYS RECALL EDISON VISIT

Three Squirrel Hill boys have occasion to remember Thomas Edison's last visit to Pittsburgh, December 3, 1930. Myron, 11, and Warren Marks, 14, of 5625 Hobart street, and Dick Frankel, 14, of 5727 Hobart street, members of the Conboy patrol, Boy Scouts, received the great inventor's pencilled autographs when they visited him at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. H. K. Hitchcock, 5710 Bartlett street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edison and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford stopped over for a day in Pittsburgh to visit Mrs. Edison's sister, Mrs. Hitchcock. Mr. Hitchcock, a well-known engineer in the plate glass industary, had died 10 days before. Edison had sent his own physician, Dr. Howe, to consult with Hitchcock family doctors during Mr. Hitchcock's illness.

The party had luncheon with Mrs. Hitchcock at her home and spent the afternoon quietly. That evening they were visited by the three Boy Scouts who had learned of their presence in the neighborhood.

LEADER'S LOSS MOURNED BY INDUSTRY

Engineers, Scientists Honor Creative Genius, Tireless Energy of Pioneer

Pittsburghers prominent in the field of electricity and science today mourned the passing of Thomas A. Edison, who died yesterday. Expressions were as follows:

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company:

"Thomas A. Edison was one man whose contemporaries called him great. The scientific world and the world at large heaped honors upon him. He was among the remaining few of the great pioneers in electrical development who made the present advancement of the art possible. We who simply carry on what others create are humble before the creative genius of an Edison. The whole world mourns his loss. At the same time our hearts are lifted up with pride that we have known so noble a man. Our deepest sympathy is tendered to the bereaved family and his business associates."

C. E. Skinner, president American Institute of Electrical Engineers:

"The name of Thomas A. Edison and the development of the electrical industry are and will be inseparable. He was the outstanding pioneer in the electric lighting and power industry. His contributions to the electrical art, as well as to many other subjects, have been continuous for more than 50 years. His research has been characterized by tireless energy and a mind which led him to try methods and materials for the attaining of his objectives which would perhaps never be thought of by the average research worker. He was unhampered by tradition and precedent. It is impossible to evaluate his contributions to the electrical art and to industry generally, but these have certainly been such that his name has been one to conjure with for decades. In his passing the electrical industry loses its greater pioneer and the world loses an unique and outstanding figure."

S. M. Kintner, vice president in charge of engineering, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company:

"In the passing of Thomas A. Edison the world has lost its best-known inventor. Gradually that little group of pioneers, who literally created the electrical industry, are passing on—only a few remain—but of them all, Edison, by his great work and charming personality, stood out most prominently as an inspiration to young workers aspiring to similar positions of greatness.

"He is gone, but he has left with us a heritage the electric light—the motion picture—the phonograph—as well as a myriad of improvements that will make the name Edison a household word for centuries.

Unpaid Teachers Ask Help of Hoover Pool

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The joint board of teachers' unions, representing 7,000 unpaid teachers, yesterday decided to urge President Hoover's newly organized $500,000,000 National Credit Corporation to come to their aid.

The corporation will be asked to purchase or rediscount 1930 school board tax anticipation warrants now held by local banks so that the money could be reinvested by the banks in 1931 warrants which the board has been unable to sell.

Electric Chair Death Ruled No 'Accident'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Electrocution for murder is no accident in the eyes of the courts.

In refusing today to review the claim of relatives that they were due double indemnity on life insurance policies because the trip that Harry H. Diamond made to the electric chair in Michigan City, Ind., was an "accident," the Supreme Court let stand the ruling of lower courts that the man brought his death upon himself.

'Good Samaritan' Cleared In Robbery Arrest

Arrested as a robber suspect when only taking the role of a Good Samaritan in unknowingly aiding a wounded youth alleged to have been shot in the act of robbing a Butler street store, Edward Garland, 19, of 4009 Butler street, today was discharged at a hearing in the Penn Avenue Police Station.

Garland was taken into custody early Saturday morning after Albert Stork, no home, had appealed to him for assistance in getting medical aid. Stork was said to have been shot when Patrolman Emanuel Mori fired through a window of the grocery store of M. Kenk, 3601 Butler street, to frustrate a robbery. A companion escaped. Garland had approached a policeman to have an automobile commandeered to remove Stork to a hospital. Seeing Stork was wounded in the thigh, the policeman held Garland.

The alleged companion, Charles Borowski, 19, of 178 Thirty-eighth street, was under arrest today. He was being held awaiting a hearing after Stork recovers.

'Be Courageous,' Edison's Last Word to Public

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Last June Thomas A. Edison spoke to the nation over the radio. It was his last public utterance and was marked by his usual brevity. He said:

"My message to you is: Be courageous! I have lived a long time. I have seen history repeat itself again and again. I have seen many depressions in business. Always America has emerged from these stronger and more prosperous.

"Be as brave as your fathers were before you.

"Have faith!

PRIZE WINNERS LAUD EDISON

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Tribute was paid to the memory of Thomas A. Edison today by two winners of the "brightest boy" contest the great inventor held. It was in connection with these as well as with the employment of his workers that Edison issued his famous questionaires.

Wilbur B. Huston, Seattle, Wash., the first contest winner, and Arthur C. Williams, winner of the last, were only two—are students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology under scholarships established by Edison.

"I feel in Edison's death the loss of a real friend, to whose interest in youth I am deeply indebted."

Williams de-

"He encouraged learning and was quick to reward an adept student. He was a democratic man."

URGES TRIBUTE OF DARKNESS

"The world should not be allowed to forget what Thomas Alva Edison has done. Should not America lead the world in paying homage to the greatest benefactor the human race has ever known.

"It occurred to me that if every electric light in the United States were to be turned out simultaneously for one minute, the people of this country, and especially the younger generation, might be partially made to appreciate the priceless contribution that Edison's genius has made toward our daily comfort, happines and security.

"May I suggest, Mr. President, that you publicly proclaim a national period of darkness, say at 10 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard time, when all in silence may render due homage to him. I am sure, my dear Mr. President, that all citizens will gladly follow your lead in this tribute. I pledge you wholehearted support in making it a memorable undertaking."

Edison, Operating Wire, Wore $1.50 Suit 2 Years

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—During the two years he worked here as a telegraph operator, Thomas A. Edison wore the same suit—and it cost $1.50, according to Z. T. Underwood, Jr., whose father worked with the inventor 65 years ago.

Underwood said his father refused Edison a $100 loan to buy material to experiment in telegraphy and electricity although Edison promised him one-third of the profits he believed would accrue from the inventions.

EDISON ALWAYS GENIUS, SAYS FORMER AIDE

Dr. Rosanoff Recalls Success In Perfecting Records on Constant Spur of Wizard

Thomas Alva Edison, genius to the world, was a genius also to those who spent years of their lives aiding him.

Out on a farmhouse porch 20 or more miles along Babcock boulevard from the city line, Dr. M. A. Rosanoff, distinguished chemist, sat for several hours telling of Edison, the genius. Back in 1903 and 1904, Dr. Rosanoff was a research assistant, but Edison was a genius to him when he was a boy in Russia, a student in Berlin and Paris, an Edison assistant—and now. He said:

"Edison had a keen mind; he was whimsical, humorous, a persistent sort of a man who combined qualities that I never have seen in another. He was famous when I was a boy in military school in Russia; we heard much of him. He got the ovation given emperors in 1899 when he went to Paris. The grand opera was illuminated with his incandescent lights; he was given the royal box; when he appeared in it the orchestra played the Star Spangled Banner and the audience arose and cheered. The emperor of Germany received no higher tribute."

SPURRED CONSTANTLY

"He constantly came into my laboratory, and his keenness of mind, his wit, his studied sarcasm that was inoffensive and well designed to stimulate his aides, was used on me freely. I had been on the staff of the New York University chemistry department and at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He jeered at 'theoretical chemistry,' 'academic attitude' and so on—but in a friendly way, one designed to chip off the academic edges and allow me to work freely without their limitations.

"He also liked to fool newspapermen. He didn't think much of them, and purposely gave young reporters interviews in which everything but the truth was spoken. He swore—in a friendly manner—and in the high treble voice of one who is deaf, told stories of how he crossed them up.

READY TO GIVE UP

"At the end of six months' study to improve the quality of master phonograph cylinders I was ready to give up. I told him so, told him the accomplishment was impossible. He said:

"'Nothing is impossible to God, and He's no fool. And if you and I admit things are impossible, we're darn fools.'

"At the end of 14 months I found the solution to the problem. A lot of people might say Edison doesn't do the work. He doesn't, in a sense. He has others for hands and feet. We were the body, and he was the soul. I never would have solved the problem without his persistent encouragement.

"I took the cylinder in to him when I had found the successful method. He looked over the record with a microscope to see if it had 'holes.' It hadn't. He asked:

"'How did you do it?'

LIKED SHARP ANSWER

"I answered, imitating his twisted smile:

"'By theoretical chemistry.'

"He asked me how I had thought it out. Now he disliked cigarets, and always went on record against sleeping. I told him:

"'I was lying down last night in my room, smoking a cigaret, when the idea came to me.'

"He enjoyed very much the reply, given in his own style and with his own peculiar kind of irony.

"His terrific force, his obsession for accomplishment, his persistency, were great qualities of his genius. I sent one of my students in New York University to him for the summer, and he gave the boy, a senior, employment. The boy came back to me in October, saying:

"'Mr. Edison is both ordinary and ignorant.'

"The boy had missed the real greatness of the man—"

Dr. Rosanoff, formerly director of the pure science department of Mellon Institute, was also former professor at Clark University.

Utility Plants Will Pause in Tribute

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—The wheels of the Insull utilities will be stilled for one minute at the hour for the funeral of Thomas A. Edison, officals announced.

Every elevated train in Chicago will be halted one minute, the Commonwealth Edison Company will cease activities and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and the Middle West Utilities will similarly participate in the honor to the inventor's memory.

Veteran Edison Worker Falls Dead

ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—John Ott, 75, who had worked in the Edison laboratory for more than half a century, fell dead in his home today. His son attributed the death to shock incident to the death of Thomas A. Edison.

Mask to Preserve Kindly Features Of Edison

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 19.—(INS.)—The kindly face of Thomas A. Edison, known wherever in the world his inventive imagination made life more comfortable, was to be immortalized in a death mask, it became known today.

A sculptor was permitted to take an impression of Edison's face just before his body was moved from the home to the library of the laboratory, where it lay in state today.

Mrs. Edison, Jr., Ill, Pneumonia Victim

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Jr., ill with pneumonia at her home in East Orange, was unable to accompany her husband to the Edison home when his father died.

Her condition was said not to be critical by Dr. Hubert S. Howe, the family physician.

Marconi Says Edison Was Mental Giant

ROME, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless telegraphy and president of the Royal Academy of Italy, described Thomas A. Edison as a "benevolent intellectual giant" in commenting on the American inventor's death.

Trolleys to Halt In Edison Tribute

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—(INS.)—All of Chicago's elevated trains and surface trolley cars will stop for one full minute at the hour of the funeral of Thomas A. Edison, it was announced today.

Edison Secretary Ill; Served for 51 Years

Ludwig Quotes Verse In Edison Tribute

WEST ORANGE, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Emil Ludwig, noted biographer, expressing his appreciation of Thomas A. Edison, cabled these lines of Longfellow to Mrs. Edison from Switzerland:

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us

World Paid Honor To Edison's Genius

The whole civilized world took cognizance of this period of Edison development in 1929 when it celebrated with an "Edison Jubilee Year" the fiftieth anniversary of the invention of the filament lamp. Europe, Asia, Africa and South America joined with North America in doing honor to the man who had freed industry and households from dependence upon oil and gas for illumination.

Every Baseball Player Known By Inventor

Wealthy and constantly honored Thomas A. Edison none the less was thoroughly democratic. The breadth of his interests was amazing, and few persons realize that Edison at one time could name nearly every player on every club of the two major baseball leagues. He was a baseball fan, although he rarely had time to attend a game.

Yet this man of tremendous accomplishments was called "addled" as a boy and was regarded in half a dozen cities as the youth who could not hold a job.

Laval Feels Loss In Edison' Passing

ABOARD S. S. ILE DE FRANCE, EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Premier Pierre Laval of France today transmitted through the French ambassador at Washington a message of condolence to the family of Thomas A. Edison, saying:

"Mr. Edison's death is a loss to all humanity."

EDISON'S MIND OPEN ON SOUL SURVIVAL

'Doesn't Matter' Anyway, His Verdict; Family Denies Inventor Was Atheist

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Thomas A. Edison went to his death with an open mind on the question of whether the soul is immortal.

Perplexed that he could not fathom the depths of possible life after death, he nevertheless reached the conclusion that the soul might live on.

For many years he had been an avowed disbeliever in immortality, but in his closing years he came to regard the subject from an open viewpoint.

Dr. Hubert S. Howe, his personal physician, recalls a conversation with the inventor in which the latter expressed his ideas. The doctor quotes him as saying:

"Well, if there is a hereafter, it doesn't matter, and if there isn't a hereafter, it doesn't matter either. I've lived my life and done my best."

Oft-repeated questions about Mr. Edison's religion caused the family to issue a statement on the subject after his death. Denying he was an atheist, the statement said he carried a reverence for a supreme intelligence, even though he subscribed to no orthodox creed.

His open mindedness on immortality was in direct contrast to the views of his earlier years. In 1910 he told Edward Marshall, a friend:

"Soul? Soul? What do you mean by soul? The brain? . . . There is no more reason to believe that any human brain will be immortal than there is to think one of my phonographic cylinders will be immortal."

If there is a life after death, Mr. Edison said two years ago at Rochester, N. Y., it more probably is on earth rather than in a heaven. He commented:

"I think that a man's personality has a chance of surviving—perhaps enters a new cycle—but is still on earth."

DIES DICTATING EDISON TRIBUTE

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Constriction of blood vessels today was reported by physicians as the cause of death of Dr. Samuel W. Stratton, chairman of the corporation of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, while he was dictating a tribute to Thomas A. Edison. Dr. Stratton was stricken as he dictated these words:

"It has seldom fallen to any one man to be of such service to humanity. The world mourns a great benefactor."

Dr. William Bradford Robbins said he had appeared in excellent health during the day. Dr. Stratton was 70.

PONTIFF PRAYS FOR EDISON

ROME, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Pope Pius at a private mass today prayed for the soul of Thomas A. Edison. It was explained at the Vatican that a public mass could not be held for Edison, because he was not a Catholic.

Pope Pius, deeply affected by the death of the inventor asked Cardinal Hayes to convey his condolences to Edison's family.

Edison had been regarded as a friend by the Pope for many years. Recently Edison sent the Pope a dictating machine, which the Holy Father kept in his private office and often used in his work.

Twentieth Century Progress Marked

For the first decade of the twentieth century Edison worked on the production of the Edison alkaline storage battery, made numerous inventions relating to the methods and processes of producing portland cement, improved his phonograph and introduced his universal motor for operating dictating machines.

In 1912 he brought out the kinetophone, or talking motion picture, and by 1914 had perfected, after four years' work, his disk phonograph, which commenced a new era in talking machines.

Edison Inventor Of Electric Devices

Thomas A. Edison early invented radical improvements in the construction of dynamos, making them suitable for generators for systems of distribution, regulation and measurement of electric current. He also produced sockets, switches and various other appliances and improvements in systems that enabled the introduction commercially of electric light, heat and power.

Edison Perfected Film Development

Thomas A. Edison played his part in the perfection of motion pictures. Although others had worked with the idea, he was generally credited with having done the most to bring it to perfection.

25,000 YOUTHS AT SHOWS FOR KOMIC CLUB

Special Programs Given In 30 District Theaters; Members Elect Officers

Over 25,000 boys and girls, members of the Warner Theaters Sun Telegraph Junior Comic Club, assembled Saturday at their neighborhood theaters to elect officers for the coming four weeks. At the end of that period another set of officers will be chosen who will conduct the meetings every Saturday morning for the same length of time.

Nearly a thousand youngsters gave Manager Frank Roberts a rousing welcome as he stepped on the stage of the Enright Theater to make announcements.

Andy Benson, Chief Boy Scout Executive of Allegheny County West, made an interesting address based on the pledge which appears on the reverse side of the Junior Comic Club membership card.

SPECIAL SHOW

The address was followed by a special picture for members of the club—Hoot Gibson in "The Hard Hombre," and then the regular program of the day.

Next week, every child attending the Enright Theater meeting will receive a beautifully illustrated story book. The special picture will be George O'Brien in "Riders of the Purple Sage."

SCHENLEY CHAPTER

Another group of approximately 500 children turned out in spite of the inclement weather, to attend the meeting at the Schenley Theater. New members were ushered to the lounge of the theater, where they registered and received membership buttons and cards.

A representative of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph outlined the purposes of the clubs and gave some inkling of the treats that are in store for members who attend the Saturday morning meetings.

The officers elected for the Schenley Chapter are: Grand jester, Jacob Zinamon; board of governors, Virginia Hurley Mary Forman, Agnes Crooks, Elvin Neale, Roland Cartright and Billy Johns. Manager Harry Thomas conducted the election and distributed the prizes.

MANOR CHAPTER

MT. OLIVER HARRIS

In addition to the special pictures shown at the Mt. Oliver Harris chapter meeting, a ventriloquist caused much laughter among the members. Following the program, an election was held with the following results: Grand jester, Gene Tyler; board of governors, Mary Jane Oliver, William Grill, Homer King, Clair Reis, Joseph Oliver and Betty Bird.

HARRIS CHAPTER

Children flocked from the South Hills, South Side and West End districts to the Harris Theater on Diamond street, for a big free show. Hereafter meetings at the Harris will be held on Saturday mornings at 10:30.

Meetings were held in 30 other Warner Theaters in the tri-state territory, and at every meeting announcement was made that every member retaining his or her card, showing that four meetings have been attended, will be entitled to admission free to special showing of a new picture at the Stanley Theater, Pittsburgh, Sunday afternoon, November 15.

If you are not already a member, join the Warner Theaters-Sun-Tele Junior Comic Club at your neighborhood theater Saturday morning or fill in the application blank on this page.

BEAMISH SETS VOTE MACHINE TEST DATES

Board to Examine Devices October 28 and 29 to Be Named Soon by Official

Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish today announced that October 28 and 29 had been set for the examination of the voting machines furnished the county by the Poole Engineering and Machine Company. This is in line with the request made in a taxpayers' suit filed October 13 here in which the courts were asked to restrain the County Commissioners from accepting any more machines from the company and to keep the Commissioners from paying the concern any more money until after an examination had been made.

In setting the dates for the examination, Secretary Beamish said he would announce the personnel of the examining boards soon.

The taxpayers' suit was filed here by Attorney Charles F. C. Arensberg in behalf of Ada B. Bassett, of Northumberland street, the plaintiff. Although the plaintiff is associated with the League of Women Voters, she brought the suit as a citizen and a taxpayer.

The suit named the three Commissioners, Controller Robert G. Woodside, County Treasurer John Francies, and the Pool Engineering and Machine Company as defendants. Nearly 800 of the machines have been delivered. The necessary deposit to provide re-examination of the machines was sent to Secretary Beamish a few days before the suit was filed.

The suit asks that in event Secretary Beamish revokes the approval of the machine the county be restrained from purchasing or receiving any more of the Pool devices."

2 HURT AS AUTO, TRUCK COLLIDE

A truck load of vegetables was scattered over the street at Allegheny and Pennsylvania avenues, North Side, early today when the truck upset after a collision with an automobile in which two persons were injured slightly.

Robert Black, 27, of 535 Marie avenue, Avalon, and Mrs. Howard Slattery, 30, of 2944 Kenilworth avenue, were taken to Allegheny General Hospital. Mrs. Black, Mr. Slattery and the Slattery's three children were uninjured.

Malcolm McCallum, 22, of Limaville, O., driver for Chapman Brothers, of Hartsville, O., was arrested on a reckless driving charge. While Patrolman George Moulter was directing traffic at Sheffield street and Pennsylvania avenue, an automobile containing M. H. Rice, 24, of 1211 Beaver avenue, Bellevue, and Those Howaland, 23, of 1817 Davis avenue, nearly ran the patrolman down, he alleged. Rice and Howaland were arrested.

Akron's Two Biggest Banks Consolidated

AKRON, O., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Merging of the First-City Trust and Savings Bank and the Central Depositors Bank and Trust Company, Akron's two largest banks, with combined resources of $75,000,000, and formation of a $15,000,000 credit corporation to stabilize the local banking structure were announced today.

HOOVER SPURS HOPES FOR PROSPERITY

of Yorktown was a victory for mankind. It was another blaze in the great trial of human freedom.

"Here America became free to be America."

But few of his words touched upon present-day problems. Only as he closed did he picture in broad, brief strokes the advance of the nation during the past century and a half. He said:

"It has attained security against nations by which no thought ever comes that an enemy may step within our borders.

CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE

"While temporary dislocations have come to us because of the World War, we must not forget that our forefathers met similar obstacles to progress time and again, and yet the nation has swept forward to ever increasing strength. No American can review this vast pageant of progress without confidence and faith, without courage, strength and resolution for the future."

Earlier he had described the battle of Yorktown as one of the few decisive battles in the history of the world, asserting that had it not been won the whole course of history would have been altered. He declared:

"The primary national consequence of the independence we finally won here was the release of our national minds from all hampering restraints put upon us by subjects to another nation, and an older civilization. Here America became free to be America."

The President paid tribute to the aid lent the struggling colonists by France, calling by name DeGrasse, Lafayette and Rochambeau. He spoke also of Marshal Petain, who listened as he talked.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

"We assemble here to celebrate a victory for our own independence, but not essentially a victory over the British. The long span of history will interpret the American war for independence and this battle more in the light of a struggle amongst English-speaking people for the establishment of government of an extension of a common philosophy of human rights begun at Runnemede.

"The principles and ideals for which America contended had many adherents and much sympathy in England at that time. The victory of the Americans gave impulse to the new order throughout the world; and while the sovereignties of America and England definitely diverged at Yorktown, yet the march of the ideals for which the Americans fought also went forward and triumphed in England itself.

"The common acceptance of many of these principles has aligned the English-speaking people side by side for a century of peace, concord, sympathy, and devotion to a liberty defined and assured under a reign of law. The triumph of these new ideas in America strengthened the impulses for liberty in France.

"'It is not to be doubted,' wrote Lafayette, in sending the keys of the Bastile to Washington, 'that the principles of America opened the Bastile.'

NATIONAL SHRINE

"This national shrine stands for more than a glorious battle. It is a shrine which symbolizes things of the spirit. The victory of Yorktown was a victory for mankind. It was another blaze in the great trail of human freedom. Through these ideas and ideals the minds of a people were liberated, their exertions and accomplishments stimulated.

"The primary national consequence of the independence we finally won here was the release of our national mind from all hampering restraints put upon us by subjection to another nation and an older civilization. Here America became free to be America.

"We acquired the opportunity for unrestrained development of a government and culture that should be our own. It has made possible the realization of those visions of government and organized society which arose among us as a result of individuality of temperament born of the frontiers of a new continent.

"If we look back over these 150 years, we see our nation making progress with every decade. From these communities of 3,000,000 people scattered along the Atlantic seaboard, it has grown to more than 120,000,000. It has marked the full sweep of the continent to the Pacific Ocean with magnificent cities, homes and farms, with a degree of comfort and security hitherto unknown in human history.

NEW IDEALS

"It has grown in education and knowledge, from which invention and discovery have been accelerated, with every year bringing a harvest of new comforts and inspirations. It has unfolded a great experiment in human society, builded new and powerful institutions born of new ideas and new ideals, new visions of human relations.

"The unparalleled rise of America has not been the result of riches in lands, forests, or mines; it sprung from the ideas and ideals which liberated minds and stimulated the spirits of men. In those ideas and ideals are the soul of the people. No American can review the vast pageant of progress without confidence and faith, without courage, strength, and resolution for the future."

'Doug' Fairbanks Sends Out 'Rejection Slips' to Travel Fans

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLWOOD, Oct. 19

More than 4,000 people, thirsting for adventure, have written in, applying for a berth in Douglas Fairbanks' air trip to South America.

The avalanche of letters continues at such a pace that Doug now is sending out form cards with this inscription:

"I greatly appreciate your interest in offering to accompany me on my forthcoming expedition to South America.

"Unless something unforeseen occurs my expedition will comprise two planes, each carrying six persons. The full personnel, however has already been arranged.

"The announcement of the trip has brought me thousands of letters similar to yours. It is for that reason I am compelled to take this manner of thanking you, much as I would prefer to by personal letter."

Doug Fairbanks

Some of the country's foremost aviators have signified their wish to join the party. Other applications include interpreters, several taxidermists, numerous cameramen and the chef of a well-known St. Louis hotel. Oddly enough, very few kids have written in.

Doug tells me a representative of the Smithsonian Institution now is on his way out here to confer with him.

The starting date of the expedition still is undetermined. Victor Fleming, who was to have been a member, has commenced a picture. If Doug waits for him, he will not leave until after the first of the year. There is some talk, however of Howard Hawks going along instead.

MAYBE IT'S AS WELL

Joe E. Brown is beefing because a New York physician charged him $25 for a consultation. It develops that all he did was to open his mouth and say "Ah."

"And I didn't give him everything," says Joe resentfully.

GOSSIPING AGAIN

Dorothy Burgess' $10,000 jewels have been returned to her Malibu home, from which they mysteriously disappeared during a party. They were discovered under an ornament in the living room.... Who is the collegiate youth with whom Betty Bronson rides about town these days in a small car of well-known make? Maurice Chevalier's wife, Yvonne Vallee, is sailing from Paris en route to Hollywood. She remained in France for a slight operation. Jack Oakie has abandoned those abortive sweat shirts. Ma Oakie finally rebelled at last month's $30 cleaning bill. Rupert Hughes' $125,000 story, "No One Man" again is on the shelf at Paramount. Going to a preview the other night, Director W. S. Van Dyke had a collision with a freight train. He got out without a scratch, but oh the car. Leon Waycoff, stage actor recently signed by Universal, is making daily air-plane trips to and from San Francisco for screen tests. He is in the cast of "Precedent" up North.

A Cinderella Heroine in Warner

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"Personal Maid," a mild little romance with a Cinderella complex, came to the Warner Saturday. Nancy Carroll is the lady of the title. She gives a satisfactory portrayal. But her eyes are made up to beat the band!

The story concerns a little East Side girl who gets herself a job with an aristocratic family and ends up by marrying the college-boy son.

Gene Raymond takes care of the hero role. He has a fur coat to help him put over the collegiate idea. He is thrown out of Yale, eats chocolate candy, and gets the stomach ache.

There have been lots of better pictures.

Pepsodent announces a notable new discovery

An entirely new cleansing and polishing material has been developed by Pepsodent Laboratories. It is twice as soft as polishing materials in common use. Teeth are given higher polish, brighter luster—FILM stains disappear completely

THE Pepsodent Laboratories announce a new discovery. A revolutionary discovery contained in Pepsodent Toothpaste for more than six months.

Your dentist will tell you Pepsodent's policy has always been to improve constantly—no "fixed formula" to hamper progress. Research laboratories have a habit, in this modern age, of quickly obsoleting prior ideas. As new dental advances have come, Pepsodent has been the first to meet them.

Now once more Pepsodent advances. This time through a notable new discovery that possesses three exclusive virtues:

1. The new cleansing and polishing material in Pepsodent stands unequalled in removing stained, destructive FILM.
2. The new texture is invisibly fine. As a result it imparts a higher polish to enamel—a brilliant glaze or luster.
3. The new material is safe—this is most important of all. Safe because it's soft—yes, twice as soft—as polishing materials in common use.

Having made this new discovery we faced an equally great problem. How to combine it in our present formula without altering appearance or sacrificing the famous flavor that has made Pepsodent so long preferred by millions. We mastered this. In taste and in looks it is still the Pepsodent you have always known. In results and safety it is new—brand new.

Keeps teeth cleaner—safely

Pepsodent's new cleansing and polishing material brings a change in teeth's appearance within a few days' time. Newly discovered, it is different, totally different, from any now in use.

These facts are interesting: this discovery followed 7 years of research . . . 3 tons of raw materials were used in laboratory tests . . . we held a competition from among the ablest minds in chemistry . . . new equipment had to be invented, then erected . . . the process is a carefully guarded secret.

The idea was simple: to combine super film-removing power with super safety and yet retain the original appearance and taste of Pepsodent. A paradox! A seemingly hopeless task that has been the goal of every toothpaste manufacturer for the last decade. Pepsodent has solved it!

Pepsodent—special FILM-removing toothpaste

Removing FILM is, and always will be, Pepsodent's chief duty. Today's Pepsodent performs that duty better than any toothpaste ever has before.

FILM is that slippery coating on your teeth. It gathers germs that cause decay. It glues them tightly to enamel. FILM absorbs the stains from food and smoking and makes teeth unattractive. Removing FILM is important for beauty and for health.

Get a tube of Pepsodent today. Note how smooth and creamy. It is safe . . . utterly safe . . . on the softest baby teeth and the most delicate enamel. Pepsodent is today's outstanding scientific toothpaste.

USE PEPSODENT TWICE A DAY—SEE YOUR DENTIST AT LEAST TWICE A YEAR

Things I Never Knew Till Now
(I Just Love to Whistle!)

That after 424 years (424 is correct) we still name America after one who didn't discover it, who was a liar and a cheat, yet!

That no home in Key West, Fla., has a chimney.

That a movie house on 3d Ave. New York, opens its doors at 6 a. m., and that patrons at that hour go there to sleep.

That the tablet on Fayerweather Hall (Columbia Univ.) mentions Fort Haight. The name is Laight! (I always was good at history.)

That 500,000 persons, mostly grown-ups, ride the tiny choo-choo train at the Detroit Zoo, and how the monkeys in the cages laugh!

That the statues of Washington and Lafayette in Union Square are so weatherbeaten they look like two other fellers.

That it's against the law in Chicago to walk on stilts.

That a Mrs. Handy, of Mass., was 50 years old before they recorded her birth. (You wanna see some card tricks?)

That, though the Island of Crete saw the beginning of civilization, it has no trains, cars, phones, electric lights or drains.

That Rodrigo Tricena never got the $100 annuity prize offered to the one on Columbus' ship who sighted land first. Chris got it.

That in Kansas on the Sabbath "unnecessary labor" is illegal. (Whatever that means. Prinstance?)

That there's nothing to cellophane. It is wood pulp overcooked in the ordinary process of papermaking.

That September, in 1752, had only 19 days.

That Alex, the Great, who conquered the world, and who chirped: "I am my own law!" couldn't win the one woman he desired.

That they have discovered that the best thing for speedboats and airplanes (in cold climates) is castor oil.

That a Scotsman originated the idea of savings banks. He was the Rev. Henry Duncan. He started one in 1800, at Ruthven.

That a major league baseball pitcher loses from three to four pounds pitching a full nine-inning game. But a six-day bike rider, they tell you, gains weight after the long grind.

That the game of chess in all probability, invented for the purpose of illustrating the art of war. From India, I think.

That the Statute of Lib is a replica of one in Paree.

That there is a penal law which says gambling is a crime, but there is also a law that says it is a crime to cheat at gambling!

That if a gambler is convicted of winning or losing as much as $25 in a 24-hour period, he is liable to a fine of four times that amount, which is given to the poor.

That if you commit a murder in Sweden you get 10 years in jail, but if you commit a second murder you get life. By golly!

That if you steal a dollar or a million dollars in Sweden you get the same punishment—3 years in the hoosegow—ow!

That Alfonso's picture still is on the Spanish stamps.

That the Architests' Building at No. 101 Park avenue (of all places), forgot to arrange for the elevators to go to the top floor!

That a star before the serial number of a US bill means that the original bill was defective and the "star" one is a duplicate.

That Lou Holtz and F. Kaplan, the attorney, were arguing about how much money they had. They got to $300,000 and stopped lying.

That Peter Arno, who was chased by a husband with a bulletless pistol in Reno, has a phone number which is 3-1485 VANDERBILT.

And that one wag figured out why Woollcott, the critic, always danced in the streets every time Mrs. Fiske opened in a show.

So that he would not have to go in and see her act!

Plays, Players and By-Play

—By WILLIAM J. LEWIS—

George C. Tyler, who has sponsored a number of all-star revivals of classic plays in the past few season, is the producer of "The Admirable Crichton," which comes to the Nixon tonight with a cast headed by Walter Hampden and Fay Bainter. Effie Shannon, remembered as the feminine half of a popular association of old that included the late Herbert Kelcy as the male member, is in the company. This Barrie comedy was originally presented by Charles Frohman with William Gillette as the star. The engagement includes the customary Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

* * *

* * *

Nancy McCord and Walter Slezak have the central roles in "Meet My Sister," musical comedy to be introduced tonight to the Alvin audience. In the cast are Peggy O'Neill, Harry Walsh, Gerald Oliver Smith, Katherine Skidmore, Boyd Davis and the Merriel Abbott dancers. The story has been Americanized from a Hungarian original that was popular in Europe, and the piece has had New York and Chicago engagements. Wednesday and Saturday are matinee days.

* * *

Small Timer says overdressing used to be called bad form, but that modern underdressing reveals both good and bad.

* * *

So far nothing has been booked for next week for either the Nixon or Alvin. For the week of November 2, the Nixon bill will be Earl Carroll's "Vanities," while the Alvin will offer Mme. Schumann-Heink in the comic opera, "The Mikado." Two weeks later the same theater will have Ethel Barrymore in "The School For Scandal" as the second play of the Professional Players' subscription series.

Small Timer says Republicans used to blame everything on the Democrats, but now they blame it on Europe.

McGovern to Address Voters in Braddock

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern and former State Senator C. M. Barr, nominees of the Independent party for County Commissioner, are scheduled to address a meeting of party voters and workers tonight in Braddock Carnegie Library, according to Charles T. Beebe, chairman of the Braddock Borough Committee.

Other slated speakers are Attorney Alexander Lindsay, chairman of the Independent Legal Committee, and Deputy Attorney General Ralph H. Smith.

Dormont Church Studies Problems

Need of a dynamic program of Christian education to meet the present threat of spiritual blindness that endangers the church was being studied today at the second day's meeting of workers of the Dormont Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Edward P. Westphal, of Philadelphia, director of adult education for the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, speaks tonight at a fellowship dinner, his subject being "Teaching That Touches Life."

Sea Lion Dies In Zoo, Mate Mourns

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Trouncer, California sea lion brought here with another named Bouncer five years ago and since then the delight of children at Central Park Zoo, died yesterday of congestion of the lungs.

Bouncer, Dr. Harry Nimphus, zoo veterinarian said, began immediately to develop melancholia and fears were held for his health. He has no other mate in the menagerie.

Florida G. O. P. Urges Hoover as Nominee

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Florida Republicans meeting here adopted resolutions indorsing the renomination of Herbert Hoover as presidential standard-bearer in 1932. Henry W. Bishop, chairman of the resolutions committee, announced. The resolution said in part:

"The fearless and courageous stand taken by him in this great economic crisis which the entire world has experienced has been a deciding factor in stabilizing world business, and has prevented world chaos."

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Has Engaged Man Right to Step Out With Others?

Has an engaged man a right to go out with as many other girls as he chooses "until he is married?"—

Or should he take out only the girl he is engaged to?"

"It certainly is a puzzle to me," moans Eileen, who is the Lady in the Case. "Do you think he even loves me, really, when he goes with others, and admits it?"

What's your slant on it, Mary, Alice, Bill, Joe? Would you want to step out with all the other Janes 'n' swains in town . . . If you really loved someone?

Or would you sit lonely at home?

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I am very much interested in your column, and I'm wondering—will you tell me your honest opinion of my problem? I need help.

"For the past three years I've been keeping company with the man I'm engaged to. We see each other twice a week, and have been engaged for quite a while. Recently, we were talking about "cheating," and so forth (which I have never thought of doing) and when I asked him if he ever went out with other girls, he answered: "Of course I have, and still do; what of it?"

GIRL PERPLEXED

"Now, he never attempts to take me out oftener, and never invites me out with others. Is he being fair to me? I asked him if he realized that we were engaged, and he said certainly, but he could still go out with as many other girls as he felt like—until we were married.

"What can I, or should I do? I just can't stand even the thought of being 'second fiddle.' He knows that I love him dearly, and he claims that he loves me . . . but he also claims that he has a right to do as he pleases and that, so long as he keeps his dates with me, I have no kick coming.

"Is he right? Do you think he really loves me when he seems so anxious to play around with other girls? Do you think he will really stop his playing around if I marry him?

"EILEEN."

TEST OF LOYALTY

What do you think? I think you've given us two problems instead of one, to solve, Eileen.

An engagement is a test of your mutual love and loyalty. Do you love each other enough to spend all your lives with each other? Are you loyal enough to sacrifice all the fun and freedom of single life? The engagement period should answer these questions. But it won't answer them if either of you keep flitting around, fancy free.

Frankly, youngster, I think your hero will be a mighty poor matrimonial investment. Maybe he'd come home now and then to change his collar, but I wouldn't even guarantee that. Better leave him to his gadding, and get yourself something stationary.

That's my answer to your first question. But only you can answer the second. What's the idea of a three-year engagement? That isn't an engagement—it's an endurance test.

Romance Often Links Persons from Far Different Walks of Life—Fay King

By FAY KING

It is not unusual for a youthful romance to bring together young persons from far different walks of life.

These romances thrive beautifully for awhile on that element of secrecy and undoubted disapproval which seems to lend such charm to youthful romances.

But the parents of a rich girl do not always disapprove the romance because of the humble position of the young man. They sometimes disapprove because they know he is too independent to live off her parents, and know that the girl will not be able to adjust herself to the economics of his life so easily as she imagines.

That he is apt to suffer humiliation by the contrast and that unfair criticism will completely crush his worthy ambitions and abilities.

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

The Boys Are Disappointed Over Naming of Baby

I followed my small son into his room with the absurd little wish that I had permitted him to give his baby sister one of the ridiculous names Jerry Ticer had confided to him. There was something pathetic in his solemnity as he went back into the room, and when he carefully held the door open for me—a lesson in deportment which he and Roderick forget as often as they remember it—a little lump came into my throat which most mothers will understand. He was trying so hard to be a good boy, and I surmised what would be his answer to the appeal I had made to Roderick and him.

Roderick was standing with his hands on a chair, and he pushed it forward as I came in with an unconscious imitation of Dicky which would have brought a smile to my lips if I had not been dangerously near tears.

"Sit down, Auntie Madge," he said, and when I had seated myself he and Junior edged toward me.

"We've 'cided," Junior said, his head up, and speaking quickly, "that it's all right for Granzie and Grandpa to name the baby. And we're not going to say anything more about our names, either. You know we told you we had a scheme if you didn't name her our names."

"Yes, dear," I said, a bit unsteadily, for I saw that my boy's disappointment was a bitter one, and that he was having hard work to keep back the tears which he lately has considered unworthy of a "big boy."

"Well, me and Rod, I mean Rod and I," he amended conscientiously, "had fixed it up so, even if you didn't name the baby Ruby Pearl or Opal Violet, we'd name her that ourselves and always call her those names when nobody else was around. We were going to take turns, 'cause each of us liked a different name, and one week we were going to call her Ruby Pearl, and the next one her name would be Opal Violet. But we don't think that would be fair, so we're never going to—never going to——"

His voice trailed off into a choke, and he turned away from me abruptly, patently fighting the tears. I spoke briskly, forcing down my sympathy in order to help him and Roderick also, for though Dicky's young nephew was not as intensely concerned as Junior, his face was exceedingly doleful.

"But you are going to," I assured him. "I think that's a wonderful plan. Only, I want you to let me in on it, too. We won't tell anybody else, except perhaps, Dad, and when we're alone together, we'll call our baby your names, but we'll never, never let anybody else know about it. We'll just have it our own secret."

"Mums! Do you mean it?"

"Auntie Madge! Aw! Gee!"

Junior whirled and catapulted himself upon me, and Roderick was not an instant behind him. They hugged me so enthusiastically that I wondered if my ribs were intact, and then they drew back together, facing me, their eyes wide and bright.

"'N' nobody's goin' to know 'bout it 'ceptin' you and Dad?" Junior asked.

"No, not a soul. It will be just our secret. That is," I added, with a Machiavellian eye upon the real reason for sending them to their room, "if you can keep a secret. Do you think you can?"

"Can we keep a secret?" Roderick boasted, his chest measure increasing perceptibly. "Just try us, eh? Jun?"

"Thank you, darling," I told him. "You both will see that you can trust me. I must know that you can keep this important secret first. I want you both to promise me that you will say nothing to anybody—anybody—remember, about Hank's burning those trousers and having to go to Bridgehampton for another pair. Uncle Harry and Aunt Lillian and Marion and Mary have all promised to say nothing about it—you see you told them, Junior, before I could stop you—and so Hank and Bill will think nobody knows. They'd be terribly embarrassed if they thought Mary and Marion knew."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Transmitting Colds and Infections Via the Kiss

During the recent epidemic of infantile paralysis, mothers were taught once again the great importance of cleanliness. Their attention was called to the necessity of safeguarding the infants and young children against contact with ill companions.

Dr. Copeland

The real cause of infantile paralysis has not as yet been discovered. Many other diseases of childhood are not definitely understood. But it is known that the secretions of sick persons are a menace. It is well known, too, that the kissing of young children is dangerous.

If babies knew the dangers that lurk in kissing and were able to talk, I am sure they would say, "Please don't kiss me. I don't want to be sick." Why not heed their silent pleas?

The temptation to kiss an infant is great. But the danger of such a practice should offset the temptation. Never kiss an infant on the mouth. Contamination by this indulgence may even prove fatal to the young child. Colds, as well as more dreaded infectious diseases, are easily spread by kissing.

If a child must be kissed, it is much better to kiss it on the back of the head rather than on the face. It is far better that the child never be kissed at all than to subject it to unnecessary danger.

The common cold, as well as pneumonia, influenza and other infectious diseases, is easily transmitted from one individual to another. This is why there is danger in all crowded places. Eating in a crowded restaurant or living under crowded conditions often leads to infection.

Under such circumstances an individual is certainly in close contact with others. But it is by no means as close contact as is the act of kissing a child. It is not difficult to understand how easily a disease may be transmitted from an adult to a child.

Often the adult is not aware of the fact that he is carrying undesirable germs. He may have sufficient resistance to combat the infection himself, but at the same time he carries the germs. These he gives to the child when he kisses it and in this unsuspected manner is doing a mighty wrong.

If you have infants or young children in your home make sure they are not kissed by loving friends or relatives who come to see them. You will be counted a crank, but don't you mind that.

If the children have colds or are sneezing, instruct them how to cover the mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing. They should not play with others and certainly never kiss others when they have colds.

It is always wise to keep a child at home if he is ill. By sending him to school he may quickly transmit the infection to his classmates. It is because of negligence in this matter that colds and infectious diseases are so quickly spread among school children. This is the way to start a severe epidemic.

It rests upon the mother's shoulders to prevent such calamities. Do not worry about your child losing too much work by being away from school. He will make up his work as soon as he gets well. By staying at home he will not be a source of danger to other children. If you and all mothers take these precautions your child will be protected and so will the other children.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Service Plate

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to know when and how long the service plate remains at the table? At what course should it be removed?

I have heard a difference of opinion and I would like to have it settled in my mind. T.

It is customary to allow the service plate to remain on the table during the first courses of the dinner, and until the main course. As the waitress places the dinner plate, she removes the service plate with the plate of whatever course precedes the main course.

Apologizing for Handwriting

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Every time I write a letter I always say, "Please excuse my handwriting." Is this correct?

2. Last year when I graduated from high school I addressed my own invitations. This year my cousin is going to graduate and her mother addressed her invitations. Did I do wrong?

(Without your column the paper wouldn't be "correct." Wishing you all the luck in the world and good health so that you may continue informing us as to what is right and wrong).

ARABELLE.

1. No, this you should not do. Your handwriting is your handwriting, and either leave it as it is (and yours is very good and doesn't need any apologies) or make up your mind to change it. But obviously there isn't much point in this request for pardon, and I hope you change this habit. Will you?

2. Either is correct. Usually the member of the family with the best handwriting is chosen to address invitations.

(Thank you for your wonderful tribute. Come again to the column).

Household Hints

When washing glass or silver add a pinch of borax to the water. It will make them glitter, and all stains and marks will be removed.

The yolk of an egg will remove mud, coffee or chocolate stains from any kind of material. Apply with a piece of flannel, beginning at the outside of each stain and working with a circular movement towards the center.

Contract Bridge -:- OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Conflicting Advice

Do you recall how everyone ordered you about when you were very small and wanted to play; how often father, mother, teacher, and almost everyone else seemed to give different advice on the same subject?

Now that you have grown both large and important and want to play contract for pleasure, does each older player continue to give conflicting advice?

The stalled motorist and the card player appear especially dainty morsels for hungry self-constituted counsellors. The majority of humanity dearly loves giving advice, particularly when the wisdom displayed is newly acquired and limited.

Contract bridge is a delicate piece of mechanism. Each system of bidding has been designed by experts; each works well only when its original parts are left alone; a part of one machine may entirely upset the action of another machine into which you attempt to introduce it. Having chosen your method of hand valuation, for example, adhere to it and the accompanying rules for bidding.

The "short-cut" method of card valuation followed in these articles accounts for the number of tricks that should be won more accurately than almost any other system. If your side can win ten tricks you will ordinarily find that you and your partner can count those ten tricks between you. Another method of card valuation may enable partners to count only nine tricks in the two hands; still another system perhaps will show only eight tricks in the two hands; users of the second system will inform an inquirer that one trick comes in the play of the hand; those favoring the third method of valuation state that two tricks are picked up in playing the hand.

This "picking up tricks in the play of the hand" is a species of very ancient bunk. Very few hands permit the declarer to take a single trick that cannot be counted. Players who claim to pick up tricks in play, in nearly every instance, follow a method of valuation that fails to account for the tricks that must come to them in the ordinary course of natural play. As a rule any player who asks his partner to assist him upon a bare three probable tricks is following a method of card valuation that is underestimating what should be won. He must be doing this or he never would be able to pick up enough tricks to fulfill his contracts.

There are methods (the squeeze, grand coup, hand-stripping and end plays) that sometimes enable the declarer to win tricks that do not lie in the cards, but these cases are rare and require great skill to manage successfully.

Before accepting advice upon any change in methods of hand valuation and bidding, make certain that the counsellor follows your brand of valuation and bidding; then you may at least listen to his arguments. If he follows other methods it is a waste of time to even listen. He doesn't even speak your language.

FISHER BOOMED FOR TARIFF JOB

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The governor and lieutenant governor of the last administration of Pennsylvania are approaching rivalry for appointment to the Federal Tariff Commission.

With or without their knowledge, former Gov. John S. Fisher and his lieutenant governor, Arthur H. James, are being boomed for the place on the commission to be vacated by the impending retirement of Chairman Henry P. Fletcher.

The names of Fisher and James, who retired from office last January, are the most prominent in a number of Pennsylvanians submitted to the White House for consideration. Fletcher, a resident of Greencastle, Pa., will leave his post November 15.

LEAP SAVES 3 AT INN FIRE

Jumping from a second-story window after they were trapped by fire which destroyed the White House Inn on the Broadhead road, between Aliquippa and Monaca, three men escaped early today.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered by L. R. Hackler, proprietor, who was asleep with two companions on the second floor. Their retreat cut off by a blazing stairway, the three men leaped from a window. Heckler was slightly cut about the head.

AKRON GETS O.K. OF NAVY BOARD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The Naval Inspection Board has recommended to Secretary Adams that the airship Akron be accepted.

Rear Admiral George C. Day, chief of the board, messaged the Navy Department today from Akron, O., that the tests were satisfactory. He asked that the acceptance of the ship go through immediately.

Acceptance of the ship, in accordance with Navy practice, probably will be provisional for a period of six months. The Akron is somewhat over weight and has not made the full rated speed. Adjustments would have to be made by the Goodyear Zeppelin Company's engineers during the provisional period.

As soon as the Akron is accepted, the Navy's final opportunity to cancel the contract for construction of the ZRS-5, sister ship of the Akron, will expire and the Goodyear company will be free to proceed on immediate construction, using funds already appropriated.

JUSTICE, CHIEF IN ATTACK ROW

Declaring he was beaten and then threatened with a shotgun by Police Chief George Maas, of Heidelberg, and a companion as the aftermath of election bitterness, Justice of the Peace Philip Hillen, of Heidelberg, has filed information against the police chief charging him with aggravated assault and battery and the pointing of firearms.

Information was made before Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie.

Hillen, a son, Frank, 26, and Andrew Hodowance, of Grant street, Heidelberg, waived hearing when arraigned before Justice of the Peace E. J. Balsarin on charges brought by Chief Maas, who alleged he was beaten by the three men when Hillen and his son attempted to release Hodowance whom he had arrested for creating a disturbance in front of his store on the night of October 9.

MATHER LEADER IN MANY LINES

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The industrial empire of the Great Lakes has lost another of its monarchs with the death of Samuel Mather—capitalist, philanthropist and a "first citizen" of Cleveland.

Mr. Mather died suddenly at his home here early yesterday of a heart attack. He was 80.

As head of Pickands, Mather & Co. and a director or officer of 25 other corporations, Mather was one of the key figures in the mining, shipping and manufacturing that dominates the Great Lakes from one end to the other.

A portrait of Mather, by the Boston artist, Charles Hopkinson, is now hanging in the International Art Exhibition here.

HOOVER URGES PUBLIC TO AID JOB FUND

President's Radio Speech Opens National Campaign; Cites Duty of Citizens

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—President Hoover asked the nation last night to contribute to local funds for the jobless, urging that every American adopt a policy of becoming his brother's keeper.

Landing here en route to Yorktown, he broadcast his doctrine of community rather than Federal aid from the home of the commandant of this aged fortress.

Thus the President opened a national drive from October 19 to November 25, in which his relief committee will aid the gathering of local funds. He said:

"No governmental action, no economic doctrine, no economic plan or project can replace that God-imposed responsibility of individual man and woman to their neighbors.

"The possible misery of helpless people gives me more concern than any other trouble this depression has brought us. It is with these convictions in mind that I have the responsibility of opening this nation-wide appeal to citizens of each community that they provide the funds with which, community by community, this task shall be met."

He appealed for such contribution to the drive ending November 25 as would make the day, Thanksgiving, the "outstanding Thanksgiving day in the history of the United States."

The President was introduced by Walter S. Gifford, head of the Emergency Relief Organization. Will Rogers, speaking from California, followed Mr. Hoover.

MAN, WIFE HELD IN HOTEL FRAUD

Vernon R. Chumbley, and his wife, Anna, both 39, were turned over to Alderman Thomas D. Jones this morning after they had been arraigned in Central Police Court.

A warrant in Jones' office charges the pair with defrauding the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Government agents are investigating charges that Chumbley obtained grand jury vote fraud investigation findings from Judges Samuel H. Gardner and James R. Macfarlane by posing as an attorney of the United States Department of Labor.

The records of the courts, police said, were found in Chumbley's room by Edward Ferris, credit manager of the hotel, when he went there to ask Chumbley about a "bouncing" check for $50 which the hotel had cashed.

The prisoner insists he is employed by the Department of Labor and claims that he aided in compiling the Wickersham Commissioner prohibition report.

Bring Counterfeiting Gang Suspect Here

Believed, federal authorities say, to have been implicated in a counterfeiting ring which operated extensively in Cleveland and Pittsburgh, Joseph Starcis, 46, was being brought to Pittsburgh by federal agents for trial in Federal Court here.

Peter Kuperson, 36, of Cleveland, said to have been a member of the gang, tried in Cleveland, was sentenced to serve four years in Atlanta Penitentiary after changing his plea of not guilty to guilty. Three other alleged members of the gang also are awaiting trial here.

McGovern and Barr Indorsed by Club

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and former Senator C. M. Barr, candidates on the Independent ticket for county commissioner, were indorsed yesterday afternoon at an organization meeting of the Bloomfield Republican League. The league has a membership of 300. John Mascio was elected president, Paul Infante, treasurer, and Anthony Contrax, secretary. Yesterday's meeting was addressed by A. D. Brandon, former morals court magistrate, and A. C. Carelli.

'American Tragedy' Deputy Sheriff Dies

HERKIMER, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—One of the leading actors in the Chester Gillette murder case, which furnished the story for the "American Tragedy," died here yesterday.

He was Austin B. Klock, 77, the deputy sheriff of a quarter century ago who arrested Gillette for the murder of a factory girl and who took the condemned man to Auburn prison, where he was electrocuted. Klock later was Sheriff.

DISCOVERED

Before the Crash, everybody knew that A & P stores sold food at bargain prices. In most people's opinion that was A & P's claim to name and fame. But even in those careless days, A & P had many customers among the thrifty and intelligent well-to-do, as well as among those who had to save money.

These customers were first attracted by bargain prices, but they soon found A & P food the best they could buy at any price.

Today, with money scarce, thousands of new customers have discovered A & P. And they have been quick to realize that their tables are just as well set as ever, but at a great saving.

Money will become easy again, but in the meantime the American people have become food wise. The old myth that high quality and high prices go together has worn thin. For A & P food has become famous for quality.

The Great ATLANTIC & PACIFIC Tea Co.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

WORKING IN CALIFORNIA at the moment is one of the greatest picture stars who ever lived. Because it can make no difference, and because that is not his name, I shall call him Fred.

Some 20 years ago Fred was not a famous picture star. As a matter of strict fact, he was a kid about 18 who earned his living by playing bits with a butlesque company that specialized in one-night stands through the Middle West.

One thing about Fred, he prided himself on his honesty. There are kids like that—even though there aren't very many. The entire burlesque troupe swore by Fred. And, in his way, he was fairly happy.

In Fred's troupe there was a soubrette whose name—let us say—was Mary. Mary was a girl who was destined to play on and on, without getting any further than where she started. There are many like her, too.

Mary had one passion. She loved to play the ponies. Regardless of where the company was playing, she would always try to get a bet down on a nag she had doped to win. And somebody was generally around to take her money.

One morning they struck a town where they were to play for three days. This amounted to a season's run for this company, and there was plenty of excitement among the members of the troupe. Three days in one town! Wow!

"Listen, kid," she chirped, "you've placed plenty of bets for me before. But I've got one today that feels like a real hunch. Hop over to the bookie you've played with the last two days and get down a bet on Barney in the fifth race.

"Here's a dollar. Bet it right on the nose. Remember it now, Barney in the fifth race. Get it? Good! Now beat it!"

Fred raced from the dressing room and headed for the street. As he was about to rush from the theater, the doorman stopped him.

The boy stopped.

"Gotta place a bet for Miss Mary," he announced excitedly. "She's gotta big hunch on Barney in the fifth. Gotta place that bet."

The doorman spread his own race chart before him. Then he laughed heartily.

"So she's playin, Barney, is she? Well, well, well. She's just as dumb as I thought she was—and that's sayin' heaps. Lemme tell you somethin', son, that horse ain't got one chance in a million.

"I've been playin' horses for more years than you've lived—and I know. That horse'll be at least 20 to 1 and she ain't got a ghost of a chance."

"Be smart," he whispered. "Be smart for once in your life. Put the dollar in your pocket and forget it. The horse will lose, and you'll be in the dollar. Don't be a foolish boy and give it to the bookie. You gotta be smart in this business."

Fred thought it all over. Never in his life had he cheated.

He had always been square. But this, after all, sounded so good. Why not keep the dollar? A whole dollar extra for himself that week! And Barney couldn't possibly win. Hadn't the doorman told him so?

In the end, Fred kept the dollar in his pocket. And, during the show an hour later, they told him that Barney had won. The odds were 20 to 1.

Fred was on the verge of insanity. He could not possibly get the $21 to give Mary—and he couldn't tell her the truth. So he lied.

"Mary," he cried, "your horse won! Barney won! But please don't be angry at me. I couldn't get your bet down. I forgot about it. And when I got there, I was just a few seconds late. Please don't be angry, Mary. Here's your dollar back."

"It's all right, Kid," she said. "This isn't the first tough break that little Mary has caught in life—and it ain't gonna be the last. You've been a square kid and I like you. More than like you, I trust you.

"It ain't your fault, kid. Forget it" . . .

Fred became one of the greatest screen stars of all time. His pictures will be shown as an example of the current day in art, I feel, long after most of us are helping the daisies grow. The talkies have made him an even greater star.

Mary went the way of most soubrettes of burlesque. She played on and on until nobody wanted her any longer. Then, with the little she had left, she kept following the ponies. And then, soon, there was nothing.

One day—and it was only about 10 months ago—Fred was walking down Sunset boulevard in Hollywood. A man passed him, looked around, hesitated for a moment and then turned and spoke to the great screen star.

It was one of the men who had been with Fred in the burlesque troupe years and years before. Fred was not a high-hatting fool. He talked with this man—talked with him as though he were a long lost pal.

During the conversation, the old friend asked Fred if he remembered Mary, the soubrette of the company. Fred nodded.

"Mary's dyin'," said the old trouper. "She's got the old con in a bad way. Ain't livin' far from here, either. She's hangin' out in Santa Monica an' I got the address in my pocket."

He looked at Fred hesitatingly.

"Maybe," he muttered apologetically, "you'd like to have it."

Fred nodded eagerly. And 10 minutes later he was on his way to the address that the old trouper had given him . . .

The woman was dying. No question about that. Fred called in the finest specialists in California, but there was nothing they could do. He spent $3,000, $4,000, $5,000—but the woman could not be saved.

The woman knew she was dying. She looked up at Fred, one of the greatest of the screen stars. She smiled wanly and pressed his hand.

"Tell me," she murmured, "why are you doing this for me?"

Fred's eyes grew misty.

"Do you remember," he asked, "a long, long time ago when I was just a kid, and you were a soubrette of our show? And do you remember a horse called Barney that you gave me a dollar to bet on and that came in at 20 to 1?"

Mary nodded weakly. She could barely talk.

"Yes," she whispered weakly, "but it was so very, very long ago. You couldn't make the bet in time. Why speak of that now?"

Fred bit his lower lip.

"You're wrong," he whispered, "we did make that bet in time. Barney won that race—but he never paid off until just now. Now I hope, all bets are square."

Shillito Funeral.

Funeral services for Dr. Nicholas Shillito, prominent Pittsburgh physician and surgeon, who died yesterday at his home, 215 South Fairmount street, will be held at the home tomorow at 3 p. m. Services will be conducted by the Rev. Paul Weyand, of Spencer Methodist Episcopal Church, a classmate of Dr. Shillito. He was born in Clinton, Pa., and received his bachelor of arts degree at Geneva College in 1891. He was graduated from the medical school of the University of Pittsburgh in 1895, and had practiced in Pittsburgh for 36 years. He served in the World War as a captain in the medical corps. He was a member of the Pittsburgh Academy of Medicine, the Allegheny County Medical Society, the American College of Surgeons, was a past president of the Pittsburgh Chapter of Surgeons, a member of St. James Lodge, F. and A. M., Beaver, and Sons of the American Revolution. He leaves his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Louise Koelkebeck, of Bellaire, O., and a grandchild. Burial will be in Allegheny Cemetery.

Oesterle Funeral.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning for Miss Mary M. Oesterle, of Mt. Troy road extension, Ross Township, who died in the Presbyterian Hospital Friday night, a few hours after she had been struck by a truck on the North Side. The services will be held in her home, followed by solemn high mass in St. Aloysius' Catholic Church. Burial will be made in the Most Holy Name Cemetery. Miss Oesterle was a lifelong resident of Ross Township. Miss Oesterle for more than 40 years conducted a stand in the Allegheny Market House. She leaves a brother, Frederick A. Oesterle and a sister, Mrs. A. E. Hufnagel.

Boardman Funeral.

Funeral services for Henry A. Boardman, 88, retired St. Paul, Minn., businessman, who died Saturday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Neville C. Davison, Pola road, Edgeworth, will be held tomorrow in St. Paul, Minn. Mr. Boardman was a native of Philadelphia. Upon graduating from Princeton in 1864, he lived in Pittsburgh until 1869, when he moved to St. Paul. Since retiring about one year ago, he has made his home here. Besides Mrs. Davison, he leaves another daughter, Miss Frances Boardman, and a son, Lawrence Boardman, both of St. Paul.

Charles J. McCaffrey.

Charles J. McCaffrey, 60, died Saturday in his home, 5602 Cedar avenue, Philadelphia. He was born in Pittsburgh and retired on pension as a Pittsburgh fire captain 10 years ago. The body will be brought to the home of his brother, Thomas McCaffrey, 145 Merrimac street, Mt. Washington, Wednesday morning. Burial will be made in Calvary Cemetery. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary Mangan McCaffrey; his brother, Thomas, and a sister, Mrs. Annie McKenzie, of Philadelphia.

Scranton Merchant Kills Self With Gas

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Jacob Levine, 55, prominent clothing merchant of North Scranton, was found dead early today at his home here and police pronounced the case one of suicide. Levine, who was found dead by his daughter, had placed blankets, pillows and quilts against the doors and windows of his room to prevent gas fumes from escaping. He had opened a jet in the room and waited for death.

Kidnap Postmaster, Take Stamps, Cash

GLOUCESTER, O., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Five men raided the home of H. F. Hamble, postmaster here, last night, took him from his home to the postoffice, forced him to open the safe, and then escorted him back home before they fled from the town. Not a shot was fired. The men escaped by automobile with between $400 and $500 in cash and stamps.

Sues Kyne for Loan Made Abroad in War

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Action for the recovery of an $853 loan allegedly made to Peter B. Kyne, the novelist, in France, during the war, has been started in Superior Court by Raoul G. Sherman, a Chicago department store merchandiser.

Sherman filed a petition for a writ to attach the personal property of the author, giving Kyne's residence as San Francisco.

Storm Halts Fliers In Rescues at Ship

NOME Alaska, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Stormy weather today was hampering airplanes in bringing back passengers from the ice-bound Hudson Bay steamer Baychimo.

Seven passengers already have been taken to Kotzebue from the Baychimo. The planes expected to transport a total of 22 passengers.

Dry to Fight Drive Of Prohibition Foes

DES MOINES, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said yesterday that his organization would fight the campaign of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment with an intensive educational campaign before the next general election.

McBride said the next general election would nail down prohibition or establish it as an issue for the next generation. The Anti-Saloon League, he said, must return to intensive work in the states to preserve the Eighteenth Amendment.

There is one right way to get rid of a cold and its possible complications—take Bromo Quinine. The quinine purifies and fortifies the system while the gentle laxative eliminates the impurities.

When you take cold, doesn't it seem foolish to treat merely the discomforts when it is just as easy to drive the infection completely out of the system?

Bromo Quinine is standard treatment for colds the world over. It outsells by millions any other cold remedy.

PINCHOT NAMES PITTSBURGHERS ON COAL BOARD

OPERATORS AID STABILIZATION ATTEMPT

Stoneroad & Smith Accept Appointments; Group Will Confer in Harrisburg

J. T. M. Stoneroad, president of the Carnegie Coal Corporation, and R. Templeton Smith, both of Pittsburgh, have been named members of Gov. Pinchot's committee of five bituminous coal operators to devise a plan for stabilization of the industry. Both have accepted their appointment, according to word from the Governor's office.

Other members of the committee are: John M. Jamison, president of the Jamison Coal and Coke Company, Greensburg; C. F. Hosford, Jr., of Butler, president of the Butler Consolidated Coal Company, and Walter A. Jones, secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers' Association.

The committee is to confer in Harrisburg, following a conference with Walter H. Glasgow, secretary of mines, at which Jamison is to preside.

TO MEET HERE

The committee will also meet in Pittsburgh the early part of next week.

Stoneroad, in discussing the problem, said today:

"Overproduction of coal is a misnomer, since it is plain that nearly all the coal that is being produced is being used. It is the potential capacity of the mines overhanging the market that creates competition, and breaks down prices and wage scales. It is true, in my opinion, that this state can do little about the coal problem without the co-operation of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky."

MAKES INSPECTION

Smith, who is secretary-treasurer of the Poland Coal Company, today is on a tour of inspection of the company's mines. He has made a thorough study of freight rates on coal out of the Pittsburgh district and has lectured on numerous occasions on the subject.

Gov. Pinchot has expressed the hope that the forthcoming Pennsylvania conference may "work out a remedy that will be acceptable to the mine owners in this and adjacent states and beneficial to the miners."

In announcing the appointment of the committee, Gov. Pinchot termed the condition of the bituminous coal industry "deplorable," saying:

"Unless we act to prevent it the complete breaking down of that important basic industry, the impoverishment of millions of people dependent, directly or indirectly, upon it for a livelihood, and the loss of billions of dollars of capital investment may follow."

CITY DIAL PHONE AREA TO WIDEN

Tentative plans for an equipment replacement job in Pittsburgh, involving a prospective expenditure of more than $950,000 have been announced by the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

F. J. Chesterman, vice president and general manager of the Bell Company's Western Pennsylvania area, has announced that two new dial central office units are to be established to replace the present Cedar manual central office equipment. The new dial exchange will be known as Cedar-Rosewood. He said:

"The fact that this replacement program will not be started until next summer, and is not scheduled for completion until the summer of 1933, is significant of the telephone company's attitude toward potential business trends. If we had any misgivings about the immediate future, we would not have ordered the exhaustive engineering work that has been necessary to complete our plans for the Cedar replacement project."

Mussolini to Visit Berlin This Winter

ROME, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini will go to Berlin some time this winter, it was announced today, but for the present he will be represented by Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, who goes to the German capital on October 25 to return the recent visit of Chancellor Bruening and former Foreign Minister Julius Curtius.

FORMER BRITISH ARMY CHIEF GUEST HERE

Sir William Robertson Pays Visit to Local Plant; Wife, Daughter Like Pittsburgh

A British soldier and statesman who has spent 50 years as a leader of British military affairs and who is now devoting the remainder of his life to peace, was a visitor in Pittsburgh today. He is Sir William Robertson, the only man in the history of the British Army who rose from private to the rank of Field Marshal.

With his wife, Lady Robertson, and his daughter, Miss Helen Robertson, the famous soldier made an inspection of the Heinz plant on the North Side today. He was guest of Howard Heinz at a luncheon in the Duquesne Club. This evening a few friends of Mr. Heinz were to meet the distinguished visitor at a dinner in the Heinz home, Morewood Heights.

FAVORS PEACE

The outlook for the forthcoming Geneva conference early next year is not very promising, Sir William believes. However, as his experience as a soldier has taught him, he believes that the war for disarmament must be waged continually, although the progress is slow.

Sir William believes the Geneva conference is destined to be a landmark in world politics of the highest importance, for the issues at stake will be nothing less than peace and war.

"I like Pittsburgh, but I am afraid of New York. There is too much noise and hurry in that city. Pittsburgh is like our own Sheffield."

LIKE PITTSBURGH

Commenting on the fog which blanketed the city this morning in its similarity to London fogs, she said:

"You know I think London is abused because of its fogs. They are not like they used to be. People in London are using more electricity in their homes and less coal, doing away with the smudge."

Miss Helen Robertson likes the American girls, she said. They are very much like the girls of England, even to their clothes.

Tonight the visitors will return to New York and on Friday night they will sail homeward. Sir William is to be guest at a dinner in New York, to be attended by statesmen from the United States and foreign countries. The invitation to attend the dinner was the reason for the trip to the United States.

HENRY FORD'S NAMESAKE

But This Lawrenceville Lad's Having Bad Luck

Trinity Cathedral Youths Plan Dance

Trinity Cathedral, Sixth avenue, added to its activities a Young People's League during its home hour yesterday. Officers include Vern Swartsfager, president; George Hurlston, vice president; Ruth Zimmerman, secretary, and Ruth Parker, treasurer. A Halloween dance has been scheduled for October 27.

FORD NAMESAKE HAS ILL LUCK

Although being a namesake of Henry Ford and recipient of a letter of best wishes from the automobile magnate at birth might be considered an excellent start in life for any young lad, Henry Regis Ford, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ford, 5203 Wickliff street, Lawrenceville, has had his share of bad luck and ill health since he was born October 29, 1929.

Last July, after a minor operation at the Baby's Health Center of the Homeopathic Hospital, Mr. Ford said, Henry developed a series of boils and skin abscesses. The infection extended to the bone of the left leg, and two operations were necessary, she declared. Henry is home now after 13 weeks in St. Margaret's Hospital. It will be a long time before he is able to walk, doctors say.

The boy's father, employed for seven years with the American Railway Express, has only had five or six days work a month since July, he said.

State Official, 28 Bankers Indicted

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—State Superintendent of Banking Joseph A. Broderick and 28 of the 35 directors of the closed Bank of United States, including Frank Hodley, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, were indicted today by the grand jury.

Broderick is charged with neglect of duty and conspiracy and the directors with negligently participating in a fraudulent insolvency.

WELFARE UNITS AWAIT START OF DRIVE

Organization For Campaign Opening Nov. 9 Nearly Ready; Seeks $6,000,000

The organization of forces for the joint campaign of the Welfare and Emergency Fund to open November 9 and continue two weeks is almost complete, officials said today. The appeal of the organizations for unemployment relief funds totals nearly $6,000,000, with more than $250,000 in four donations already reported.

In the county, 15 distinct community campaigns are being organized under C. W. Head, and 19 areas will be covered under Mrs. J. B. McKillips. Another group of neighborhoods in the city are being organized under Mrs. William M. Henderson and Mrs. A. M. Oppenheimer.

At least 2,000 men will be engaged in soliciting subscriptions from industrial plants and business organizations under William E. Quinby.

Three meetings were scheduled for today. John McKelvy, chairman of the Dormont-Mt. Lebanon unit, was to preside at a meeting of the group at the home of Mrs. W. S. Haddock, of Dormont. Pitcairn units were to meet today in the borough building, with the Rev. J. R. Colclough, chairman, presiding, to complete organization. McKees Rocks units were to meet under the leadership of William Geisler.

Tomorrow's speakers include Miss Muriel Morgan, of the Family Welfare Association, at the Mt. Oliver Women's Civic Club; W. S. Diggs, speakers' chairman, at the Pittsburgh Teachers' association, and a representative of the fund at a meeting of the Rotary Club of Carnegie.

'Bugs' Shoulders Chopsticks and He's Off to War

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

The League of Nations has put Uncle Sam in the middle again.

"You're in the safest spot on the train. The cars on both sides of us are both steel."

We're in by invitation this time. Yessir, Daniel got out of the lion's den, but made a second trip back for his hat.

They've stewed up a little broth in Manchuria for us to blow on and cool off. The Japanese are fighting the Chinese. Not to be outdone in Oriental courtesy, the Chinese are fighting the Japanese.

They told us in 1917 that there never would be another war. If this is an old one they've warmed it up pretty good.

So we're off for Manchuria in the morning. And you can hang out that service flag for an old soldier with a marshal's baton in his knapsack and a pair of chopsticks in his manual of arms.

We have no wives, mothers or sweethearts in Manchuria. But we're going to fight for them just the same.

CLOTHING TORN BY BULLET IN BATTLE

East Liberty Holdup Foiled When Victim Defies Shots, Gives Alarm After Beating

Police today are searching for three armed thugs whose attempt yesterday morning to hold up the Rittenhouse Hotel, 201 Collins avenue, East Liberty, was foiled by the courage of the night clerk.

His head bleeding from a blow from an automatic, and his clothing ripped by a heavy bullet, Elmer Diamond, 25, escaped from the bandits in the second floor office of the hotel, and ran into the street, sounding an alarm which frightened his assailants away.

Diamond told police the story of how he grabbed the pistols of two of three youths who had entered the hotel, and of the hand-to-hand encounter that followed, during which two shots were fired at close range. One of the bullets ripped through the clerk's trouser leg.

When the shots failed to hit their mark, one of the robbers felled the youth with a heavy blow from his gun, causing a deep cut in his forehead. Diamond scrambled to his feet, ran down the stairway past the lookout, and hid in the street behind a parked automobile.

Without waiting to force open a cash drawer behind the desk, the bandits fled in an automobile. Diamond furnished the police with a good description of his assailants.

Two steel-jacketed slugs were dug from the wall and a desk by police.

LYE POISONING KILLS CHILD

Little Mary Elizabeth Moore, 4, lay dead in the County Morgue today, a victim of lye poisoning, which she drank almost a year ago.

Her fight against death ended Saturday in Allegheny General Hospital where she had been since December 14. Pneumonia, superinduced by the poisoning, caused death, the Coroner's office reported.

Throughout her confinement in the hospital Mary improved rapidly and, although unable to eat naturally, was fed through a tube in her stomach. Her discharge near, social workers began a search for foster parents for the girl, because, they said, her own parents declared they were unable to give their daughter the proper attention.

Last week, however, pneumonia developed, and the child died.

Buys Wagner Papers For Curtis Institute

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—The Curtis Institute of Music, through its official publication, Overtones, announced yesterday its founder, Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok, had purchased the famous Burrell collection of Wagner documents, letters and biographical material.

The collection will be brought to America by Mrs. Bok.

Pittsburghers Ask $30,000 in Crash

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 19.—Three Pittsburgh attorneys, J. Benjamin Alpern, Robert Abel and Maurice A. Nernberg, each has filed suit for $10,000 damages against O. H. Shenk, local real estate dealer, as a result of an auto collision on Lincoln Highway near here July 2 last.

N. Y. RETAILER TO SPEAK HERE

P. J. Reilly, head of the Associated Merchandising Corporation and the Retail Research Association, of New York, will be the toastmaster at the banquet Thursday evening which closes the three-day conference of the Research Bureau for Retail Training of the University of Pittsburgh at the William Penn Hotel. He will be introduced by A. H. Burchfield, Jr., of the Joseph Horne Company.

Speakers at the banquet will be Paul H. Nystrom, a national authority in the field of business administration, and Dr. David R. Craig, director of the Research Bureau for Retail training.

Policeman Shoots Auto Theft Suspect

Slipping from the grasp of an East End policeman, Oliver White, 26, Negro, of 116 Mayflower street, was captured after a short chase in which the officer fired a shot at the fugitive. White, who, police say, was detected attempting to steal an automobile, was shot in the right thigh. He was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital, where his condition was said not to be serious.

26 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever 2, diphtheria 2, measles 1, whooping cough 12, mumps 1, chicken pox 4 and pneumonia 4.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Oct. 19.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

See where they convicted Al Capone on five counts—silk underwear and four others. Now comes the out on bail, new trial, change of venue, habeas corpus, stay of execution and 21 other things that the law has invented to hinder justice. This case is a great boost for Mr. Mellon and his deficit, for if bootleggers and robbers are liable for an income tax, why our Treasury will be richer than France.

TRAFFIC ESSAY CONTEST JURY NAMED

22 Industrial and Civic Leaders to Judge Work Of Young Safety Student

Twenty-two industrial and civic leaders will be judges in the fifth annual essay contest of the Better Traffic Committee, Walter Rosenbaum, education section chairman of the committee, announced today.

Nearly 75,000 school children are participating in the contest, which closes this week, Rosenbaum said.

Judges include M. J. Muldowney, chairman of the public safety committee of City Council; Jacob Dorsey, Inspector of Traffic Police; Fred A. Fichtel, president of Pittsburgh Motor Club; H. L. Mitchell, president of West Penn Power Company; Mrs. George S. Baton, president of the Woman's City Club.

J. Rogers Flannery, John S. Herron, president of City Council; Harry Bastow, president of the Allied Boards of Trade; James M. Clark, director of the Department of Public Safety; H. L. Mason, Jr., president of Automobile Club of Pittsburgh; Thomas A. Dunn, president of the Chamber of Commerce; A. K. Oliver.

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president, Carnegie Institute of Technology; Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor, University of Pittsburgh; the Rev. J. J. Callahan, president Duquesne University; Dr. Cora Helen Coolidge, president, Pennsylvania College for Women; Sister M. Regis, head, Mt. Mercy College for Women; Mayor Charles H. Kline; Arthur M. Scully, president, Allegheny County Bar Association; Oliver J. Keller, Post-Gazette; H. M. Bitner, Sun-Telegraph, and Edward T. Leech, Press.

Driver Fleeing Gas Stand Wrecks Car

A short time after he fled from a Standard gasoline station at 4819 Forbes street without paying a gas bill, according to police, Vincent Miller, 27, of 334 Beaver street, Sewickley, wrecked his machine at Forbes and Beeler streets. Miller was taken to Montefiore Hospital suffering from a probable fracture of the skull, by a taxicab driver. Miller told police he had been slugged at a gasoline service station.

THEY RESCUED CANOEIST FROM RIVER

ARTHUR BATES — MILDRED ABEL — MRS. SOPHIE GLATZ

The three Glenn Willard people who saved Lindsay Reno, 24, Leetsdale, from drowning in the Ohio when his canoe overturned and heavy clothing hampered his efforts to swim to shore.

TWO GIRLS AID RIVER RESCUE

Lindsey Reno, 24, Leetsdale, today expressed his gratitude to three strangers who rescued him yesterday after he had clung desperately to a sinking canoe in the chilly Ohio River near his home for more than half an hour.

The rescuers, Mildred Abel, 17; Mrs. Sophy Glatz, 18, and Arthur Bates, 27, all of Glenn Willard, noticed Reno clinging to the canoe overturned in the rough water. Hampered by heavy clothing, the youth was unable to right the canoe or swim to shore. Launching a leaky skiff from the beach near their home, the three paddled to the canoe, using sticks and their hands to propel the craft.

Reno was taken to the home of friends in Glenn Willard, where he was said to be well improved today, not much the worse after the prolonged exposure.

Wage Cutting Hit By Dormont Pastor

Corporations whose treasuries bulge with wealth, but cut wages and discharge men, were denounced yesterday by the Rev. Edward Bleakney, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church of Dormont.

Mr. Bleakney during his sermon read a recent published statement by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, reciting the duty of capital and labor to each other.

Myth of Moth Fear of Ashes Exploded

That belief of certain housewives that it's quite all right for the men to strew cigar or cigaret ashes on the rugs and carpets because "it's good for the moths," is just another illusion, according to the Cornell University Department of Entomology. An official communique reads:

WIFE TRADING BRINGS SLAYING

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Trading of wives led to the killing of Paul Smith, 30, by Henry Swartz, also 30, last night, Sheriff Walter Underwood said.

The Sheriff said Swartz admitted shooting Smith and told of an agreement by which the two men had exchanged their wives several months ago.

Swartz called the Sheriff and said he had shot a man trying to break into his home, Underwood said. The body of Smith was found in the backyard of Swartz's home.

DR. KERR URGES FAITH THROUGH HARD TIMES

Clergyman Ascribes Trouble Of Times to Statesmen's Failure in Peace Making

An appeal for faith in America through the era of business depression was sounded yesterday by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, of the Shady Side Presbyterian Church, Amberson avenue and Westminster place. He said in part:

"We must see what Jeremiah saw, and that is God's hand in his nation's affairs. We must put God into politics. The politician and the statesman have forgotten to put God into politics. Our distress today goes back not so much to the war as to the failure resulting from the peace."

FIRE CHIEF'S KIN SAVED IN BLAZE

Overcome by smoke while fighting a fire which partly destroyed the home of Theodore J. Grohs, 212 Hickman street, Bridgeville, early yesterday, John Bennett, 24, a Bridgeville volunteer fireman and brother of Fire Chief William Bennett, was carried from the burning building by fellow firemen.

Damage to the one-story frame dwelling amounted to $3,000, and damage to the furniture to $1,000, according to Chief Bennett, who stated the fire started in the dining room cupboard. Mr. and Mrs. Grohs and their 4-year-old son were away at the time.

CITY CUTS TIME FOR 350

Beginning today, approximately 350 employes of the city Public Works Department will work only every other week for the remainder of this year, Charles M. Reppert, chief engineer announced in the absence of Director E. G. Lapp.

Most of the employes are laborers in the highways and sewers and water bureaus, although some of the office workers and a few engineers also are affected.

The step is the first move to conserve depleted funds of the public works department. Letters have been sent to 500 more advising them of contemplated reduction in work time. Few if any will be laid off Reppert said.

CLEAR ROOMS FOR ASSEMBLY

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—Committee rooms were being made ready today for the special session of the Legislature that Gov. Pinchot has announced for November 9. These rooms, between regular sessions of the General Assembly, are occupied by bureaus of the various state departments.

Workmen also started to get the House and Senate chambers in order for the session. In addition, the rooms of the sergeant-at-arms were being cleaned for the influx of bills at the extra session. Copies of the bills introduced at the regular session this year are being taken out and sold for waste paper.

The extra session, the Governor has announced, will be convened solely for the consideration of unemployment relief legislation. The official proclamation will be issued within a short time.

Chaplain

KING'S CHAPLAIN SCORES WAR

Canon T. Guy Rogers, of Birmingham Cathedral, chaplain to the King of England, visiting the United States under the auspices of the committee on interchange of preachers and speakers between America, England and France, occupied the pulpit of Calvary Episcopal Church yesterday. He said that depression, unemployment and all strife between nations are part payment for the war of 1914-1918.

Canon Rogers spoke to members of the Hungry Club in the Fort Pitt Hotel at noon and at the University of Pittsburgh in the afternoon. Tomorrow he is to speak at the Pennsylvania College for Women.

Mother, 4 Children Found Dead of Gas

STAMFORD, Conn., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Latham Wright and her four children were found dead today in their home. They were asphyxiated during the night by fumes from a gas heater.

CHINESE PARTY HERE REVIEWS CONFLICT

Leaders Plan Rally Next Sunday; Assail Japanese Actions in Manchuria

Plans for a meeting of leaders of Chinese associations and societies in the Pittsburgh district next Sunday and issuance of a statement to acquaint the American people with conditions in Manchuria featured a meeting of the Chinese Nationalist party of Pittsburgh in their headquarters, 529 Second avenue, yesterday. Speakers were Yee Yoke Nom, secretary of the Pittsburgh association, who presided, and Gilbert G. Young. About 50 Chinese leaders from many sections of the district attended.

After reviewing conditions in Manchuria the statement issued at the close of the meeting read in part:

"For the sake of humanity and world peace, we, the members of the Pittsburgh branch of the Kuomintang, the Nationalist party of China, are earnestly and emphatically calling attention to this crisis, and we trust that the steps which the United States are taking in an effort to assist at a just settlement between China and Japan will be furthered to a peaceful and satisfactory goal."

School Bible Reading Loses in High Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—The Supreme Court today dismissed an appeal to force teaching of the Bible in the public schools of the state of Washington.

TRUCK CRASH ON APRIL 23 PROVES FATAL

McKees Rocks Man, Struck on Highway, Second Victim; Auto Plunges Down Bank

Mrs. Ella Stoup, 48, of 616 Sherman avenue, North Side, died in the Suburban General Hospital today from injuries received April 23 when struck by a truck at Federal and Robinson streets. The hospital reported to county morgue officials the truck was owned by the Excelsior Supply Company.

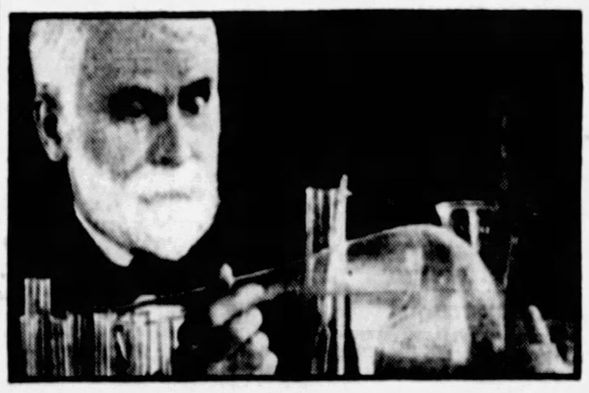
Charles Pickens, 64, of Forest road, McKees Rocks, died early today in the Ohio Valley Hospital of injuries suffered Saturday when, according to a coroner's report, he was struck in Pine Hollow road by an automobile driven by Joseph G. Gobeck, of 342 Gardner road, McKees Rocks.

Edward McCune, 38, of 7226½ Horatio street, was injured last night when the automobile in which he was riding toppled over an embankment in the William Penn highway, two miles from Wilkinsburg. He was taken to the Columbia Hospital.

Spanish Catholics To Fight New Laws

MADRID, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—The Catholic right wing party criticized the assembly for approving religious articles in the new Spanish constitution in a manifesto issued yesterday and said it would begin a campaign for repeal of the measures.

The manifesto said the articles meant dissolution of the Jesuits in Spain and virtual disbandment of all other religious orders.



FAMOUS Doctor's Way to end Constipation

DO YOUR bowels fail you occasionally? Are you a chronic sufferer from constipation and its ills? Then you will be interested to know of this method which makes the bowels help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell specialized on bowel ills. His prescription for constipation—which has been tested by 47 years' practice—can be had of any drugstore today. Its pleasant taste and the way it acts have made it the world's largest selling laxative.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," as it is called, is a skilful compound of laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other mild ingredients. Nothing in it to harm even a baby. Children like its taste. It acts gently, without griping or discomfort. So it is ideal for women or older people. The quick, certain benefits millions, of all ages, are securing from Syrup Pepsin proves a doctor knows what is best for the bowels.

Next time you feel bilious, headachy, bloated, gassy, half-sick from constipation, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and see how fine you feel the next day—and for days to come!

DR. W. B. CALDWELL'S
SYRUP PEPSIN
A Doctor's Family Laxative

Made specially for BABIES and CHILDREN

Physicians tell us that one condition is nearly always present when a child has a digestive upset, a starting cold or other little ailment. Constipation.

Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for babies and children. This means it is mild and gentle enough for their delicate organs. Yet it is always effective.

You never have to coax children to take Castoria. They like its taste! The genuine Castoria, you know, always has the name Chas. H. Fletcher on the package.

. . . take S.S.S.—a splendid Tonic for restoring the appetite and for rebuilding the red-blood-cells

"DEAR, here is good news for you."

"Let me read you a message I found in the papers today . . . then I want you to start on your first bottle which I brought home for you tonight."

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality, when lowered in count, render the body weak and deprive you of an appetite.

S.S.S. is especially valuable in aiding the system to recuperate after the specific cause of a disease has spent its force.

Its Tonic properties will help the body restore to normal a low red-blood-cell count and by so doing many ailments may be avoided—body resistance increased and conditions of a low blood count corrected.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

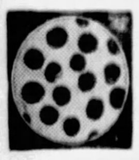
Builds Sturdy Health

Why you should be interested in your Blood Count

It is a great protection to health and physical well-being to keep the red-blood-cell count up to normal. These cells build and sustain—they also remove impurities.



(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

(Right) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.

ASTHMA CAUSE DISCOVERED

Free Booklet Mailed on Request

Indianapolis—Those who suffer from bronchial asthma and hay fever will be gratified to learn that at last science has succeeded in discovering the basic cause of these two stubborn maladies.

This discovery disproves the old theory that asthma is due solely to climatic conditions and hay fever entirely to pollen. The discovery of the real cause of these diseases has proved that these are merely aggravating factors and that the basic cause lies in the individual himself.

Fortunately for all who suffer from these diseases a way has also been found to overcome this basic cause in the individual instead of merely treating the surface symptoms, as has been done in the past.

For full information write for important booklet on the discovery of the cause of bronchial asthma and hay fever. It will be sent free to readers of this newspaper who will write to Department 7779, Pugate Company, 126 S. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind.

ALIEN EXPERTS TO INSPECT MILLS HERE

Forty-five Latin Americans, government officials, industrialists and other business men, were to arrive in Pittsburgh today to spend two days as the guests of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Senor Almenara

Among them are Juan Mendoaz Almenara, Peru minister of foreign affairs; Lieut. Col. Ricardo Miro, of Argentina, detailed by his government to study industrial plants in the United States; Aldredo Becerril Colin, of the Mexican National Highway Commission, and J. Arturo Argueda, of the Bolivian Association of Mining Industries.

Senor Miro.

The Latin-American delegation was to arrive from Philadelphia early today and go directly to the East Pittsburgh plant of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. Following a luncheon, the party will inspect the plant and then go to the Hotel Schenley, its Pittsburgh headquarters.

Tomorrow the delegates will inspect the Woodlawn plant of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, the Heinz plant, the Cathedral of Learning and the Bureau of Mines.

After a banquet in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association at 6 p. m. tomorrow, the delegation will view the International Art Exhibit at Carnegie Institute.

Early Wednesday the party will leave for Akron, O., to view the Army dirigible Akron, and to visit the rubber plants there.

Bentleyville Family Flees Blazing Home

Fire, believed to have been caused by a live coal which rolled from a stove onto a rug, destroyed the home of Ignatz Lubdinsky, 45, Bentleyville mine operator, in Russian Hill, Bentleyville, early today. Eight children, ranging from 3 to 16, escaped unaided.

Loss was estimated at $2,500 by Fire Chief K. V. Thompson, of the Bentleyville volunteer fire department.

Man Fined, 11 Freed In Downtown Raid

Charged with keeping a disorderly house, Joseph Ramuchack, 3 Cherry way, was sentenced to pay $100 or serve 30 days in jail, in Central Police Court today. Ten visitors were discharged. The raid was made on complaint of George Ovanen, "city," who said he had been beaten by Ramuchack.

BABY FLORENCE, 13 MONTHS, DROPPING A FLOWER ON HER YOUNG MOTHER'S GRAVE AS FATHER (LEFT) COLLAPSED

Last tributes in Homewood Cemetery from Pittsburgh Chinese for the suicide bride of Yee Fong, 50, today sentenced in United States Court to two years' imprisonment for narcotic law violation. He had feared jail-separation from his baby.

MOTHER'S PLEA JAILS SON

George Ford's mother today asked Magistrate Ray E. Schneider, in North Side Police Court, to "send him away for six months." Ford interrupted:

The magistrate replied:

"That's fine! We'll let you try 30 days there and if you come back here again you get the six months."

Ford, 42, 904 Mystic way, police said, has been arrested at least 200 times. His last appearance in Police Court was a few weeks ago when he stopped the North Side Station's new patrol wagon and insisted on being arrested so he could ride in "the only one in town I haven't been in." He got the ride.

He was arrested last night in his home when his mother told police he had been abusing her while drunk.

Ill Man Ends Life By Leap Out Window

Shortly after he leaped from a second story window in his home yesterday in an attempt to end his life, Anthony Modali, 68, of Renton, died in the Mercy Hospital, according to a coroner's report. His sons said he was in ill health.

Birth Control Body To Meet Nov. 2

A public meeting of the Birth Control League scheduled for November 2 in Kaufmann's dining room is to be addressed by Percy L. Clark, Jr., former Cornell University teacher and now a medical student in Chicago University.

CHOICE BOOKS EXHIBITED HERE

By PENELOPE REDD

An exhibition of rare books chosen principally because of their interest to Pittsburgh collectors is now on view at Kaufmann's.

Penelope Redd

There are about 1,000 titles running well into 5,000 volumes, many of which include engravings and color prints.

One finds entertaining prints such as the engravings in a volume of Cook's "Voyages." Stilted forerunners of the later artistic furor over the South Seas which was caused by Gaugin, these "primitives" have an agreeable air of detachment not found in the serious moderns.

The examples of fore-edge paintings on books are pleasant pictorial by-products. Instead of the usual burnished gilt on the front edge of the book, paintings are applied. Charles II, of England, had this decorative device first employed in a set of the writing of Charles I. Edwards, of Halifax, developed it later.

Two other volumes have double fore-edge paintings. One is "Lion House at Brentford" and the "Admiralty Hall at Whitehall." The other volume shows "Greenwich Hospital" and "The River Thames at Blackfriars." The paintings are in nowise associated with the volumes on which they appear. In style, the artist Hollar is suggested by these paintings.

Five or six of Dickens' novels in original papers with illustrations by Phiz are shown. Among the earlier books are Purchas' Pilgrimage, published in 1617, and the third edition of Dr. Johnson's Dictionary, published in 1765.

Lusty Cries Save 2 'Shipwrecked' In River

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 19.—Two Elco residents escaped drowning because they both had two strong lungs.

John Reshert, 29, and Mike Apollo, 29, started across the Monongahela River through a dense fog. A steamboat, bound downstream with a load of coal, struck their frail craft and toppled it over. Reshert, unable to swim, was assisted by Apollo. Heavy clothing made it impossible for them to swim to shore, and both yelled for help so lustily that residents of Elco finally put out in boats and found them. They had clung to the sides of the overturned skiff and were soon revived.

Driver Leaves Card With Car in Window

Leaving his calling card in his automobile, Nick Nesserloss, of 225 Wylie avenue, left the machine early today after it had ploughed through the window of the Doris Beauty Shop at 2 Stratmore avenue. Nesserloss is believed to have lost control of the machine as he turned into Stratmore avenue off Crafton boulevard.

7 ROBBERIES REPORTED

Forcing open a rear door, robbers ransacked desks in the offices of Black-Kiedaisch Co., wall paper dealers, 242 First avenue. A thief who entered Dimling's candy store, Stanwix street, by climbing over a transom, stole several boxes of candy.

From the United States Recruiting Office, fourth floor, 405 Fourth avenue, four civilian suits of recruiting officers were taken.

The combination was knocked from a safe in the I. W. Danforth Company office, 434 Melwood street. Twenty-five dollars and $200 worth of jewelry was stolen from the apartment of Mrs. R. Smoke, 320 McKee place and $75 was stolen from the living apartments of Yee Wee Lye, in the rear of his laundry 5930 Margaretta street.

Morris Coen, 90 Logan street, reported two Negroes held him up near his home early today and took $106.

Showcase Looted Of Gloves, Purses

Ladies' gloves and purses, valued at $69 were stolen early today when thieves forced a showcase of Mendell's women's apparel store, 600 Liberty avenue.

Frank Bass, of 8 Dawson street, was robbed of $80 and his watch early yesterday by thieves who leaped on his automobile at Center avenue and Melwood streets, according to a police report. They escaped in Bass' machine.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—For the past few years the casual listener has been entertained with the highly diverting spectacle of the various broadcasting companies falling over each other's heels in an effort to lure the newest front-page celebrity to their microphones.

Compared to radio's race for the boys—and girls—of the headline, the gold rush of '49 was nothing but a Morris dance. And the race is with us every day.

It must long ago have become painfully apparent to the radio mandarins that for the most part the celebrities had little or nothing to say and that the receptions at City Hall have become as routine as a getting-up exercise. Yet, the frenzied competition continues. The heigh-hos must be captured for the nation.

* * *

Taking their cue from the juvenile game of "Authors," the broadcasting companies have invented a little pastime of their own called "Heroes." WOR gleefully shouts, "I have a Gandhi." NBC counters with a Post and Gatty, and Columbia exhibits an Aga Khan. The public, it is frequently suspected, exhibits a long, deep yawn and swiftly turns the dial.

* * *

Before this business of becoming a hero resolved itself down to a mechanical problem of how long a gasoline motor would run on a given amount of fuel and our celebrities were as rare as a bond-buying day in June, there may have been some excuse for the scramble of the broadcasters to do homage.

Now, however, with heroes descending upon us like the pollen of the ragweed it is time some common sense was shown.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

Darrell V. Martin

A TRIBUTE TO Virginia, written by Bruce Barton, will be read by Charles Webster, radio actor, as a highlight of the new "Parade of the States" series on WCAE at 9:30 tonight. the program replaces "Family Party." John Powell, native Virginian, will play his own "Negro Rhapsody." . . . Erno Rapee's Orchestra and a large male chorus will present "An Indian Wedding Festival" with "The Legend of Pocahontas" as one of the chief sections. . . . The Dominoes on KDKA at 9:30 have excited much comment lately . . . their arrangements are particularly enjoyable and we think you will like the way they play "Star Dust" and "Beautiful Blue Danube" tonight. . . . Kate Smith, WJAS at 8:30, will harmonize a composition written by her accompanist, Jack Miller. . . . it is entitled "When the Stars Come Peepin' Through."

* * *

Television will be broadcast from individual stations before it is put on the network, C. W. Horn, engineering counsel for NBC, advises us . . . he sees the fall of 1932 as the day of practical television.

* * *

Will you please explain the requisites in this diction medal business? Is the competition limited to the networks?—Muriel M., New Castle.

Answer—Five points are considered in determining the winner. They are voice and enunciation, freedom from vocal peculiarities, personality and culture, pronunciation and general cultural effect. Each point scores 20. While the two winners, Milton J. Cross and Alwyn Bach, have been network announcers, the field of selection is not limited to CBS and NBC. This year's winner, expected to be David Ross or Frank Knight, will be announced Thursday, November 5.

Studio Lights:

Mildred Bailey, Paul Whiteman's "blues" crooner, has been signed exclusively by NBC for stage and radio appearances.

COMING: Noble Sissle's Orchestra on CBS . . . Ted Lewis' Band on WHK, Cleveland, from 3:30 to 4, Monday, November 9 . . . stage engagement. . . .

Floyd Gibbons plans to speak to the United States from the Eiffel Tower in Paris when he goes Europing this winter. . . .

Will Rogers was the spice of the Unemployment Program yesterday . . . we laughed raucously at his explanation of how he finally induced to appear on the air with his team mate, Hoover . . . and his point blank warning that these other teams like Amos 'n' Andy and Gene and Glenn had better look to their laurels . . . Will's subtle, effervescent humor is worth $6,000 a broadcast. . .

Rudy Vallee has Irene Bordoni as his guest Thursday over WCAE.

We think "Behind the Kitchen Door" would add appeal and at least stave off monotony, by injecting occasionally many of the joys which find their way into the average home . . .

Letters received by this column indicate that the Galbraith Sisters (WJAS) are clicking better than ever . . .

"Jolly Bill" Steinke, the John Bunny of radio, having exhausted his repertoire of menageries sounds for "Jane," is now going in for real folks . . . Bill is having the time of his life imitating Rudy Vallee, B. A. Rolfe and Eddie Cantor, pursued by lions, tigers and the king's horses.

Jack Miller, CBS's latest singing "find," is Kate Smith's pianist and arranger . . . his father is a big stock and bond man . . . Jack started life as a racing driver . . .

Virginia Gardiner, of "Death Valley Days" and "Empire Builders," says she has taken so many parts this year that she can no longer talk in her natural voice . . . one week she is a woman 60 years old and the next week a school child of 6 . . . she has played Spanish and French and Vermont and Paiute.

Are they as good as when the ruffles came down to the ankles?

GOOD?... You bet they are! Maybe the girls are even better. Anyhow, cigarettes are a whole lot better. No doubt about that.

They used to be made by hand—
Now it's machines; no hand but yours ever touches them.

They used to be packed in expensive, highfalutin' cardboard boxes—
Now the quality is in the cigarettes.

The U. S. Revenue Tax used to be a penny a package of twenty—
Now it's six cents a package of twenty.

Tobacco used to be dried by air—
Now Liggett & Myers alone has thirty-five drying machines of the latest type, with a daily capacity of over 2,000,000 pounds—and over four miles of warehouses for tobacco storage.

BETTER—they're miles better! Everything used in the manufacture of Chesterfield cigarettes is the best that money can buy or that Science knows about.

CHESTERFIELD TOBACCOS—both Turkish and Domestic—are mild and ripe, the best that money can buy.

AND THE WAY Chesterfield tobaccos are blended and cross-blended is like making a new and better-tasting kind of tobacco, with greater smoothness, more mildness and a more pleasing aroma—a fragrance and flavor not to be found in any other cigarette.

CHESTERFIELD gives you the benefit of all the world knows about the production of better cigarettes. Nobody smokes a better cigarette than Chesterfield.

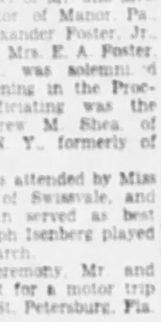
The Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association opened its series of major artist concerts at the Kaufmann Auditorium last night with a song recital by Editha Fleischer, Metropolitan Opera soprano. A most encouraging audience attended, but it hardly got the singer's stride until she had sung half of her program.



Mr. Lissfelt

The singer seemed somewhat fatigued at the beginning of the concert, what with some lack of freedom in breathing and mouthing of diction, but there is no denying the bright quality of her voice and the excellence of her music training. Her good taste, too, was manifested in her choice of program, although undue haste marred several of her loveliest songs.

It is a long time since we have heard the Haydn Air from the "Creation," representative of a style we are fast forgetting. I missed somewhat the eerie quality in both "Sandmann" and "Nussbaum," but "Widmung" had a grand sweep. Of the three Schubert songs, and the "Froelle," given as encore, "Der Musensohn" was best though faster than comfortable. Both French songs were delightful; the Brahms and Strauss had uplifting moments. Two operatic numbers, the "Boccaccio" waltz, and Musetta's waltz from "La Boheme," gave Miss Fleischer her best opportunities.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Confederacy Daughters Hear Talk on Fascism

Asking her hearers to discard their pet prejudices against Europe for the time being, Miss Marie Klooz gave a most entertaining and interesting talk on fascism before the Pittsburgh Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, on Saturday afternoon. Fascism had been defined to Miss Klooz by an Italian woman as "work and discipline for the masses, a rule of the mass by a picked few; a strengthening of capitalism and a turning from the false ideals of democracy." Miss Klooz quoted this same woman as saying the troubles that have arisen today come from a lack of self-discipline, by too much freedom for all.

A visitor to Italy senses the tension of the nation that is in a permanent state of war, Miss Klooz said, as she went on to discuss conditions as the church and state influence them.

Former Pittsburgh Girl Marries Morgantown Man

Thomas McCaffrey, of Warren, O., formerly of Squirrel Hill, announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Amy McCaffrey, to Walter Howard Vickers, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Vickers, of Morgantown, W. Va., which was solemnized August 8, in the rectory of St. Paul's Cathedral, Pittsburgh, with the Rev. J. S. Garahan, officiating.

Mrs. Paul Eichenlaub, of Pittsburgh, was the matron of honor, and Dr. Chester Beall, also of Pittsburgh, served as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Vickers will be at home after tomorrow in College avenue, Morgantown. The bride attended Seton Hill and the bridegroom is a graduate of the University of West Virginia Law School, class of 1928.

Five President Days Listed For Week

The State Federation convention last week caused a slight cessation in presidents' days, but this week finds several on the club calendar. The round begins today with the reception which the Monday Club of Carnegie is giving for its new executive head, Mrs. Charles Barnum, in Mrs. Clarence B. Nixon's home, Washington avenue. The program includes Cadman and Nevin music by Mrs. W. W. Andrews and numbers by the club quartet, greetings from the visiting presidents and a paper on "The Character of the Indian," by Mrs. T. J. George.

Regent Square's reception for its president is to take place tomorrow in Mrs. A. W. Bass's home, Milton avenue, with Mrs. R. M. Van Orsdell, Mrs. O. S. Skipp, Mrs. H. C. Hutchison, Mrs. R. L. McDonald and Mrs. D. E. Lloyd assisting. Mrs. David Cooper, director, will present the program.

Honoring Mrs. William Penn Baum, who is beginning her second year in the executive chair, the Wednesday Current Events Class will have a reception at the Longue Vue Country Club on Wednesday. The entertainment features will be readings by Miss Mary Jane Paul and piano numbers by Miss Georgia Orwig. Hostesses are Mrs. Raymond Willey and Mrs. J. G. Klingimsmith.

Piano Numbers

Miss Orwig will give the entire program tomorrow afternoon at the Tuesday Musical Club's reception for its new president, Mrs. Elmer W. Flaccus, and the board of governors.

The Forum is substituting a guest day for the customary president's day and the members will entertain their friends at Congress House on Wednesday. Florence Fisher Parry will speak and Letha Frazier Rankin will sing with Marion Deuel McDade accompanying.

A change in the place for its president's reception has been made by the Squirrel Hill Community Club, members of which will honor their new president, Mrs. Norval R. Daugherty, at the Morrowfield Hotel on Friday. Mrs. L. E. Rohrer is receiving responses.

* * *

Miss Edith Woolridge, of Ross avenue, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Wilkinsburg Woman's Civic Club, will be hostess on Thursday at a benefit bridge, the proceeds of which will be used for the club's philanthropic work. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell, Mrs. William Johnston, Jr., Mrs. E. Norman Lipp, Mrs. L. B. Carroll, Mrs. F. S. Hastings, Mrs. J. H. Diamond, Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Mrs. L. R. The initial meeting of the Rotary Anns of Pittsburgh will take place on Wednesday in the Fort Pitt Hotel. Joint chairmen for the day are Mrs. Leo G. Altmayer and Mrs. Carl S. Coler.

At this first luncheon of the season, the features will be music, a talk on "The International Mind" by the Rev. Edward Bleakney, cards and a book shower for the Western Penitentiary.

* * *

A card party will be given by Fort Pitt Chapter, No. 130, Order of the Eastern Star, tomorrow evening at Moose Temple, after a short business meeting. Mrs. Leah Farnsworth is chairman.

* * *

Mrs. James Moorehead is the eleventh president of the Woman's Community Club of Zelienople, which has just sent out its new year book. On Mrs. Moorehead's staff are the vice presidents, Mrs. L. L. Wilson and Mrs. H. C. Yockey; recording, assistant and corresponding secretaries, Mrs. Harvey Harper, Mrs. Lesier Weigel and Mrs. Ida Martin, and the treasurer, Mrs. Jacob Flinner.

A meeting slated for Wednesday will be held in the public library and the program will include a book review by Mrs. H. B. Beighley and an address by G. A. McCormick.

Mrs. Moorehead will report the state convention at the November meeting and subsequently there will be the Christmas program and tea, a mother and daughter banquet, a Martha Washington tea party, a Pennsylvania day and the annual luncheon.

* * *

The October meeting of New Century Club Junior Auxiliary, scheduled for tomorrow night in the clubhouse, will be preceded with a benefit dinner from 5 to 7:30 o'clock. The program for the evening meeting will include current topics discussion by Mrs. L. L. Bartlett; soprano solos by Mrs. Stanley Robinson; a review of motion pictures by Mrs. N. L. Davis; a book review by Miss Esther Miller, and an address, "Marriage Customs in China," by Mrs. Frank Karcher, assisted by Dr. Yak-yi Leung, a young Chinese physician.

Century Affairs

The drama department's benefit play to be given in the clubhouse Thursday and Friday nights, will present A. A. Milne's "The Dover Road." The cast includes Howard R. Eulenstein, Mrs. C. G. Moore, Frederick G. Cleriluc, Mrs. E. L. Lawrence, W. A. Crichley, C. W. Van Essen, Mrs. W. L. Sheppard and Mrs. J. W. King, Jr.

Miss Hazel Knight, child psychologist of the Carnegie Tech faculty, will conduct the course in which some of the topics to be discussed are feeding, elimination and allied problems, sex education, recreation, play materials, preventive medical care.

* * *

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Gibson, Allegheny County president, will report the state convention at a meeting of the Oakland Women's Christian Temperance Union tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Gertrude Lloyd, recording secretary, is the leader.

Miss Louise D. Wagoner Weds Hugh R. Brankston

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Wagoner, of McNeilly avenue, Dormont, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Louise D. Wagoner, to Hugh R. Brankston, of Crafton, which was solemnized in Ferner Hall, Somerset, Pa., on Saturday evening at 5 o'clock. The bride wore a gown of white transparent velvet and chenille, and carried red roses. Miss Dorothy C. Gates, as maid of honor, wore wine colored transparent velvet and carried bronze chrysanthemums, and Miss Helen M. Brooks, as bridesmaid, wore deep blue velvet and carried gold colored chrysanthemums. George M. Ullom, of Dormont, served as best man. The bride's mother wore red velvet and a corsage of sweetpeas, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Dora Wagoner, of Keyser, W. Va., was among the guests. The Rev. Dr. I. Hess Wagoner, of Trinity Lutheran Church, Somerset, officiated before an improvised alter of ferns, palms and chrysanthemums.

After November 1, when they return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Brankston will reside in Dormont.

Store Sells 67 Cars of Potatoes

Sixty-seven carloads of potatoes, more than 27,000 sacks, were sold in 10 days by McCann & Co., W. P. Fraser, president, announced, stating he believed this was a record for Pittsburgh. Three years ago the same firm sold five carloads of strawberries in January.

CHURCH HOLDS DEDICATION

Dedication services for the new $100,000 All Saints' Episcopal Church, McClure and Davis avenues, North Side, were held yesterday afternoon with special ceremonies. The Rt. Rev. Alexander Mann, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Pittsburgh, officiated at the services, assisted by the Rev. Walter J. Marshfield, the rector, and visiting clergymen.

About 500 attended the exercises. The church is of English gothic design and was begun last November. Most of the ground on which the church was erected was donated by David B. Oliver, senior warden.

X-Ray Hunts Jewel Monkey Swallowed

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Possibly Joe Mondi, a performing monkey, should have been in a safety deposit vault last night.

But he wasn't. Instead he was in a hospital, where X-ray specialists sought to determine where he was hiding a $4,500 diamond ring he swallowed the other night. The ring belongs to Edward S. King, an attorney. It was swallowed after Joe borrowed it from him while performing in a cafe.

NEW AUTUMN COATS DONE IN THE BEST PARIS MANNER

Sketched in Paris

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—Just now we are all wrapped up in coats as every house is showing its version of what the well-dressed woman ought to wear this autumn. And the new coats, almost without exception, are simply grand without being too grand and overdone.

* * *

RICHNESS in the form of fabric, line, fur and detail has been used with restraint, as all wealth should. Wonders have been done with fur and so supple are some skins that they are worked with the neatness of cloth. Soft woolens in various weaves are smartly combined with fur and there is a marked revival of broadcloth in a plain weave.

* * *

THE ALL-BLACK coat is a uniform here, but it is by no means uniform, as even a passing glance at the sketches we constantly send should show you. It is surprising how much variety can be achieved with black material and black fur and how different coats are each season.

* * *

TODAY WE PRESENT a sketch of a coat done in the best Paris manner. The model is one of Maggy Rouff's smartest achievements in the coat line. It is in soft black woolen with a crepey surface. The raglan shoulder fits snugly and then flares into a wide cuff trimmed with astrakan outlined in white galyak. A scarf in one piece with the front of the coat constitutes the collar and may be worn either open or closed. The one-sided belt is of black leather with a silver buckle. The flaring coat is closed with two buttons.

RETENTION OF WALTER WELL EARNED

THE RECENT ACTION of the Washington baseball club in signing Walter Johnson to continue as manager in 1932 was all the more gratifying to Johnson's many friends around both major circuits because there had been rumors that the popular veteran was to be dropped. The reports were based on stories of a lack of harmony on the club, together with the slump during the closing days of the season which resulted in the Senators being beaten out by the Yankees for second place.

Walter Johnson

The several spats that occurred in the Senatorial ranks during the year were only of the kind to be expected in any group of high-strung players who are disappointed at their failure to win as often as they had hoped. And as for any lack of discipline, Johnson showed by the prompt and firm manner in which he dealt with Sam Jones in one instance and with Fred Marberry on two other occasions that he will not tolerate insubordination or violation of the club rules.

JOHNSON WAS THE first of the old managers whose contracts expired this fall to be reappointed for the season to come, and in the opinion of fandom at large no pilot in the big show was more deserving of being kept in the saddle. His three-year record at Washington surely warranted his retention on the job.

In his first season, 1929, the former great pitcher finished fifth with 71 games won and 81 lost, but in 1930 he lifted the Senators to second place with 94 victories and 60 defeats, and this year, though he was nosed out for the runner-up berth, he made the creditable showing of 92 wins against 62 reverses. That makes 257 won and 203 lost in three years for a grand percentage of .559. Winning ball, beyond dispute.

AS A MATTER of fact, Johnson might have won a couple of pennants in ordinary baseball times; Ninety victories often suffice to nail a flag, and old Barney twice passed that mark. It was simply his misfortune that a super-great club like the A's, good for more than 100 wins in a year, happened to be in existence and in the same league in the same period.

All in all, Johnson did everything that could have been expected, and his reappointment meets with approval everywhere. There is no manager in baseball who has more well-wishers outside his own city.

THE FACT THAT the Western Reserve affair was soft enough to give all of Pitt's gridders a good rest before the battle with Notre Dame at South Bend next Saturday, which will be just about the biggest game in the country that afternoon, may look helpful from one angle, but there looms the danger that the Panthers may have too much of that sort of going this fall for their own good. Notre Dame has had the hardening benefits of at least one tough game, that against Northwestern, and it is questionable if the locals will be as well prepared. The four romps that Pitt has enjoyed against such opponents as Miami, Iowa, West Virginia and Western Reserve can hardly be called the right kind of preparation for the sort of tussle the Sutherlands will be up against this week end. The Panthers look good enough to have a chance against Notre Dame, but that chance would be considerably better if they had played one or two hard games in advance. They might now be better prepared for the strenuous going they are certain to experience when they grapple with the Irish.

Jock Sutherland

ANOTHER MATTER THAT will call for Coach Jock Sutherland's cleverest handling this week is that of keeping his players from laying too much mental stress on the reputation of their opponent. Thinking only of the past and figuring that the job they are about to tackle is an almost impossible one would have the Panthers licked even before the start.

Possibly Hunk Anderson was working for a psychological effect and trying to shake Pitt confidence in rolling up 63 points against Drake Saturday. It has not been Notre Dame's custom to strive for big scores. Saturday's mark was the highest reached by the Irish since they beat Lombard 69 to 0 in 1925. Anderson may have been working on Pitt fears. It will help a lot Saturday if the Panthers can forget the name of the team they are playing.

A LONG CHAIN OF unusual scoring was interrupted when Dickinson defeated Penn State 10 to 6 in the seventeenth game of one of the oldest rivalries in football, a series dating back to 1888, the second year State had a gridiron team.

Shutouts had been the order through 15 straight contests. Two games were played in 1888. The first resulted in a scoreless tie, and then followed a most unusual set of scores, with State winning 11 games and Dickinson four, every time by a shutout.

THE SECOND GAME in 1888 was won by Dickinson, 16 to 0. In 1891 the game was forfeited to State, and in 1892 State won, 16 to 0. Dickinson was victorious in 1897, 1900 and 1903, each time by a shutout, while State won every game up to 1907, also by a shutout each time. The 1907 meeting was the last prior to that of Saturday, so that this was the first time the beaten team scored since the opening clash 43 years ago. The fact that this year's game was played on Dads' Day led to the breaking of another streak, as State had not lost a Dads' Day engagement for a number of years.

Coach Tom Keady, like Karl Davis, has a fine reputation as a builder. He coached at Lehigh for a long time, and among his achievements there were two victories over Lafayette. Manager Davis reports interest running high in the W. & J. game, set for November 21, and says the event will be a stellar attraction in Cleveland.

IT WOULD APPEAR that football coaches ought to give more attention to developing kickers able to make that extra point after touchdown. The importance of this point, and the unusual all-around weakness in that connection this year, was in evidence again Saturday.

Failure to make the point cost the Army the game with Harvard, 14 to 13; making one out of two, whereas Western Maryland missed twice, won for W. & J., 13 to 12; a failure on one side enabled Ursinus to beat Franklin and Marshall, 7 to 6, and double failures caused the Fordham-Holy Cross and Maryland-Virginia Poly games to end in 6-to-6 ties.

Barry Wood

SPEAKING OF THE point after touchdown, Barry Wood, Harvard's sensational quarterback, taught them all a lesson in quick thinking. Unable to try a drop kick for the extra point after Harvard's first touchdown when he fumbled a low pass, Wood used his noodle, dodged the Army tacklers who had broken through, and ran around Harvard's left end for the point. The play won the game. Wood, by the way, was pretty much the whole show. He was even more brilliant than last year. It's rather early to talk about all-American selections, but right now Wood appears to be in a class of his own among the quarterbacks.

BUSH HOLDS PLACE AMONG INDIVIDUALS

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Davis and Elkins College, of Elkins, W. Va., has taken a wide lead over the field in the race for football team scoring honors in the East.

Victorious in five straight games, the West Virginians have piled up 232 points and permitted no opposition scoring. Second with 180 points is New York University. Syracuse holds third place with 176, Columbia fourth with 168 and Cornell fifth with 165.

Defensively, Davis and Elkins, Pittsburgh and Colgate are the leaders, all with perfect records in that phase of the game. Hobart, on the other hand, has permitted its opponents the staggering total of 198 points. The list of unbeaten and untied elevens has dwindled to 17.

BUSH INCREASES LEAD

Louis Bush, the 145-pound sophomore from Massachusetts State, increased his lead in the scoring competition among eastern football stars by carrying the ball across for four touchdowns against Norwich and adding the extra point three times.

These 27 points gave him a total of 83 for four games and an 11-point margin over his nearest rival, Winters, of Davis and Elkins. Moran, of Syracuse, took third place on the list with 60 points, followed by Grossman, of Rutgers, with 55, and Hewitt, of Columbia with 53. The records follow:

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF LAST SATURDAY: THE CENTER OF POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES—During the past century, the population of the entire United States has constantly shifted westward from the Atlantic seaboard. After the Census Bureau completed taking the 1930 census of the country, the center of population was found to be near Linton, Ind. According to Prof. W. A. Cogshall, Indiana University astronomer, the exact center was found to be in a series of mud hills, on a strip of coal mine land owned by the Binkley Coal Company, northeast of Linton.

ARMY, PURDUE DEFEATS MARK GRID GAMES

By JESS CARVER

The mighty of collegiate football, or three or four that previous to Saturday laughingly were classed among the mighty, took it slam-bang on the chin in the week-end's tussles, and today there are some nice new hides hanging out to dry.

All Army, Purdue, Florida, Vanderbilt, Michigan, Chicago, Kansas, Oregon, Temple, Fordham, Dartmouth and Princeton got out of the games of Friday night and Saturday were headaches. On the other mitt, a lot of cheering is going on today at Harvard, Wisconsin, Columbia, Bucknell, Cornell, Tulane, Syracuse, Holy Cross and Southern California, and for good reason.

OOPS ! ARMY

Both Tech and Pitt suffered tough breaks, although Pitt won and Tech did not play. Harvard took the Army and knocked the last remaining unbeaten and untied team on the Pitt schedule out, and Wisconsin ruined Purdue, very unexpectedly, leaving the Tartans with just one unbeaten and tied foe left, New York U. On Pitt's card, Notre Dame has been held even, and Nebraska, Penn State, Carnegie Tech have been whipped. There are the Panthers, seeking national recognition (which they'll get anyway if they take Notre Dame this week) and all their opponents go out and take powders.

Jock Sutherland was not satisfied with the play of his second stringers against Western Reserve Saturday, even though the boys did win, hands down. On the defense, everything was jake, but the line lacked smoothness and co-ordination on the attack. This second team of Pitt's may mean the difference between victory and defeat against the Irish, but it will have to show vast improvement over the form displayed against Reserve.

Johnny Luch, Mike Sebastain, Rocco Cutri and the two big tackles, Johnny Meredith and Jack Love, were knee deep in the ball game all the way. Cutri's quarterback work and kicking was encouraging, and I liked the way little Howdy O'Dell went when he got it there. For a little guy, he's got a powerful drive. And I saw Cheesio Onder crack a Reserve ball toter once so hard it even shook the press box. He and Seigal make a nifty pair of defensive guards.

DUKES IMPROVED

Duquesne was a greatly improved club as it held Georgetown to a scoreless deadlock Friday night. The folks particularly were impressed with the showing made by Niccolai, who was converted from a tackle to an end in a week's time. Bud Devenney played as good a game of football as he's ever turned in. He ran the team well and returned kicks splendidly.

Georgetown did not make as much use of its fullback, Ox Bordeau, as it might have, and I think this mistake cost the Hoyas the ball game. Bordeau showed he is a line wrecker of the first water when given the opportunity, being especially formidable on weak side slams. But they didn't give him the ball enough, though the fact that he wasn't ramming them all the time brought no slight feeling of relief to the Dukes. You cap lay to that, me hearties.

What did you think of Columbia taking Dartmouth? A year ago, the Big Green had a lot of fun running over Lou Little's crippled club, but Saturday, the Lions outplayed and outfought the Green from here to there and a 19-6 score.

There is another team that Mister Little is laying for, one that trampled his eleven to death last year, and it is just possible that he'll have some more revenge before this season is over. I'll let you all do the guessing.

Greasy Neale's Mountaineers came back nobly after the rout here last week to take Wash-Lee. I spent Friday night, or part of it, with Trusty Tallman, Greasy's chief scout, and he called the turn, almost to the exact score. Smart gent, Trusty.

Wash-Jeff had to make one out

ST. VINCENT VICTOR, 7-0

BUFFALO, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—St. Vincent College, of Latrobe, Pa., handed Canisius College its third straight defeat of the season before 3,000 at Canisius Field yesterday, 7 to 0, an intercepted pass and a 60-yard run again spelling defeat for the Blue and Gold.

With the teams tied, neither having scored and neither putting up a serious threat, Manny Varela elected to pass in the third period. Johnson, speedy St. Vincent's halfback, intercepted on his own 40-yard line, and ran down the field for the touchdown. Furin kicked the extra point from placement. The lineup:

St. Vincent—7.		Canisius—0.
Carner	L. E.	Gavin
Dunlap	L. T.	McGraw
Tuda	L. G.	Hartko
Brown	C.	Myles

St. Vincent	0	0	7	0—7

WORLD BOAT MARKS FALL

SALTON SEA, Cal., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Two new world speedboat records were set yesterday before a freak storm swept the Salton Sea, great inland racing course in the Colorado desert, and cut short the first national "desert regatta."

A girl driver, Veryle Pantages, of Hollywood, Cal., sped 39.978 miles per hour to a new outboard hydroplane record.

YOUNG PRAISES COLLEGE SPIRIT

CANTON, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Owen D. Young, of President Hoover's unemployment relief committee, considers the response of colleges to the request for post-season football games for charity "bespeaks the type of morale and sportsmanship that is needed in the world and business affairs of today."

He criticized "exchange operators for their endeavors to depreciate the pound and the dollar in an effort to fill their own pockets." He said "such individuals are betraying a lamentable lack of sportsmanship."

Two alma maters of Young will take the field in Boston in a post-season night game, the date of which will be announced within a few days.

St. Lawrence University, from which Young was graduated in 1894, and Boston University, where he attended the next two years, will be the opponents, said the announcement from St. Lawrence authorities in reply to a suggestion by the editor of a Boston University publication. The proceeds of the game will be given to President Hoover's unemployment relief committee. The St. Lawrence board of trustees approved unanimously of the game.

St. Lawrence has one of the strongest gridiron teams among the smaller colleges of New York state. Its victory over Niagara University here Saturday placed the Larries in a tie with Rochester University for first place in the New York State Conference.

Switzerland Out Of 1932 Olympics

LUCERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Switzerland reached a definite decision yesterday not to send a team to the United States for the 1932 Olympic games at Los Angeles.

McMillin's Team Headed for Title

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Bo McMillin, impetus of Centre College's brief rise to football fame, is up to his old tricks as coach at Kansas State College.

Undefeated and heading the Big Six percentage column, his inspired Aggies, who carry plenty of artillery besides inspiration, are well on the upgrade out of comparative gridiron obscurity.

BONNIES BEAT ST. THOMAS

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—An alert St. Bonaventure eleven, which took advantage of every St. Thomas misplay, defeated the Purple and White, 6 to 0, in their annual engagement, before 7,000 spectators yesterday at Crystal Gaiden, Dickson City.

Laski scored in the last period when he raced around left end for nine yards after the Bonnies placed the ball in scoring position as the result of a penalty on the Tommies. The placement for the extra tally was low. In winning, St. Bonaventure scored for the first time in five years against its arch rival.

Between the halves, tribute was paid to the memory of the late Knute Rockne, Notre Dame grid wizard. The lineup:

Irish Will Beat Pitt Easily, Solem Says

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Notre Dame ought to beat Pittsburgh by a margin of from three to five touchdowns, according to Coach Ossie Solem, whose Drake Bulldogs were steamrollered, 63-0, by the Irish last Saturday.

Solem said he watched Pitt defeat Iowa two weeks ago and thought he had seen a great football team, but that in 20 years of looking 'em over he never seen a team equal to the Notre Dame elevens (Notre Dame used 57 players against Drake) of this season.

HELPING HAND PLAY BEGINS

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

A second helping hand golf event, of a week's duration, got under way today at the South Park county links. It is only an 18-hole event, but players will "work out" every day until Saturday in an effort to win several of the beautiful prizes.

This event particularly is for the benefit of children between the ages of six months and 16 years in the immediate vicinity of the South Park course.

Play is to be for mixed foursomes, which means that every player must have a partner. No special starting times are to be had; entries will be received at the course by Professional Al McBride, who also will accept the entry fee, a donation of clothing.

The Bond Club of Pittsburgh has slated a one-day tourney for the Shannopin Country Club Thursday afternoon. The Hotel, Club and Restaurant Men's Golf Association will stage an "extra" event Monday at one of the local courses, while the final big event of the present golf year, a Tri-State P. G. A. match play championship, is scheduled for the first three days of next week at Highland.

J. M. Irwin and F. W. Rockstraw won in the morning and E. G. Brandt copped in the afternoon, in sweepstakes competition yesterday, at the Edgewood Country Club. The leading scores:

Morning, first division—J. M. Irwin, 87-8—79; F. W. Rockstraw, 90-11—79; W. B. Morris, 91-11—80. Second division—E. G. Goodman, 89-22—76; S. J. Radcliffe, 93-19—76; J. I. McClelland, 90-17—78; F. L. Mu-ft, 101-24—80. Afternoon, first division—E. G. Brandt, 81-8—73; W. L. Thornhurst, 78-4—74; J. H. McCrady, Jr., 83-9—76; E. W. Harding, 82-6—76; J. S. Maer, 88-11—77. Second division—J. V. Boardman, 97-22—75; W. J. Dible, 98-17—79; S. J. Radcliffe, 95-19—76.

The Sunday sweepstakes prizes offered by Professional Jim McFarland, at the North Park county links yesterday were won by J. Francis Lally and P. J. O'Malley. Lally scored a low gross 79 and O'Malley an 80 in the blind bogey.

'FRISCO BEATEN BY ST. MARY'S

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—The only undefeated and untied major eleven on the Pacific Coast, St. Mary's, kept a brilliant record intact yesterday with a 14-to-6 victory over a hard fighting University of San Francisco team.

Forty thousand spectators saw the St. Mary's Gaels win after one of the toughest struggles so far this season. The San Francisco eleven had been pointing for the game since the season started, whereas St. Mary's already had fought two terrific battles in conquering big Coast Conference teams, Southern California and California, on successive weekends.

SCHOOLS IN UPSETS

CLAIRTON HIGH MAKES REAL TITLE BID

By JULIUS LEVIN

Upsets, continuation of winning streaks, elimination of several powerful contenders and whatnot marked the contests in Western Pennsylvania interscholastic football circles during the past week-end and as a result the field of contestants in the race for the W. P. I. A. L. championship shows a marked reduction.

Admitted to be one of the most powerful high school grid machines ever built in this section, Clairton High School, which has lost only one game in more than five years under the excellent coaching of George Woodman, clearly demonstrated its prowess at Charleroi Saturday when it handed Coach Steve Stepanian's heretofore undefeated Charleroi gridders their first setback of the season, 13-0. The victory placed Woodman's boys among the leaders in the race for the W. P. I. A. L. championship.

WORTHY OPPONENT

In stacking up against the Magic City eleven, Clairton met a worthy opponent, one that had been showing championship form from the opening game. Charleroi stopped the winning streaks of three powerful clubs before it bowed to Clairton. Scott High of North Braddock, New Castle and Fayette City all succumbed before the attack of the Magic City gridders, but Clairton proved too much for Stepanian's rugged team. The victory gave Clairton a string of four in a row. Woodman's team has beaten Hurst, Waynesburg, Scott and Charleroi.

Midland followed Clairton's advance by handing Beaver Falls a setback by the same score of 13-0. Both teams were undefeated prior to their contest, but the Midland boys displayed too much power for Heckathorne's eleven. Midland thus recorded its fifth straight victory and continued its fine record of holding all opponents scoreless. Midland has beaten Freedom, Ellwood City, New Brighton, Monaca and Beaver Falls, establishing the Crucibles as the outstanding team in the Beaver Valley. They were the first to score on Beaver Falls this season.

WASHINGTON ADVANCES

Coach Hank Day's Washington High eleven romped away with its fourth straight victory to continue in the W. P. I. A. L. fight by snowing under Duquesne, 40-0. The Little Presidents, however, do not present as difficult a schedule as Clairton, Greensburg, Wilkinsburg and Midland due to the failure of its athletic authorities to fill several open dates. As a result Hank Day's boys invariably enjoy an open date between games.

Ambridge, although tied by Monessen, remained undefeated by taking over Freedom by the lopsided score of 74-6, the losers being the first to score on Moe Rubenstein's team in 17 games.

Two major upsets marked Saturday's games. Har-Brac stopping the five-game winning streak of Ford City to eliminate that team from the championship race, while Jeannette caused a furore in the Monongahela Valley by handing the undefeated but tied, Monessen eleven a 13-0 setback. Ford City and Monessen were picked to win with points to spare.

Freeport, the sensation of the Allegheny Valley, rang up its fifth straight victory by defeating Aspinwall, while New Kensington scored its fifth in a row by defeating Kittanning on Friday. McDonald suffered its first setback of the year on Friday by bowing to Beaver, 7-0, while Monongahela continued its winning streak [illegible] city on Friday. [illegible]lan's boys have [illegible] in four games.

[illegible]RTH

McKeesport, riding along on a victory wave, added Norwin to its list of victims, 13-0, for its fourth straight triumph without allowing its opposition to score. Johnny Coleman's East Pittsburgh High, however, was not as fortunate, Jim Hudson's Braddock eleven stopping its winning streak by scoring a 6-0 victory.

As was expected, Greensburg found Hurst a tough opponent, but Earl Loucks' boys managed to come through with a 7-0 victory, their fifth of the season.

All attention in the district scholastic realm will be focused at Monongahela next Saturday when Coach McMillan's undefeated Monongahela machine attempts to check the drive of Clairton. Both teams being undefeated, the game should develop into a thrilling contest.

Wilkinsburg, idle last Saturday, will go after its fifth straight victory this week-end by engaging Tarentum, while New Kensington will have Har-Brac on its hands. Midland goes to East Liverpool, Charleroi to Donora, Bellevue to Ambridge and Connellsville to McKeesport in other important games.

Mt. Lebanon tennis stars who won the women's and men's singles titles, respectively, in the South Park tournament completed yesterday.

ACKERMAN COPS NET TITLE

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Henry Ackerman, Mt. Lebanon High School ace and 1930 holder of the Harvard Interscholastic Cup, and Mrs. Jean Artzberger, twice winner of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pittsburgh public parks feminine net crown, braved wintry winds and soggy turf to capture top honors of the first annual South Park racquet tourney in spirited wind-up contests on the county public rectangles yesterday.

Fast, clever play evoked frequent bursts of applause from the throng of more than 200 fans that lined the gallery courts till dusk as the youthful Ackerman reversed the form sheets by downing Russ Unger, rangy and hard-hitting Mt. Lebanon Tennis Club leader, 6-4, 6-4, in the man-to-man final. Mrs. Artzberger had earlier landed hairline 8-6, 6-4 decisions over Elizabeth McColligan, Castle Shannon star, to bag women's singles laurels.

MRS. ARTZMAN RALLIES

The steady sharp-shooting of Ackerman was often menaced by the speedier, flashier play of the more experienced Unger, but, with the rain-soaked clay retarding pace of the pellets, power was at less than ordinary premium and the cool, cagy youngster contrived to retain the upper hand throughout the straight-set session. Mrs. Artzberger was down at 3-5 in her initial frame with Miss McColligan, but superior fore-court work at length swayed the balance in favor of the Steel City municipal premiere.

The men's finale was Unger's third match of the afternoon. He previously had garnered torrid verdict over Tom Barrett, accomplished South Hills dark horse, 7-5, 6-3, in the bracket of eight, while in the semi-finals he had romped through his fellow townsman, Paul De John, 6-1, 6-0. Ackerman's semi-final victim was Kilkeary, of Dormont, who likewise succumbed at 6-1, 6-0. Mrs. Artzberger eliminated Margaret McColligan, sister of the runner-up, in the penultimate round. The outcome read 6-4, 6-1.

SCHEDULE CHANGED

Closing of the tournament, originally slated for last Saturday, but postponed because of bad weather, was next billed for the approaching week-end. Clear skies yesterday, however, moved Chairman C. E. Forrest to call his forces together for combat, lest the uncertain conditions of autumn should again wreck possibility of action five days hence. The summary:

MEN'S SINGLES.

Fifth round—J. Kilkeary defeated M. L. Irwin, 6-0, 6-3. W. Russell Unger defeated Tom Barrett, 7-5, 6-3.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.

Final round—Mrs. Jean Artzberger defeated Elizabeth McColligan, 8-6, 6-4.

MORGAN WINS CUP GAME

Morgan captured a national open cup soccer game at Morgan, Pa., yesterday, defeating Curry, 4 to 1, before a crowd of 5,000.

The large part of the scoring came in the first half, when the Curry team collapsed as the Morgan kickers sent home three goals.

Coming back in the second half, Curry looked like a new team [illegible] gave Morgan a real argument [illegible]ning the victory.

W. Va. Plays W. & L. Nov. 12 Next Year

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Selection of November 12 as the date for the nineteenth clash between West Virginia's Mountaineers and the Washington and Lee Generals in Charleston next fall, has been announced here by Harry A. Stansbury, West Virginia athletic director. The date is the latest chosen for the Charleston battle since athletic relations were renewed in 1920 between the two schools.

ROONEYS TOP FIGHTING E. LIVERPOOL CLUB

NORTH SIDERS KEEP PLACE AT TOP

By TOM BIRKS

With the J. P. Rooneys, West Penn grid conference champions, winning their league battle with the Homer Laughlin Club, of East Liverpool, by an 18-to-2 score, and with the McKeesport Olympics lowering the colors of the Akron Awnings, 7 to 0, fans following the fortunes of the independent gridiron saw two brilliant conquests yesterday.

A keen autumn day brought out record crowds, and the big stands at Bridgeville Speedway and Olympia Park were packed.

The well-coached club led by Andy Cutler, former Pitt star, put up a particularly great fight. Cutler's aerial attack certainly put the Rooney secondary defense in hot water many times. The Buckeyes completed seven passes, several for long gains.

ROONEY IS STAR

The Rooney steamroller only really functioned in the first quarter. Four first downs on line plays found Rooney taking the ball over, but with the Potter's charging hard and fast, the extra-point kick went wide.

Another touchdown came in the second quarter when Rooney threw a pass to Josh Williams, 20 yards, and then Hood hurled the pigskin into the waiting arms of Honey Guarino, standing on the Potter's goal line. The Potters had all the chance in the world to break down this pass, but tried to intercept the throw, and missed.

The third touchdown was recorded in the final minute. Hood crashed a pass to Guarino, and, with the ball on the one-yard line, Mose Kelsh took it over. The East Liverpool line again broke through and the kick went wide.

10 LIGHTWEIGHT TILTS

No less than 10 games were played in the lightweight conference. Christy Park blanking Pleasant Valley, 12-0; Papale defeating the Sonny Boys, 6-0; Broadway Mounts tripping the J. J. Veronas, 13-0; Westinghouse Alumni whipping Union, 20-0; Export barely beating Whitaker, 2-0; Kreiger slapping the Arrows, 16-6; Glendale setting down the Armstrong Bulldogs, 14-6; North Side Traders swamping the Oakland Panthers, 20-6; Soho Oakleafs best Twenty-third Ward, 13-7, and Allison Park nosing out Oakland Community, 3-0.

Winners in other independent sandlot grid games yesterday included the Rox Rangers, St. Rosalia Prep, Tarentum Firemen, Library Tigers, J. J. Doyles, Knapils, Tarentum Indies, Monongahela Mohawks, Ninth Warders, Rooney Reds, Hahne Bulldogs, Aliquippa Indians, Frankwood, Westlake Odds, North Side Panthers, Carrick Odds, Sycamore Reserves, McNertneys, Valley View, Point Ramblers, Twenty-seventh Warders, Versailles Crescents, Bloomfield Civics, New Idea, Millvale Amici, Corpus Christi, McChesneytown and Duquesne Orioles.

Army Loses Pair Of Star Gridders

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Army's football team probably will have to face Yale Saturday without the services of either Ray Stecker or Sebastian, varsity backs. Stecker suffered a blood clot on his right eye in the Harvard game when he collided with Elliott. Sebastian suffered a re-injury to his knee early in the game and probably will be out for the season.

THE COACH'S VIEWPOINT

By Howard Harpster

In recent years deception has become one of the very important phases of offensive football, and today almost every coach employs deception of some kind in building up the plays that go to make up his running attack.

Of course, there are many different methods of using deception, such as having one player run in front of the man who receives the ball, thus hiding the ball carrier momentarily from the defensive team, fake reverse plays, spinners, triple passes, and any number of others. The idea of all methods, however, is primarily the same, and that is to make the defense believe you are doing something that you aren't.

One of the most deceptive plays that I have ever seen and yet one which is so simple that you marvel bcause it works successfully is the old Carnegie Tech "spinner play," which Wally Steffen introduced to the Pittsburgh fans years ago.

Dyke Beede was the player who worked the play with the greatest degree of success, and in 1924 scored two touchdowns with the play in the first half against Notre Dame's famous Four Horsemen team.

The "spinner" is very simple and is worked as follows: The fullback receives the ball about two or three yards back of center and runs over and fakes giving the ball to the end, who comes running behind his own line as if he had the ball. After the end has gone, the fullback slowly completes his spin and then breaks through the line and on down the field. In faking the ball to the end, the fullback turns his back to the line, thus hiding the ball, and the idea of the play is to get the defensive players to believe that the end is actually carrying the ball, so they will chase him.

Beede, who became very proficient in successfully working the spinner at Tech, carried the play with him when he took up coaching duties at Westminster College. Here the play was a constant menace to all opponents. Then one day a most surprising thing happened.

With the score practically even, and the opponents' defense becoming more difficult to penetrate with each play, the Westminster quarterback decided he would try the "spinner." The play was called and it worked perfectly. As a matter of fact, it was executed too well, for it not only fooled the entire defensive team to the extent that each player chased the end, believing he had the ball, but, much to Beede's consternation, the officials as well were fooled.

The referee, believing the end had the ball, watched several of the defensive players tackle him and then blew his whistle, declaring the ball dead. Imagine his surprise when the end showed him the ball wasn't under the pile of players, and then imagine the shock he received when he looked up and saw the fullback jogging unmolested across the goal line at the far side of the field, with the ball tucked under his arm.

As the rules state that the ball is dead when the referee blows his whistle, there was just one course for the official to take and that was to put the ball in play at the spot where the runner was when the whistle tooted. The field judge declared this to be about the 10-yard line and thus the ball was put in scrimmage there.

MORAL: It doesn't pay to have so much deception in a play that even the officials will be fooled.

STRONG TEAMS SET DOWN

of two extra kicks for the extra point good to beat Western Maryland, 13-12. Bobby Deacle, who used to fullback for Westminster, before he transferred to Wash-Jeff, put his team in a swell spot by running a kickoff back 97 yards for a touchdown. Meanwhile, Westminster, minus a hard-driving fullback, such as Deacle, was taking a 14-0 kicking from Grove City. The United Presbyterians held the Crimson scoreless in the first half, but wilted in the second.

Maud Crum's powerful Allegheny eleven stowed Thiel away, and advanced a step nearer the Class B title. West Virginia Wesleyan, with Cliff Battles leading the parade, dumped the tough Dayton University entry. Bucknell held the vaunted Temple Owls to a scoreless tie; Bethany was taken over by Muskingum and Dickinson hammered out a 10-7 win over Penn State.

In other important tussles, Ohio State took Michigan; Yale spoiled Alonzo Stagg's celebration at Chicago; Cornell walloped the tar out of Princeton; Syracuse licked Florida; Holy Cross tied Fordham; Iowa and Indiana tied, 0-0; Illinois had a tough time beating Bradley Tech; Stanford walloped Oregon State, 25-0; Penn hammered Lehigh; Georgia trampled North Carolina; Maryland tied Kentucky, and Oklahoma A. and M. walloped the Haskell Indians, 42-0.

Southern Methodists took Rice, 21-12; California beat Washington State, 13-7; Southern California had a walkover with Oregon, 53-0; N. Y. U. drubbed Rutgers, 27-7, and Northwestern socked one over on Bill Spaulding's Southern Branch University of California team, 19-0. Mr. Spaulding gets a dozen grand a year at U. S. C. L. A. and doesn't have to win, which is better than dragging down $20,000, provided you win 'em all.

LEVINSKY MEETS SLATS

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, and Jimmy Slattery, of Buffalo, former world light-heavyweight titleholder, have been matched for a 10-round bout at Detroit's Olympia Arena, October 30. The bout will replace the contemplated Jackie Fields-Young Terry match.

BABE RUTH'S NINE LOSES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—Babe Ruth boomed out one home run and a scorching single in five times at bat yesterday to partly repay 12,000 fans who turned out at Wrigley Field in murky weather to witness the King of Swat "do his bit" for the Marion Davies Clinic for Ailing Children of Disabled War Veterans.

While the Babe Ruth All-Stars headed by the home run king himself, bowed in defeat, 9 to 4, to an aggregation of coast and major league players captained by George Burns, the game itself carried with it all the thrills of a regularly scheduled contest.

Frank Shellenback, ace spitball pitcher of the minor leagues, faced Ruth, and with the exception of the sixth inning, had runners on the bases each time the Bambino came to bat. Win Ballou, leading Angel pitcher, hurled for Ruth's team for six innings until Ruth relieved him and dished up some very flossy twirling.

Tomorrow night the second Ruth exhibition for the Marion Davies clinic is slated with a lot of new faces in both lineups.

SCHOOLS MAKE CHANGE

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 19.—School officials of Franklin and Oil City are agreed that the Thanksgiving struggle between the two football teams probably will be the last for that holiday. Hereafter, instead of two games being played each season one contest will be scheduled on Armistice Day. Such a plan will allow for more variation of the two schedules, coaches declare.

Jackie Rodgers, local Negro featherweight puncher, who hasn't appeared in the ring since he blew an upset decision to Mose Butch at Hickey Park several months ago, comes back to press his suit for the favor of the local fans in Motor Square Garden tonight.

Jackie will be pitted against a lad not yet 19 years old, little Frankie Wallace, of Cleveland, a former national junior amateur bantamweight champion, who boxed Butch three times as an amateur, twice in Boston and once in Chicago, and in his most recent start defeated Johnny Datto in a six-round bout in Cleveland.

Rodgers' experience and punch—if he still retains the latter—are expected to give him an edge over his young rival, but the latter comes highly touted as a ringman.

DUNN BOXES BAXTER

Two eight-round preliminaries and a six-rounder complete the card. Johnny Dunn, appearing in his first bout since appendicitis laid him low, battles Charley Baxter, hard-hitting North Sider, in the eight-round semi-final, and Young Rudy, of Charleroi, is in the other eight-rounder, against

Between Rounds

Lou (Kid) Wallace, of Youngstown, has been signed to box Lou Saunders, of Beaver Falls, in the eight-round semi-final in the Lou Ferrone-Eddie Branson bout at McKeesport, Thursday night. Joe Sarzonia and Charlie Slezevich are in the second number.

Benny Kuntach, manager of Buck McFarman, reports that his protege will do his future battling as a 160-pounder. He now scales close to 165 pounds following a layoff. Kuntach also has George Panka, his heavyweight, ready to mingle with any of the big fellows. George defeated Ben Ater, Clark, the giant Negro, of Philadelphia, his last time out, and Benny thinks he will do better against the behemoths than men of his own size and plans to match him accordingly.

Tay Gum, West Virginia University freshman, a winner in the pre-Olympic tournament recently held here, is going to box professional to pay his way through college, and will make his first appearance for money against Jimmy Columbo in a six-round bout at Charleston, W. Va., Thursday night. He is a welterweight.

In other bouts involving local boxers tonight, Tug Phillips meets Jackie Brady for 10 rounds at Indianapolis, and Tommy Crawley battles Ernie Rainer at Newark, N. J., while U. S. Carpentier meets Mickey Doyle for six rounds in Cleveland.

SKATING SEASON OPENS

Duquesne Garden will be opened for ice skating at 8 o'clock tonight, according to Paul Cohan, new manager of the Craig street arena. There will be no afternoon skating sessions for a few weeks, because the Chicago National League iremen are to hold practice sessions here each afternoon until November 15. The local International League Y'low Jackets are to report to Coach Charles Reid here late this week. They will meet the Hawks in exhibition games on November 7 and 15.

QUICK STARTING

You don't have to be afraid to leave your car out in the cold if BLUE SUNOCO is in the tank. This premium performing motor fuel will start up the coldest motor—quickly!

KNOCKLESS

The knockless quality of gasoline is now measured by Octane Rating—a new method used by the U. S. Government and approved by the Society of Automotive Engineers. BLUE SUNOCO is 72+. Since automotive engineers agree that an octane rating of over 70 is necessary for satisfactory knockless performance in any high compression motor, BLUE SUNOCO'S rating is more than adequate for any stock automobile.

PLUS MILEAGE

You be the judge of BLUE SUNOCO'S premium qualities. One tankful is more convincing than this entire advertisement.

Constructive Forces Gain Upper Hand.

Fear Subsides.

—By B. C. FORBES—

B. C. Forbes

CONSTRUCTIVE forces are at last overcrowding destructive forces. That the worst is over is now becoming the opinion even of our heretofore timid banking community.

NO BASIC COMMODITY broke to new low levels last week. Instead, the general price level more than held its own, with emphatic strength in both cotton and wheat before the close.

FOREIGN BONDS ended the week somewhat higher, an encouraging development. In the second half of the week stocks showed pronounced firmness. Bonds gave way only approximately notwithstanding the sudden and drastic rise in money rates.

EMPLOYMENT reports from various points in the East where recovery traditionally begins, were more cheerful. Additions to working forces and working hours were announced from a number of widely scattered communities. Colder weather, combined with attractive prices, gave a fillip to seasonal retail sales.

PROCEEDINGS at the parliament of labor, notably the voting down of unemployment insurance, had a calming influence in high places. American labor's uncompromising opposition to Sovietism and its very impressive manifestations of reasoned patriotism are interpreted as veritable bulwarks of strength.

There have even been newspaper reports that railway employes may voluntarily accept a reduction in wages, but such reports hardly appear well founded.

WASHINGTON leadership promises not to stop at inducing the nation's leading bankers to organize to protect sound institutions threatened by insane hoarding. The new banking organization is scheduled to start functioning this week. Washington's decision to accept its half billion resources, in the form of gold notes, as security for government deposits, has greatly heartened bankers.

I hear that President Hoover plans definite credit assistance to railroads faced with maturing obligations and that he has other helpful plans under favorable consideration. His successful intervention against unfair water-and-truck rates for moving cotton illustrates the President's consciousness that it is vitally important to buttress the financial strength of what is, after all, the backbone, the mainstay of this continent's transportation machinery.

He has shown active interest, too, in co-operative steps to avoid further pressure in the raw cotton markets.

Just what he proposes to do in the vastly important real estate field is not yet clear; it is well known that he hopes to achieve something worth while.

Happily, the President has at his elbow the man who so successfully guided the operations of the War Finance Corporation, Eugene Meyer, now governor of the Federal Reserve Board. Both Gov. Meyer and Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker, who enjoys the complete confidence of President Hoover, have been rendering invaluable assistance in evolving constructive measures.

The initiative already taken at Washington, and the knowledge that further steps are contemplated, have wrought a pronounced change in financial sentiment.

ARTIFICIALLY low money rates in New York having failed to produce the results hoped for, the advance in the official rediscount rate from 1½ to 2½ and now to 3½ per cent is logical and should prove beneficial. Higher interest rates on deposits throughout the country will tend to discourage hoarding; the better rental rates now obtainable by banks for "all street loans and on commercial paper will enable them to make better profits; the withdrawal of funds (in the form of gold) from New York by Europeans will be cut down, and the overdone movement by many banks to become absurdly liquid will be allayed.

In short, the whole banking situation will be buttressed.

AT THE SAME TIME interest rates have not been marked up far enough to match the current yield on investment stocks and bonds. In New York day-to-day loans command 2½ per cent; loans running from 60 days to six months are quoted at 3 per cent, bankers acceptances range from 3¼ to 3½ per cent up to ninety days, and commercial paper ranges from 3¾ to 4½ per cent.

Contrast such rates with the yields of 6 to 10 per cent available on many stocks and bonds. Such a wide disparity cannot last long.

In plainer language abnormally high yields on investments are certain to prove temporary. In still plainer language, the security markets are certain to advance as fear vanishes and confidence returns.

RECOVERY HERE SEEN AS FIRST WORLD NEED

Economic Self-Sufficiency Instead of Foreign Trade Now Urged for America

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The whispering campaign against the dollar in Paris, however unwarranted, emphasizes that perhaps America can best contribute to world economic recovery in the coming months by concentrating on putting her own house in order.

Numerous economists are now of the opinion that America must develop greater economic self sufficiency, and avoid staking it prosperity too much on international arrangements. W. B. Donham, dean of the Harvard graduate school of business administration, is writing a second book to set forth this viewpoint.

Mr. Rukeyser

As a matter of fact, both the United States and France, the new chief repositories of the world's supply of monetary gold, are more economically self sufficient than Great Britain, which used to be the world's banking center. The changing geography of gold therefore has had an upsetting effect on established monetary systems of outside countries.

If the gold standard is to be restored as the means of international payments, both the United States and France, as the chief creditor nations, will more or less have to carry water on both shoulders. That is to say, they will have to reconcile their primary interest in home markets with their opportunities as world bankers.

But at the moment, with the credit of the outside world on the ragged edge, many believe that America can best serve economic recovery by putting its own institutions in a healthy state. Of course, the newly formed National Credit Corporation is a step in the direction of adding to the liquidity of American banks, and relieving the tension and nervousness and thus discouraging hoarding. Incidentally, the two successive increases in the rediscount rate at New York are not only intended to check the disorderly foreign run on American gold, but also to enable member banks in New York to pay the public a higher rate on bank deposits and thus make the cost of hoarding more expensive to the individual. The hoarder, who is anti-social, foregoes a larger amount of bank interest than before.

In England, the hoarder of pound notes has already been punished by the sharp depreciation in the gold value of the currency.

Premier Laval will arrive in this country on Thursday to confer with President Hoover, and the meeting may well prove an historic occasion. The stock market nowadays is largely concerned with these political interferences with the course of economic events, and with the prospects of a "managed recovery."

Pacific Coast Oil Advance Expected

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—Practically all coast marketers of petroleum products and buyers of oil now are closely watching Standard Oil Company of California for some sign of its forward buying policy on crude. It is being taken in the industry as likely that an advance will be posted and it is the likelihood that the lead will be taken by Standard as the largest buyer and refiner.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Stiffen — Local List Irregular

RISE IN COPPER SHARES TURNS STOCKS UP

Advances of Point or Two Appear in Metal Issues; Steel Regains Early Loss

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP.) — The long neglected copper shares were brought out and polished up in today's stock market, presumably in anticipation of the international conference of producers expected to convene in New York this week.

Securities markets generally began the new week sluggishly, with stocks drifting a little lower for a time, as rails turned rather heavy, probably reflecting the lack of an Interstate Commerce Commission decision over the week-end on the freight rate plea. Firming of the red metal shares, however, stiffened virtually the entire list after midday.

Advances of a point or more appeared in such issues as Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Noranea, Granby, Howe Sound and United States Smelting. In the rails, losses of a point or two were registered in Santa Fe, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Union Pacific. Morning losses of a point or two in such issues as American Telephone, American Can, United States Steel, Eastman and Westinghouse were later regained.

The copper market has been a little more active during the past day or two, with some improvement in foreign buying. The domestic price still holds at 7 cents a pound, or well under the average production cost, and stocks rose to a new high level during September. It is felt in the trade, however, that even a mild restriction of production, if agreed upon by the chief producers, might prompt considerable deferred buying.

Wall street held no high hopes of a decision on the freight rate petition from the I. C. C. over the week-end, but since the commission has a habit of announcing decisions on Saturday, it was recognized as a possibility. Rail executives say that an increase in freight rates would provide little relief for some time, in view of the low volume being handled. Wall street forecasts of the weekly freight car loadings report, to appear Wednesday, indicate little change from the previous week.

The money market showed a little easier undertone. Federal funds—excess balances of banks at the Federal Reserve—were quoted at ½ to ¾ of 1 per cent, against 1½ to 2 per cent late last week.

COTTON PRICES SHOW GAINS

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 9 points on quiet, active buying. The market held fairly steady during the first few minutes of trading, but later selling appeared here for New Orleans account. By the end of the first half hour the market was selling about 3 to 5 points net lower, or around 6.37c for December.

After seeling off to 6.35 for December and 6.65 for March under the early offerings, or about 6 to 8 points net lower, the market steadied up on continued covering and trade buying, and the prices advanced to 6.49 for December and 6.81 for March, or 6 to 8 points above Saturday's closing quotations.

Ship Line Reduces Rates on Rubber

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The New York Rubber Exchange announced receipt of a cable from Singapore confirming reports that one steamship company, with offices at Singapore, has reduced freight rates on rubber from the Far East to New York. According to the information received in New York, the reduction will mean a saving of about a quarter of a cent a pound in rubber to the buyer.

Bullet Firm Seeks Winchester Arms

GREENWICH, Conn., Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Earl Ballie and Medley G. B. Whelpley, chairmen of the bondholders' committee and debenture and general creditors' committee respectively, of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, of New Haven, have announced in a joint statement that negotiations were under way for the purchase of the arms company by the Western Cartride Company.

Interest on Demand Deposits Advanced

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The Chicago Clearing House Association has increased the rate of interest to be paid on demand deposits to 1 per cent from one-half of 1 per cent.

Foreign Conditions Affect Reserve Policy

This is the seventh article of a series describing the workings of the Federal Reserve System and discussing the changes in its operations which probably will be suggested at the next session of Congress.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE FUNCTION OF THE FEDERAL Reserve System is primarily to regulate the volume of currency to conform to the needs of business, but there are many factors which must be taken into consideration when the board meets to determine its credit policy.

Whether or not continued ease or a tightening of credit is desirable for business is often a debatable question. This was found particularly true in 1929 when business was booming and the country was indulging in an excess of speculation. The Federal Reserve Board at that time had to decide whether speculation should be checked by tightening money when such a step might impede legitimate business.

They also had to consider the fact that higher money rates would tend to attract more gold to this country while the supply here exceeded the amount needed.

The board at that time decided to tighten money by advancing the rediscount rate. It is still a matter for debate as to whether they should have put on the brakes sooner or whether they should have allowed the inflation of security values to continue until it fell of its own weight.

Foreign Policy Considered

FOREIGN BUSINESS CONDITIONS and the state of central banks in other countries also must enter into the decisions on credit policy. American business has become so closely dependent on the situation abroad that the effect of any change in the money market here must be considered from the standpoint of its international influence.

Central banks usually operate in as close co-operation as their domestic conditions will permit. A poplicy which would harm the central bank of another country would, in the long run, be likely to react unfavorably on business at home. This makes foreign considerations highly important to Federal Reserve policy.

Credits to Other Banks

THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM is allowed to extend credits to foreign banks of issue. This power has been used several times since the war. When European nations were restoring the gold standard, the Federal Reserve System gave material assistance. When nations, which recently have suspended gold payments, again restore them it is probable that the Federal Reserve will be called upon to give further co-operation.

The use of open market operations sometimes gives the Federal Reserve a means to co-ordinate its domestic and foreign credit policies when they appear to be in conflict.

There have been times when the excessive stocks of gold in this country might have offered a basis for dangerous credit expansion. The natural remedy for this would be higher discount rates. But higher money rates here would tend to bring more gold from Europe which would hurt foreign banks and would supply a basis for even more credit expansion here. The remedy for this would be a low discount rate which would tend to keep gold away. Open market operations, however, supplied a means for adjusting this conflict between foreign and domestic policies.

The reserve banks, foreseeing this condition, acquired a large volume of government securities. They left the rediscount rate at a level which would not attract gold to the United States in excessive amounts. The holdings of securities offered a means for checking excessive credit expansion. The sale of these securities in large amounts would immediately reduce the supply of currency in public hands. This would force the banks to secure reserve credit. The policy of not encouraging the continuous borrowing from the Federal Reserve would force the banks to start paying off these loans. In doing this they would be compelled to restrict the granting of new credit to business. In this way has the compromise between domestic and foreign policy been reached at several times in the past.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK Oct. 19.—The bond market declined irregularly today as activity decreased somewhat.

Trading in United States Treasury and Liberty issues was moderately active but this group was steady to firm.

Lower prices were general among both rail and public utility obligations.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP.)—Transactions in the bond section of the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, the omitted sales (thousands of dollars) bonds in hundreds and thirty-seconds of dollars:

U. S. GOVERNMENT BONDS.

NO. 324.

AN ORDINANCE authorizing and directing the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh to make, execute and deliver in the name of and for the City of Pittsburgh a contract with West End Traction Company, the Pittsburgh and West End Railway Company, the Pittsburgh Railways Company, providing for the temporary abandonment of street railway tracks on Wabash Avenue, Independence street, Woodville Avenue, Woodruff street, Virginia Avenue and running thence along Bailey Avenue and also the postponement of the laying of street railway tracks on the proposed Saw Mill Run Boulevard between the intersection of the existing Saw Mill Run Boulevard and Woodruff Street and Woodville Avenue, as more fully set forth and described in said agreement.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh be and he is hereby authorized and directed to execute, acknowledge and deliver in the name of the City of Pittsburgh and for the City of Pittsburgh the following contract with the West End Traction Company, the Pittsburgh and West End Railway Company and Pittsburgh Railways Company and affix thereto the corporate seal of said City.

THIS AGREEMENT

MADE and entered into this ..... day of ..... 1931, by and between the CITY OF PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA, party of the first part, hereinafter sometimes referred to collectively as the CITY, and THE WEST END TRACTION COMPANY and THE PITTSBURGH AND WEST END RAILWAY COMPANY, all Pennsylvania corporations, hereinafter sometimes referred to collectively as the COMPANY, parties of the second part, and the CITY OF PITTSBURGH, a municipal corporation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, party of the second part.

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS, an Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, approved on the 3rd day of May, 1905, P. L. 279, authorizes, among other things, the making of contracts between cities, boroughs and townships of the first class and street passenger railway companies and motor power companies of the other part to secure the removal of any street railway tracks already laid or the construction of the layout of tracks duly authorized, and this contract is entered into pursuant to the provisions of the said Act of Assembly; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh by Ordinance approved June 5, 1899, recorded in Ordinance Book 12, page 102, granted the Virginia Avenue Street Railway Company the right to use and occupy, for street railway purposes, the following streets in said City: Beginning at the intersection of Bailey Avenue and Beltzhoover avenue in the Thirty-second Ward of the City of Pittsburgh thence extending along Bailey Avenue to the corner of Boggs avenue and Wyoming street; thence along Wyoming street to Virginia avenue; thence along Virginia avenue to a connection with the tracks of the West End Traction Company now laid on Woodville avenue; and

WHEREAS, the Virginia Avenue Street Railway Company purposes to grant or dismantle constructed double track street railway beginning at or near the intersection of Woodruff street and Virginia avenue, at a point of connection with the tracks of The West End and Mt. Washington and Banksville Street Railway Company, thence westwardly along Virginia avenue, Wyoming street and Bailey avenue to a point on Bailey avenue 176 feet, more or less, east of the east line of Wyoming street; and

WHEREAS, the Virginia Avenue Street Railway Company by agreement dated August 20, 1926, between said company, the West End Traction Company and the Pittsburgh Railways Company, as parties of the first part, and the City of Pittsburgh, as party of the second part, temporarily abandoned for a period of forty-nine (49) years from the date of said agreement, one of the aforesaid street railway tracks beginning at a point on Woodruff street opposite a point in the north property line of Kearsarge street, thence westwardly from its intersection with the west property line of Kearsarge street, thence northwardly along Woodruff street, crossing Kearsarge street, to and onto Virginia avenue, thence eastwardly along Virginia avenue to a point at right angles opposite a point in the north line of Virginia avenue, said line from its intersection with the west line of Wyoming street, forty-two (42) feet north, as measured along said line from its intersection with the north line of Boggs avenue;

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh by Ordinance approved June 5, 1899, recorded in Ordinance Book 12, page 102, granted the Virginia Avenue Street Railway Company the right to use and occupy, for street railway purposes, the following streets in said City: Beginning at the intersection of Bailey avenue and Beltzhoover avenue in the Thirty-second Ward of the City of Pittsburgh thence extending along Bailey Avenue to the corner of Boggs avenue and Wyoming street; thence along Wyoming street to Virginia avenue; thence along Virginia avenue to a connection with the tracks of the West End Traction Company now laid on Woodville avenue; and

WHEREAS, the Virginia Avenue Street Railway Company purposes to grant or dismantle constructed double track street railway beginning at or near the intersection of Woodruff street and Virginia avenue, at a point of connection with the tracks of The West End and Mt. Washington and Banksville Street Railway Company, thence westwardly along Virginia avenue, Wyoming street and Bailey avenue to a point on Bailey avenue 176 feet, more or less, east of the east line of Wyoming street; and

WHEREAS, the Virginia Avenue Street Railway Company by agreement dated August 20, 1926, between said company, the West End Traction Company and the Pittsburgh Railways Company, as parties of the first part, and the City of Pittsburgh, as party of the second part, temporarily abandoned for a period of forty-nine (49) years from the date of said agreement, one of the aforesaid street railway tracks on Woodruff street commencing at a point on right angles opposite a point in the north property line of Woodruff street forty-five (45) feet, as measured westwardly from its intersection with the west property line of Kearsarge street, thence northwardly along Woodruff street to a point of connection with the tracks of the Virginia Avenue Railway Company at or near the intersection of Woodruff street and Kearsarge street; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh by Ordinance approved December 5, 1891, recorded in Ordinance Book 8, page 162, authorized the Pittsburgh and West End Railway Company to use and occupy, for street railway purposes, the following streets in said City: * * * along Independence street to Woodville avenue, thence along Woodville avenue to the intersection of Woodville avenue and Shaler street, at a point of connection with the tracks of The West End, Mt. Washington and Banksville Street Railway Company; and

WHEREAS, the Virginia Avenue Street Railway Company and all its property and franchises to the Pittsburgh Railways Company by agreement dated September 13, 1927; and

WHEREAS, The West End, Mt. Washington and Banksville Street Railway Company is lessee of all the property and franchises of The Pittsburgh and West End Railway Company and all the property and franchises of the West End Traction Company are in possession of and being operated by the Pittsburgh Railways Company; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh proposes to construct a new street of highway to be known as the "Saw Mill Run Boulevard" between the intersection of Woodruff street and the existing Saw Mill Run boulevard and the intersection of Woodville avenue and Banksville avenue; and

WHEREAS, by its acceptance of said Ordinance No. ..... approved the ..... day of ..... 1931, the West End Traction Company did surrender all its right, power and privilege to construct, maintain and operate a street railway on that portion of Woodruff street and Woodville avenue between the intersection of Woodruff street and the existing Saw Mill Run boulevard and the intersection of Woodville avenue and Banksville avenue, and

WHEREAS, the Railway Companies desire to postpone the laying of the street railway tracks authorized by said Ordinance No. ..... approved the ..... day of ....., 1931, to be constructed on said proposed Saw Mill Run boulevard, and to temporarily abandon their railway tracks beginning at right angles opposite a point in the west property line of Wabash avenue nineteen (19) feet as measured northwardly along said property line from its intersection with the north property line of McCartney way; thence along Wabash avenue to Independence street; thence along Independence street to Woodville avenue, thence along Woodville avenue to a point of connection with the tracks authorized by said Ordinance No. ..... approved the ..... day of ....., 1931, to be constructed on the said proposed Saw Mill Run boulevard and also beginning at a point on Bailey avenue at right angles opposite a point in the north line of Bailey avenue 176.2 feet east as measured along said north line from its intersection with the east line of Wyoming street, thence westwardly along Bailey avenue to Wyoming street, thence along Wyoming street to Virginia avenue, thence along Virginia avenue to a point of connection with the tracks authorized to be constructed by said Ordinance No. ....., approved the ..... day of ....., 1931, to be constructed on the proposed Saw Mill Run boulevard between the intersection of Woodville avenue and Banksville avenue and the intersection of the existing Saw Mill Run boulevard and Woodville avenue, and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh by Ordinance No. ..... approved the ..... day of ....., 1931, granted unto the West End Traction Company the right to use and occupy said proposed Saw Mill Run boulevard for street railway purposes; and

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Instructions have arrived requiring that returned men shall be treated with indulgence in the school examination. They are to be allowed to submit subjects in which they are specially interested, and in those are to be examined.

Unfortunately, the subjects in which we are specially interested do not figure in the syllabus, so we simplify matters after our own fashion. Every man is to submit two questions in each subject and to undertake to be able to answer them. Westerholt has seated himself at the master's desk and before him are several large, blank sheets of paper with our names. We begin to dictate to him the questions that we wish to be asked.

Willy is uncommonly fastidious. He turns over and over the pages of his history book, and only after long searching up and down does he plump at last for the two questions following: "When was the battle of Zama?" and "When was the reign of Otto the Lazy?"

Westerholt and Albert take the lists of questions and subjects to the several masters. They go first to the principal, who eyes them with some apprehension; he has not been led to expect any good at our hands. He studies the lists and then lays them aside with a gesture of disgust.

"But, gentlemen, the minister requires that you submit such fields as you may be specially interested in: that is to say, certain definite large sections from each course of study. But what you offer is no more than bare, simple questions."

PASS EXAMINATIONS

"But then don't we make up for it by knowing them so very tres bon?" adds Westerholt.

The principal hands the lists back. "No, I cannot agree to that. It would merely be to make a farce of the whole examination."

Willy unfortunately turns up two hours late for the essay, having got drunk with Karl the night before. Hollermann is greatly perturbed and asks Willy if he thinks he can now finish in time. Willy nods confidently, sits down in his place, takes from the pocket of his cutaway the essay written already for him by Ludwig, spreads it out in front of him and then gratefully lays down his heavy head for a short nap. He is still so befuddled during the divinity test that he nearly gives up his answers in nature study by mistake. He has brought the whole lot along all in one envelope. Albert just prevented it at the last moment.

We profit by the intervals during the oral examinations to have a last game of skat. That is one of the few things we really did learn to some purpose in the army.

Whenever one of the players is summoned for examination, he either puts down his cards for the moment and resumes the play afterwards, or else gives his hand to some one he can trust to get everything out of it that is in it.

Willy has such incredible luck that he forgets everything else in the excitement of the play. Just as he is beginning to bid on a wonderful hand—a solo grand, without two, and with Schneider—he is called up for examination in literature. He looks at the cards in despair. "I'd rather fail than not play out this hand!" he declares. But finally he puts his cards into his pocket, making the other two promise over a handshake to wait until he returns and not to monkey with the hands in the meantime.

We all pass, of course. The principal taking heart again a little, now that he is about to get rid of the worst of the blackguards, cannot deny himself this opportunity of addressing to us yet few golden words. He would like to make this leaving school a solemn occasion and begins to explain to us that, having been strengthened by our arduous experience, we are now to pass out into life with high hope and good will. "'Pass out' is not good," interrupts Willy. "We've pretty near passed out too often already in the other direction." The principal draws in his horns. He sees that we are not amenable to soft soap. Even now reconciliation is not possible with such unprofitable, ungrateful material.

A few days after the examination we are sent out on probation to teach in the neighboring villages. I am glad. I am fed up with this aimless loafing around. It has produced only brooding, and melancholy, and senseless noisy riot. Now I will work.

I pack my trunk and set off with Willy. We have the good luck to be neighbors, our villages being barely an hour apart.

WILLY EATS PLENTY

I get lodgings in an old farmhouse. There are oak trees just outside the window and the mild bleating of sheep comes in from the stalls. The farmer's wife at once settles me into a big armchair and begins to lay the table. She has a fixed idea that all townsmen are half starved, and, indeed, she is not so far wrong. With suppressed emotion I watch things almost forgotten make their appearance on the table—an enormous ham, sausages as long as your arm, snow-white wheaten bread and those buckwheat cakes with big lumps of ham in the middle, so beloved by Tjaden. There is a supply enough to feed a whole company.

I begin to hoe in. The farmer's wife stands by, smiling broadly, hands on hips, obviously delighted. At the end of an hour I have to stop with a sigh, though Mother Schomaker still urges me on.

At that moment Willy comes in to visit me. "Now you can have your wish," I say to my hostess. "Now you will see something. I'm not a patch on him."

Willy does as a soldier should do. He wastes no time in ceremony, but gets on with the job. At the invitation of Mother Schomaker, he begins with the buckwheat cakes. By the time he has reached the cheese, the farmer's wife is leaning back against the cupboard and looking at Willy with admiration and astonishment, as if he were the eighth wonder of the world. Highly flattered, she produces yet another great dish of pudding and Willy puts that away, too. "Well," says he, taking a breather, but retaining his spoon when she clears away the dish, "that has given me a real appetite. What about a good square meal now?"

Embarrassed and unsure of myself, I perch at the teacher's desk. Before me 40 children are seated. These are the youngest. There they sit, all in perfect alignment, their fat, little fists folded over their boxes of slate pencils and pens, their slates and notebooks before them. The school has only three classes, so that in each there are children of varying ages. The smallest are 7, the oldest 10 years of age.

ILL AT EASE

The smallest of them, with round apple cheeks, stare up at me. A couple of girls are giggling secretly. One fair-headed child is absorbed in picking his nose. Another, under cover of the back of the boy in front of him, is stuffing down a thick slice of bread and butter. But every one of them watches my least movement with closest attentiveness.

I shift uncomfortably on my stool. It is only a week since I, too, was sitting on a form even as they, watching Hollermann's florid, hackneyed gestures while he talked about the poets of the Wars of Liberation. Now I am a Hollermann myself. At least to the youngsters down there.

"Children, now we shall try to write a capital letter L," I say, and go to the blackboard. "Ten lines of L's, then five lines of Lina, and five lines of Larch."

I write out the words slowly with chalk. A shuffling and rustling begins behind me. I expect to find that they are laughing at me and turn around. But it's only the notebooks being opened, the slates put in readiness. The 40 heads are bent obediently over their task. I am almost surprised.

The slate pencils are squeaking, the pens scratching. I pass to and fro between the forms.

Synopsis

Ernst, who enlisted when a schoolboy, tells the post-war story of a group of friends from the same town who return when peace is made, to meet the problems of making a living and of becoming adjusted to new conditions in a world that puzzles them with its unfamiliarity. Ernst, groping for a handhold somewhere, meets Adele, whom he had known before the war, and feels that perhaps he has found the key to his restlessness. He goes to a dance hall where he is told Adele is often seen and meets her there. She is with another man. It is borne in on Ernst that his memories do not check with reality. He says goodnight to Adele and knows it is goodby—to a dream as well as to the girl.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Window Shopping

Girl Falls in Love With Handsome Young Man

Myrtle Effing canted her $3.98 Third avenue empress eugenie hat at a little more rakish angle over her left blue eye, dabbed a bit more powder at the retrousse tip of her saucy nose and was ready to go forth.

"Well, I'm not so crazy about it," said Paula Morris.

"Wishahad?"

"Uh huh. You know, Moitle—I wish I had this and I wish I had that."

"Wishing don't hurt you any, Paula."

"It don't put no new dresses on your back, either. Honest, I get kind of sore, seeing so much and knowing I can't have it."

They turned into the avenue and sauntered along easily. Paula admitted that she wished she had the pair of dancing shoes they saw in a window, with brilliants all over the big buckle.

"Seems if I never had anything," she complained.

LIKES WINDOW DISPLAY

"Ooo, Paula, look at that blue one! Say, I wish I had that."

This reminded Paula.

"Say, Moitle," she said, "that Joe Tucker ain't been dating you up lately. What's the matter—he offa you?"

"I'm offa him."

"Yeah?"

"Sure."

Thought you was strong for him."

"I was—that is, I kind of liked him but—you know."

"Like that eh? He got you wrong?"

Myrtle sighed. "Most of 'em do. They think because I can't help being sort of cheerful and gay and am always making funny wise cracks that all they have to do is to crook their finger and I'll—uh—"

They strolled on from window to window, commenting freely, seeing some things they "would not take as a gift" and seeing more that elicited their "wishahads."

Some people moved away from the window of a small novelty shop. A young man was in the window, seated at a table. It was the usual stunt—fountain pen demonstration. The young man wrote with flourishes and almost Spencerian perfection.

WATCH DEMONSTRATION

A movable sign announced that the pens were worth $5 each, but could be purchased for 95 cents.

The young man was tall and slim and somewhat bored looking. He was also noticeably neat, although his clothes were rather shiny and there were patches on his shoes.

If he had been clothed and haberdashed from a Fifth avenue shop he would have made a good model for a collar advertisement. He had that sort of a face and build.

Myrtle was noticing this, Paula, on the other hand, took notice that he was far from "sporty"—judging by his clothes.

Paula was also watching him. With an easy flourish he wrote: "Swell blue eyes."

"Say—he's a swell looker," Myrtle said.

"You ain't seen much," she retorted.

"I'd be seeing plenty if I had a boy friend as good looking as he is. I wonder what his name is?"

At that moment the young man was writing "John Hancock." If the girls had been familiar with certain ancient national documents they would have recognized in this a remarkable facsimile of the penmanship of the original John Hancock.

REPAIR MAN QUITS

"There's his name," Paula said.

Myrtle was sure that he made a slight gesture toward himself as he smiled at her.

"Oh, come on, don't waste time staring at that total loss," Paula cried.

"I told you you was a pessamiss—he's perfectly grand and you know it," Myrtle defended.

However, she reluctantly turned away and followed Paula.

"Well, none of the wishahads I saw bother me in the least," Myrtle said when she and Paula reached their room, "except that big boy in the window."

"I'll bet," Paula answered, "he gets as much as 15 a week."

The next day and for many more days the girls plodded on at their rather intricate knitting machines. The Ajax Home-Knit Company turned out great stacks of knitted goods which found a ready sale in far corners under the "guarantee" that they were strictly "home-knit."

Peters, the repair man, who went about all day from machine to machine, doing repairs whenever the delicate mechanism "acted up," gave his notice and departed for the West and to a big farm left to him by a relative.

Another repair man was secured. This job called for an understanding mechanic.

Few if any of the 70 or more girls in this place who operated the machines knew anything about the inheritance and the departing of Peters. Peters was not a communicative man.

One of the myriad hooks in Myrtle's machine became loose. The trouble showed at once in the goods she was working on. Myrtle stopped her machine and pressed a button. This signaled in the repair man's little shop that machine No. 38 was in distress.

"Something wrong?"

"Well, for Pete's sake—uh—I mean, yes," and Myrtle's face turned rather red.

The young man who had spoken looked at her. Then he looked at the loosened hook as indicated by Myrtle. He unscrewed something, moved a tiny cam, screwed the plate back and said, "Start her up, please, miss."

"I'm paid for doing it. Say, didn't I see you a few weeks ago?"

"I—I think you did. Funny you remembered. How come you aren't jabbing fountain pens into boards?"

"It's probably some guy looks like him—any man who can repair these machines wouldn't be demonstrating pens in the window of a cheap store. You got that guy on the brain," Paula insisted.

"I guess I can remember faces."

She introduced him. His name was James F. Dunston.

"We're going places, Paula—see you later," Myrtle said.

She did see her later, about 11, after a movie was out.

"We had the grandest dinner—he's perfectly lovely. He's a real mechanic, he worked where our knitting machines are made—but being out of work, he took that job—he's lovely—" and so on, for 15 minutes until Paula told her to "pipe down" and go to bed.

OVERHEARD CONVERSATION

A few weeks later Myrtle said, "I got a couple surprises for you, Paula. Did you know there was a ventilator in that window where Jimmy was demonstrating pens? There was, he heard every word we said."

"Well, he knows what I thought of him," Paula announced.

"Say, you had two surprises, what's the other one?"

"Oh, yes—I'm going to marry Jimmy in the spring."

"Window-shopping is swell," Myrtle answered.

The Genius of Light Has Gone

THOMAS A. EDISON, GREATEST AMERICAN SINCE LINCOLN

THE WHOLE world, and the country that loved him, sorrowfully bid farewell to Thomas A. Edison.

Wherever there is light after the sun goes down there is Edison's genius enlightening and LIGHTING the world.

He was the genius of light, of electricity and especially A GENIUS OF WORK.

IN HIS early youth he began hard work and he never stopped until age and death put an end to the activity of his brain.

His inventions are said to have numbered 1,300 in all.

The greatest of them, most magnificent contribution to human happiness, comfort and progress, is the incandescent electric light.

The world owes him also the phonograph (this editorial is dictated to an "Ediphone"); it owes him the establishment of the world's first central power plant, planned, erected and managed under his direction.

IT IS desirable in this time of depression and unemployment to remind his fellow Americans of the work that Edison did TO SUPPLY WORK FOR OTHERS.

At this moment in the United States there are EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND MEN AND WOMEN EMPLOYED, thanks to Edison and directly because of Edison's inventions.

The payroll of this gigantic working army of eight hundred thousand exceeds ONE THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE MAN whom you see above, plain, simple, hard working, unpretentious American, lies in his coffin, but in his own country nearly a million men are earning more than a billion dollars a year, thanks to him.

And all over the world endless thousands are employed and well paid, light is spread, existence is made happier and more convenient, thanks to the man who is dead.

THE NATION loses in Edison the greatest American since Abraham Lincoln, and the American who has done more in the way of practical usefulness for the whole world than any American has ever done.

He worked as genius always does, TO REALIZE HIS IDEAS AND MAKE THEM USEFUL, not with any thought of profit.

His work created hundreds of millionaires, has paid millions and billions in dividends and wages, and will continue to pay other billions for endless years to come.

ANY ONE of five hundred little "power men" have ten times more money, thanks to Edison, than Edison ever had.

He was glad to have them make it, did not grudge it, for HE HAS THE GLORY.

He lived long, worked hard, helped education, provided employment, created new wealth, never ceased working and never spared himself until death took him, and left the world better and happier than he found it.

What more can you say for any man than can be said for Thomas A. Edison, as the world which he enlightened and LIGHTED, sorrowfully bids him farewell.

Honor him, and think with gratitude of the mother who gave him to America.

Each to His Taste

If You Do Not Like the Prize-Winning Painting, There Are Plenty of Others to Enjoy.

You may not like the painting, "Suicide in Costume," by Franklin C. Watkins, which has been awarded first prize in the Carnegie Institute's international exhibition.

Inability to admire it does not imply lack of good taste. There is abundance of authority on the other side—that it is not a great picture.

The painting was displayed for months in a Philadelphia gallery before being sent to Carnegie Institute. In Philadelphia it attracted little attention, and was disparaged more than praised.

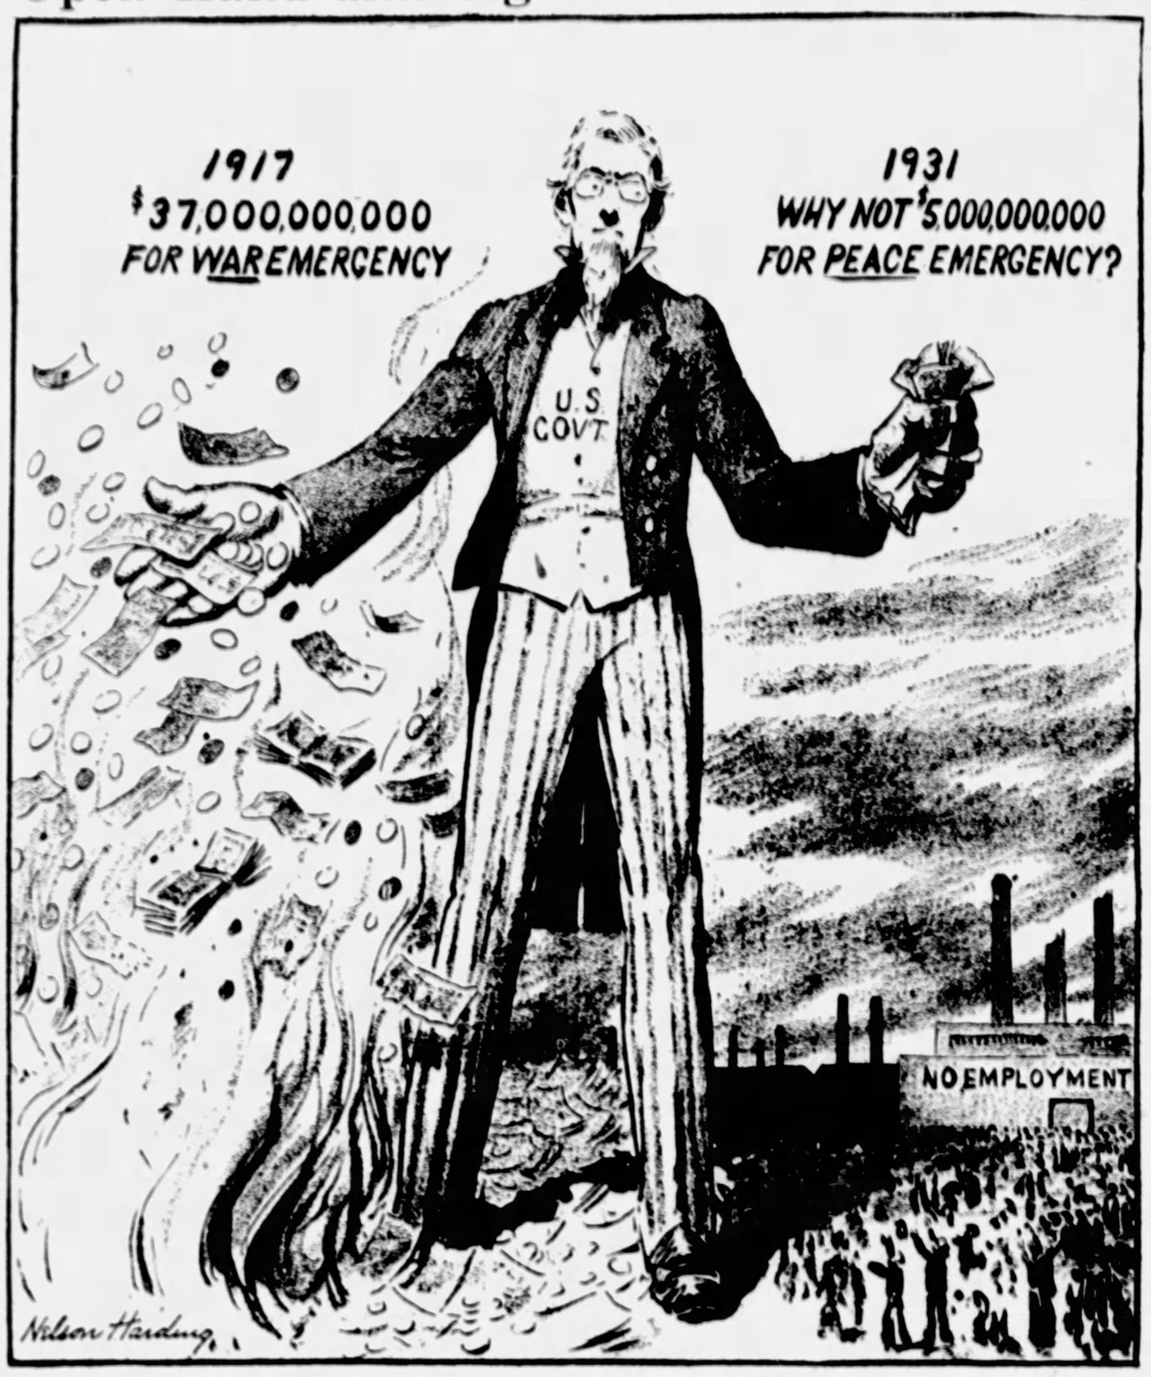
Open Hand and Tight Fist -:- By Nelson Harding



It's strange this man can be so free
With funds in War's emergency,
And with an open hand dispose
Of billions to combat his foes.

While in emergencies of Peace
He is reluctant to release
His funds to fight an enemy.
Of mankind, cruel Poverty.

Financial Supremacy

France Preparing for Struggle With United States for Economic Leadership of World,

By JULIUS G. BERENS
Financial Editor, New York American.

AN historic struggle is underway FOR FINANCIAL SUPREMACY OF THE WORLD.

The great "GOLD CHEST" of France, originally interpreted as preparation for military aggression, now stands revealed as its principal weapon in the nation's overwhelming ambition to become supreme in the world of finance.

ONLY THE UNITED STATES STANDS IN THE PATH OF FRANCE'S GOAL.

FORTHCOMING VISIT TO THE UNITED STATES OF PREMIER LAVAL MARKS THE CLIMAX OF THAT COUNTRY'S PROLONGED CAMPAIGN FOR ECONOMIC LEADERSHIP.

Fresh from triumphs in Europe, if triumphs they be, France shows no hesitancy in clashing with the MOST POWERFUL OF PRESENT DAY ECONOMIC UNITS, THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

WITH shrewdness and perception native to France, that nation's closely integrated politico-financial alliance has been preparing most patiently for the impending struggle.

The preliminary maneuvering was evidenced in Germany's virtual collapse, in England's forced relinquishment of the gold standard.

IT IS VERY PATENT IN THE CONTINUAL DRAIN UPON THE GOLD RESERVES OF THE UNITED STATES.

Within the short period of one month, embracing England's momentous abandonment of the gold standard, France has weaned from the American mountain of gold approximately 500 MILLIONS of the precious metal.

FORTUNATELY THIS COUNTRY HAS BEEN WELL STOCKED WITH THE METAL WHICH FORMS THE FOUNDATION FOR THE CAPITALISTIC SYSTEM.

AT OUR RECENT PEAK JUST ABOVE FIVE BILLION DOLLARS OF GOLD WAS OWNED BY THE UNITED STATES. THIS REPRESENTED MORE THAN 50 PER CENT OF THE ENTIRE WORLD'S SUPPLY.

We well could afford to relinquish large amounts of the metal, in UNSELFISH ENDEAVOR TO LIFT THE REMAINDER OF THE WORLD FROM ECONOMIC POVERTY AND DISTRESS.

But our loss of the metal so vital in revival of confidence and trade has been almost exclusively to the advantage of France, A NATION ALREADY WELL SUPPLIED WITH GOLD.

THROUGH careful husbanding of resources, and subtle drains upon all other gold centers, the gold stock of France has been steadily expanded into its present record total of nearly $2,400,000,000. This is more than France has ever possessed in its entire history. It represents close to 30 per cent of the world's monetary supply of the metal. Two years ago France's gold stock was $1,560,000,000.

THE FRENCH GOLD STOCK IS FAR IN EXCESS OF HER MAXIMUM REQUIREMENTS. BUT THE NATION IS AMBITIOUS FOR MORE THAN DOMESTIC SECURITY AND POWER.

IT IS LOOKING TO WORLD DOMINATION PARTIALLY ENFORCED BY ITS VAST MILITARISTIC MACHINE AND SECONDLY, THROUGH ITS HOPED-FOR SUPREMACY IN WORLD FINANCE.

The ways of France in its great zeal for financial domination are most unscrupulous.

FROM WHENCE ORIGINATES THE INCESSANT PROPAGANDA QUESTIONING THE FINANCIAL INTEGRITY OF THE UNITED STATES?

EUROPE'S INVESTORS AND FINANCIERS, HARASSED BY THE CONSTANT UNDERCOVER WHISPERING CAMPAIGN OF VICIOUS LIES CONCERNING "IMPENDING COLLAPSE OF THE UNITED STATES FINANCIAL STRUCTURE," HAVE BEEN FRIGHTENED INTO WHOLESALE DUMPING OF AMERICAN SECURITIES. OUR MARKETS AS A RESULT HAVE SUFFERED TERRIFIC DEFLATION WITH RESULTANT ENORMOUS LOSSES TO AMERICAN INVESTORS. OUR BANKS HAVE ALSO EXPERIENCED HEAVY WITHDRAWALS BY FOREIGNERS UNNERVED BY THE VIOLENT AND CALUMNIOUS PROPAGANDA ENVELOPING ALL EUROPE AND GRADUALLY SPREADING TO THE REST OF THE WORLD.

INSIDIOUS propaganda aimed against Germany and then Britain hastened their financial crisis. In the case of England the records prove that France's hasty and relentless drafts upon British gold reserves made virtually impossible retention of the gold standard. The whole world was made nervous over the status of the pound sterling by reason of the panic-inspiring propaganda which finally removed from the pedestal of world financial leadership the nation which had so proudly occupied the role for centuries, BUT GERMANY AND BRITAIN APPARENTLY WERE RECOGNIZED AS MERE STEPPING STONES TOWARD THE FULFILLMENT OF THE STILL GREATER DESIRE.

THE SAME TREATMENT ACCORDED THE MARK AND THE POUND STERLING APPARENTLY HAS BEEN APPLIED TOWARD WEAKENING THE WORLD'S FAITH IN THE DOLLAR.

The drain on the United States gold reserves continues at undiminished rate, BUT THE COUNTRY IS SAFELY ENTRENCHED IN IMPREGNABLE POSITION. IT CAN LOSE UPWARDS OF A BILLION DOLLARS MORE GOLD WITHOUT INTERFERING WITH THE NECESSARY REQUIREMENTS OF ITS MONETARY POLICIES.

THEN, too, it is to be remembered that there are enormous American resources scattered throughout the world. THESE CAN BE AND PROBABLY ARE BEING MOBILIZED. PROBABLY THEY ARE SUFFICIENT TO OFFSET ANY FURTHER LARGE SCALE DRAFTS UPON OUR DOMESTIC GOLD HOLDINGS.

In any event, the stage is being set TO DEMONSTRATE TO THE ENTIRE WORLD THE IMPREGNABLE POSITION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Eugenic Was Right

* * *

That high-pressure lover, the "caveman," with his high-power ardor and football-rush tactics, would merely cause the modern girl to lift her eyebrows and point to the nearest exit. He is gone with yesterday's seven-thousand freaks.

* * *

And, incidentally, the go-getter girls, who are still pursuing the post-war high-pressure methods in the love-game, should be reminded that the War is over and that machine-gun methods of man-capture are no longer effective.

Women should follow the trend of the fashions. Eugenic methods have come in with the Eugenic hats and bustles. Subtle, coquettish and indirect—that's the new fashion in everything. Even in advertising.

* * *

Look, how carefully some of the book blurbs and beauty-cream ballyhoos and the soap ads are camouflaged to resemble harmless, little, confidential chats or news reports or society gossip. They just sneak up on you, when you least suspect it. That's good psychology.

* * *

Even high-pressure make-up is out of date. Faces are no longer painted like skating-hall signs or fire-alarms, noses are no longer white-washed, and eyes are no longer made-up to flag attention. The most effective make-up is the one you can't detect.

All of us are salesmanship-shy, these days. We have all become wise, sophisticated, and a little suspicious. Suspicious of a go-getter.

* * *

You've got to use tact, diplomacy, psychology—and sometimes chloroform—in order to make a modern man stand still long enough for you to slip the bridle and the snaffle on and head him for the middle-aisle.

* * *

You've got to appear to be backing away, when you are really going after him. To make him think that you don't take him seriously, when you are planning to TAKE him, if it takes a lifetime! To lead him gently on, while you are pretending to hold him off.

* * *

You've got to go back to Eugenie-methods and hypnotize them into it. The little Eugenie hats may look foolish, but there was a lot of women-sense under it.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Diary of a modern Pepys: All morning at my chores and glad to be interrupted by H. N. and Ruth Swanson, motoring in from Chicago. But they would stay only a moment and I sent them off to Walter Trumbull's in my new benzine buggy, very regal.

To the depot to meet Meredith Nicholson, a-journeying from Indianapolis, and with him to the Ambassador to sit awhile exchanging argle-bargle about this, that and the other and in especial the superiority of the pawpaw. So home and found Dick Berlin, the gazetteer.

To the theater and sat alongside the critic Burns Mantle, whose slothful assistant I used to be and the staunchest character I know. And between acts talking to Irma Goldberg, Kent Cooper, Will and Jessie Hayes and Robert Ripley. Then driving Sime Silverman to his Variety office and to bed.

* * *

It seems no time since Robert L. Ripley came shyly out of the west—one of the most bashful cartoonists Park Row ever beheld. He had come from native San Francisco to draw sport cartoons for the old Globe. The first time I met him he was gazing at after midnight life from a darkened corner at Tom Healy's jazz temple at Sixty-sixth street and Broadway. In those days, although a champion sprinter and winner of many boxing trophies, he blushed like a school girl. Today "Rip," as the most amazing success of the syndicated field, addresses large audiences, appears in the talkies, before the microphone and has become an accomplished first nighter. Years have edged his hair back, but with all his traveled sophistications he is still savoured with the charm of naivette. A stranger might suspect no one had even told him the Facts of Life. Ripley lives at an athletic club and keeps in physical trim. Otherwise he could not stand the grueling grind of professional demands upon his time.

* * *

Tom Healy's rowdy rendezvous was one of the Broadway high spots. Gay plumed and gallant night adventurers rounded into Healy's about 3 a. m. Vehement street orators used to gather in the neighborhood about 9 a. m. Sunday and preach to dishevled revelers staggering out to carry-alls and taxis for home. Smiling and cherubic Bennie Uberall—still carrying on as a head waiter somewhere along Broadway—stood at the red roped entrance. To receive his welcome bow was a mark of Broadway distinction. The Healy orchestra flattered notables so they always liked to come back. When it played "Alexander's Rag Time Band" you could look up and see Irving Berlin at the door. In a like manner "Rings on Her Fingers" signaled the entrance of Blanche Ring and "Mammy" Al Jolson, a frequent visitor.

* * *

Now and then a sudden gush of civic righteousness sent cordons of police to close Healy's at 2 a. m. Such efforts took on the flavor of Mardi Gras. Great crowds, tipped off in downtown haunts, would rush up to jeer, toot horns and toss confetti. Patrons upstairs would stand on tables and defy arrest. Sometimes bottles were thrown, fist fights were numerous and the next night Healy's was hells bells until dawn again.

* * *

There was a story of a famous rounder leaving Healy's in the pink of a Sabbatical dawn. At a nearby corner a curb service was going on and a tattered has-been held a banner proclaiming: "A Night Out of Life at Healy's But Not a Moment for Jesus." The stay-out stopped to idle a moment, suddenly dropped to his knees and, as the story goes, gave up his business to do evangelistic work. True or not, street missionaries were always angling for souls at that corner.

"I work right around the corner from where you live," writes Hotel Newstand Girl, "and see you every day or so. Several times I've tried to flirt, but so far you've been quite uppity."

Make me give in!

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Should ladies be political echoes?

Should the Missis vote with Dad?

There's a question that may start plenty of riot within the next few weeks. Perhaps your family is already at it? The Ellises are—and it isn't mere chit chat.

For here', Pa Ellis saying that "women vote for emotional reasons only" . . . and need "someone to guide them"—meaning HIMSELF of course—

And Ma coming back with a swift one about women having fought and won the right to use their own heads—

But read it for yourself. If you just want to laugh, here are the makings. Or, if you're given to serious thought, there's a chance for that, too.

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"I am appealing to you because, for the first time since our marriage, my husband and I are having a really serious argument and I'd like your opinion. We have been married 15 years. I have been too busy keeping house and raising the children to be much interested in politics. But now the children are older, and I have more time, so about a year ago I joined a couple of clubs.

"Lately one of these clubs has been studying the candidates who will be up for election and since I have some ability as an organizer and can give speeches they have asked me to campaign for two men whom they consider well fitted for the jobs they want.

"Now we haven't gone into this blindly. We have studied the records of these men carefully and we're honestly convinced they are the right men for the place, so we are making a very active campaign. And that is where the trouble started.

"MY HUSBAND IS WORKING FOR THE MEN WE ARE OPPOSING. HE SAYS IT WILL DISCREDIT HIM AND HURT HIS BUSINESS IF HIS WIFE OPENLY FLOUTS HIS JUDGMENT LIKE THAT.

"Now I believe that a husband and wife should stand together in facing the struggle of living and all that . . . BUT I BELIEVE, TOO, THAT A WIFE OR CHILD HAS A RIGHT TO USE INDIVIDUAL JUDGMENT IN CERTAIN MATTERS LIKE RELIGION OR POLITICS.

"My husband doesn't agree with me. He says a man has the responsibility of the family and so should make all important decisions. He is voting for what he thinks will benefit his business. I am voting for what I think will benefit the country. He says that is a lot of hooey . . . that women vote for emotional reasons, and until they learn more, they should be guided by some one who has practical judgment . . . meaning HIMSELF.

"But that would simply make me a shadow of him. I could have no opinions, not even a political conscience of my own! Does suffrage mean no more than that . . . or does it mean that women have won the right to do their own thinking?

"I'd like to know what some other married couples think about it.

"Gertrude Ellis."

So would I, lady. That's why I have printed your story—and am asking them all to stand up and say their pieces.

Who's right in this case—the Mister or the Missis? Will Dad's business standing really be hurt if his lady "flouts" him? Or is he just staging a Big Pout because he can't have his own way? And should his wife give in—or insist on her rights?

"But if she really loves him, shouldn't she give in?"

I wonder. Should love demand a sacrifice? WOULD A MAN BE WILLING TO MAKE SUCH A SACRIFICE FOR A WOMAN? Wouldn't you think him a spineless idiot if he did?

At any rate, whatever you think, let's hear it.
